SUPREME COURT MEETS IN FOLSOM

St. Louis Endurance Fliers Nearing 600 Hour Mark

FLY THROUGH HEAVY RAINS DURING DARK

THOUSANDS ON FIELD

Plane Keeps Within Gliding Distance of Field in Order to Set Record

LAMBERT ST. LOUIS FIELD, ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Their lost honors regained with the recovery of the world's endurance refueling flight record, Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brine added gold to glory with each passing hour aloft today.

At 3:11 p. m., C. S. T., the flyers had piloted their orange and yellow monoplane, the Greater St. Louis, through the air for 584 hours—31 hours longer than the previous record of 553 hours established by John and Kenneth Hunter in Chicago a month ago.

The first profit of the flight began when they broke the record when an oil company agreed to pay $100 an hour until the flyers had topped the previous record by 70 hours.

This is significant since it insures necessary capital to carry on the flight. At one time the flyers indicated that they might be forced to land because of lack of funds.

Thousands of people—the largest crowd since the flight began—visited the field during the night and constantly cheered the flyers.

In celebration of their feat the ground crew staged a fireworks display last night. The flyers, 3500 feet above, aided in the celebration by dropping an occasional flare.

Congratulations began pouring into the refueling headquarters from many cities last night. The messages will be given to the fly-

REPORTED CAPTURE OF TALLMAN DENIED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—(UP)—Reports that William Tallman, wanted here for the murder of Mrs. Virginia Patty, was under arrest in Grand Rapids, Mich., were branded as a hoax today after police received denials from the eastern city.

Local authorities were advised by telegram that Tallman, formerly a radio operator, had been taken into custody in Grand Rapids while traveling with a carnival. The Michigan City police, however, said Tallman was not held and that there had been no carnival in the city.

BRITISH DIRIGIBLE BEGINS RETURN FLIGHT TO LONDON

Setting Fast Pace During Early Hours

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, August 14.—(UP)—The world's largest dirigible, R-100, sped before a stiff wind down the St. Lawrence valley today, setting a pace that held promise of a record-breaking flight across the Atlantic ocean on its retrun trip to Cardington, England.

..The big dirigible, with one of its six motors. crippled,. raced. over father point at 1 a.m. EST., making 60 knots before a 45-mile-per-hour wind and under favorable skies. At that time the ship had covered some 320 miles four hours and 30 minutes after it departed eastward from St. Hubert airport at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Its average speed of about 72 miles an hour indicated the R-100 would reach the Atlantic coast several hours before noon, depending on whether Commander R. B. B. Colmore followed his proposed route to Cape Breton.

When the R-100 reported itself 158 miles below Quebec at 1 a.m. it was about 440 miles from the open sea via Gaspe and Cape Breton.

Meterologists reported the prospects for the flight excellent with good weather and tail winds to speed the craft at least half way across the ocean. The ocean route which Commander Colmore planned to follow was roughly along the track of Canadian steamships on their eastward voyage.

LIPTON YACHT ARRIVES FOR FAMOUS RACE

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Lost from her convoy for days at a time on the storm-tossed Atlantic, beating up against adverse winds and riding out gales which would have taxed the sea-worthiness of far stauncher craft, the slender racing yacht Shamrock V, challenger for the America's cup, weathered a difficult 4200 mile voyage and today was laid alongside a Thames river pier and stripped of her now superfluous ocean-going gear.

To look at the graceful green challenger, one would never imagine that she had been nearly a month on an ocean voyage, save for salt flecks where the sea had poured over her narrow, neatly rimmed decks. Below decks, where her commander, Captain Ted Heard, her navigator, William Paul, and the crew of 20 lived during those difficult days, Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht, upon arrival at New London late yesterday, was as neat as the proverbial new pin.

Nor from the men who sailed her could any of the hardships, possibly peril, of her voyage from England, be adequately gleaned, for these weather-beaten monosyllable sailormen took it as all part of a day's work.

Colonel Duncan Neill, a veteran among distinguished British seamen, made the voyage in command of the three-masted power yacht, Erin, as Sir Thomas Lipton's personal representative. The Erin acted as a convoy for the Shamrock V.

STORM DAMAGE IN UTAH AT $1,200,000

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 14.—(UP)—A summer sun in whose existence inhabitants had almost ceased to believe came out today to put at least a temporary end to cloudbursts which for three solid days flooded the state.

As highways and carpenter crews began the labor of rehabilitation, damage was tentatively estimated at $1,200,000.

One town was under two feet of water, miles of rail and highway have been destroyed, bridges have been washed away and crop damage was heavy.

MINE CREWS HOPE TO RESCUE 46 MEN

PRINCETON, B. C., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Rescue crews succeeded today in pumping fresh air to 46 miners trapped by an explosion in number four of the Coalmont collieries at Blakeburn, B. C.

Directors of the rescue efforts held strong hope of removing the 46 men alive.

Forty-nine were trapped when the explosion wrecked the mine. One miner was rescued alive. Bodies of two others have been recovered.

Drive Machine In Reverse Gear from New York to L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—(UP)—Two boys from St. Louis, Mo., James B. Hargis and Charles Creighten, rested today after an arduous reverse gear automobile trip from New York to Los Angeles, requiring 18 days.

They drove the car backward at an average speed of eight miles an hour across the continent and kept the motor running continuously 456 hours. They were convoyed by a refueling car, carrying gasoline, oil and food, driven by Ted Marshall and Walter Young.

Mary Pickford To Open $40,000 Golf Course In 2 Weeks

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Mary Pickford of the films has become a miniature golf magnate to while away the time until her proposed appearance in a New York stage production, she revealed today.

The noted actress owns a course in Beverly Hills, to be opened in two weeks, and has spent $40,000 on it. She expects to devote some time to the new venture as she recently cancelled production on a talking picture with the intention of resting until she takes up the New York work.

Calvin Coolidge Says

By CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Aug. 14.—"The peace time services of the navy are very important. In exploration Admiral Peary was the first to reach the North pole while Admiral Byrd was the first to fly over both the North and South poles. They increased the sum of human knowledge.

In civil affairs, Admiral Bristol for years after the war was our high commissioner at Constantinople, winning great diplomatic distinction. The marine corps supplied General Russell to serve long in Haiti, and General Butler to go at a critical time to head the police at Philadelphia. The administration of certain insular possessions has been creditably discharged by the navy department. The naval observatory at Washington makes valuable contributions to pure and applied science.

But it is in time of great disaster like the Japanese earthquake or the San Francisco fire, that the ships, supplies and medical staff of the navy make most conspicuous contributions. Such a service is never forgotten. Only recently it was the basis of a good will visit here of a Japanese delegation. The organized talent and scientific skill of our navy is a great reserve power for good."

46 MINERS ARE TRAPPED UNDER TONS OF EARTH

PRINCETON, B. C., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Tons of debris today hid the fate of 46 miners who were trapped hundreds of feet underground last night when a terrific gas explosion wrecked the No. 4 mine of the Coalmont collieries at Blakeburn, near here.

There was no communication with the entombed miners and their rescue, if indeed they were not killed by the explosion, hinged on whether the shaft could be opened in 24 or 36 hours.

Trained teams of rescuers who were rushed to the mine from Princeton and Merritt to work under the direction of George Murray, manager of the mine, and John Biggs, mine inspector, worked their way into the main shaft of the mine, 300 feet below the surface and there found the walls and roof entirely collasped. The bodies of two miners have been recovered. A third miner, brought to the surface in an unconscious state, is expected to live.

The debris, however, completely blocked further passage and its removal will be a slow and tedious process. Whether it will take a day or a week none of the rescuers would estimate. It is not known how far into the shaft the roof is wrecked. The rescue crews were hampered considerably by the presence of the gas which caused the explosion and fire hoses through which air was pumped were sent into the tunnel to clear the atmosphere.

If the debris can be cleared within a reasonable time it is believed

GIRL DRAGGED FROM CAR BY NEGROES

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Milton Rogers, of Angier, reported to Raleigh police today that Vila Evans of Elizabeth, with whom he was riding in an automobile, was dragged from the car by three Negroes and carried off shortly before 1 a. m. A posse was organized at once to search for the missing girl.

He had met the girl only last night, Rogers said. After driving around Raleigh for a while, he decided to take her home at Elizabeth. While en route the kidnaping occurred, he said.

At dawn posses under the direction of Deputy Sheriff Clyde Whitaker began searching the woods surrounding Garner, N. C., where Rogers said the kidnaping occurred. Fear was expressed she might have been murdered.

BILLINGS TO TELL STORY TO JURISTS

SESSION AT 5 P. M.

Friends of Two Radicals In Jubilant Mood Following Wednesday's Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—(UP)—Members of the California supreme court entered Folsom prison today where a session in the "retrial" of Warren K. Billings, convicted dynamiter, will be held.

The seven justices, now considering a pardon application for Billings, will hear the convict deny that he or Thomas J. Mooney had anything to do with the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing, July 22, 1916, in which 10 persons lost their lives.

Opening at 5 p. m. the prison hearing will climax a session of the court without precedent in the judicial history of California.

Today's session will be the first court meeting ever held in a prison in this state.

Before the justices enter Folsom all prisoners, except Billings, will be locked up. This is a precautionary measure as authorities do not wish a demonstration on the part of Folsom's convict population while the court is in session.

The eve of the prison hearing found friends of Billings in a joyful mood as they had just emerged from one of the most successful days for the defense since the pardon consideration review opened on July 29.

Significant developments in yesterday's session were:

1.—Declaration by W. L. Claiborne, Oakland attorney, that John Crowley, trial witness against Billings, did not see Billings at the scene of the dynamiting, as he testified, as he was working under an automobile half a block away at the time.

2.—A charge by Maxwell McNutt, original defense attorney for Billings and Mooney in 1916 and 1917, that Martin Swanson, Pacific Gas and Electric company detective, caused the arrest of Billings and Mooney with the idea of "identifying them as the dynamiters later."

3.—Injection into the hearing records of a theory by McNutt that "an insane man planted the bomb and that Mooney and Billings, being sane, could not possibly have been responsible for the crime.

Claiborne said that he owned a part interest in a garage half a block from Stewart and Market streets and that Crowley was working under a car in the garage for 45 minutes previous to and for 10 minutes after the bombing.

Under cross examination, Claiborne said he attempted to tell police of Crowley's alleged perjury but that no one would listen to him and that he did not go to prosecutors with the story because he desired to remain out of the controversy.

HAWKS DASHES ACROSS NATION IN 12 HOURS

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(UP)—Capt. Frank M. Hawks, who in 20 months has cut the flying time between the Pacific and Atlantic almost in half, again held the transcontinental speed record today.

Racing eastward from Los Angeles in the swiftest and most brilliant long distance flight this country has seen, Hawks clipped two hours yesterday from the mark set by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and regained the laurels which that famous air idol has taken from him.

His time for the transcontinental dash was 12 hours and 25 minutes, although only 11 hours and 40 minuets of that period was spent in the air. The captain was clocked in at Curtiss field, Valley Stream,

THREE KILLED AS CYCLONE HITS TOWN

NAPLES, Italy, Aug. 14.—(UP)—Three persons were killed, six were dying, 20 were seriously injured and 50 slightly hurt in a cyclone that struck the produce market of Poggioreale, on the outskirts of Naples early today. The Duchess of Aosta visited the injured in various hospitals.

The cyclone struck the eastern section of the city with extreme suddenness. The sheds of the produce market, always crowded in the morning, held a larger crowd than usual when pedestrians sought shelter from a heavy rain which preceded the storm. Other sections of the city escaped damage.

An 11-year-old boy, Mauro Borriello, from the nearby town of Ponticelli, was among the dead.

Farmer Kills Two Found In Potato Field

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 14.—(UP)—An unemployed father and his young son, trying to steal potatoes for a hungry family of six children, were shot and killed today by the farmer who owns the potato patch.

The victims are Elmer G. Tilton and his son, Louis.

The farmer, Lester Coy, 23, is held for investigation.

Coy said the shooting climaxed a series of raids on the patch.

Mrs. Tilton told police her husband and son had been out of work for months. There are six other children in the family besides Louis, she said.

MISSIONARIES FROM U. S. ARE SAFE IN CHINA

HONG KONG, Aug. 14.—(UP)—After a march of eleven days through rain and heat over the mountains of the bandit infested Kiangsi country, a party of American Catholic missionaries from Kanchow reached Shiuchow and Kwangtung Sunday.

General Lu Kiangsi, governor of Kanchow, ordered the evacuation of foreigners when invasion by roving communists was threatened. The governor was unable to guarantee safety in the city.

On July 30, when the rebel forces were only ten miles from Kanchow, Bishop John A. O'Shea ordered the evacuation of the missionaries, without a military escort they started on their long journey through a dangerous country. The party suf-

THREE KILLED AS GANGSTERS IN MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, MINN., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Three gangsters were assassinated last night by rivals along a lonely road near the Wildwood amusement park.

The dead men were identified tentatively as Sammy Stein, alias Heckel, underworld character who was suspected of the Home Trust & Savings Bank holdup in Kansas City during the 1928 National Republican convention and of the $67,000 Bank of Willmar, Minn., robbery last month; Frank M. Coleman, one time chauffeur for Solly Weisman, Kansas City gambler; and "Butch" Myers, St. Paul underworld character.

The bodies were found in a parked automobile by General W. F. Rhinow, head of the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension, and a squad of state operatives, who were searching the vicinity

COAST GUARD BOAT GOES TO AID OF YAWL

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Aug. 14.—(UP)—The coast guard cutter Algonquin neared the end of a mercy mission today as it rapidly approached the yawl Contender, reported becalmed and running short of fuel 400 miles off San Pedro.

The Algonquin sent a radio to headquarters here that it expected to reach the Contender by noon to transfer food and gasoline.

The Contender, owned by Commodore Walter Horne of the Long Beach Yacht club, was returning from Honolulu after the annual Los Angeles to Hawaii yacht race, in which it placed second.

Horne sent a message that the Contender faced a difficult time in making port and asked for help.

TYPHOON KILLS 20 WORKMEN ON ISLAND

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(UP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tokio today reported 20 persons dead in a typhoon that swept the Island of Kiushiu, Tuesday.

The typhoon reached a speed of about 127 miles an hour, the dispatch said, causing widespread damage, especially in coal mines.

Swing Presents Hoover Pen At Veterans' Meeting

DINNER STAGED BY D. A. V. TO HONOR MURPHY

William J. Murphy, Santa Ana's national commander of the Disabled Veterans of the World War last year, was officially welcomed home last night, when members of the Jack Fisher post of the D. A. V. organization met at the Legion hall, and Murphy was presented with the pen which President Herbert Hoover used to sign the disabled veterans' bill of July 3, which aids sick and disabled ex-service men of the World War.

There were 175 ex-service men and their friends present at the meeting, and the pen was presented by Congressman Phil D. Swing, who, in a short talk, highly praised Murphy for his untiring efforts on behalf of the disabled veterans and who stated that when the bill came up in the house of representatives Murphy was cheered to the echo.

A touch of sadness was seen in the meeting when Ashman Brown, of the Sawtelle chapter of the Disabled Veterans, presented Murphy with a cane, made by an ex-service man who since has died. The cane is a handsome piece of workmanship, made by the disabled man while he was a patient in the soldier's home at Tucson, Ariz., and is made of Arizona cactus and copper.

Murphy visited the man on one occasion while he was national commander and stopped at his bedside for a chat. The man never forgot. He made the cane for Murphy and asked that it be given to him.

Another speaker last night was Major Dave Borden, regional manager for the U. S. Veterans bureau, of Los Angeles, who talked on the new law, which Murphy's administration saw completed and passed. He told of the benefits that would be derived under the new law and the effect it would have for the betterment of conditions of ex-service men in Southern California. He stated that last year there were more than 12,000 claims made to the Los Angeles office alone.

It also was brought out that under the new bill just passed, all ex-service men could be benefited, not only those whose illness was the result of the war. It will affect all veterans who become sick in the future as well, he reported.

Among other visitors at the meeting last night were Volney Mooney, national judge advocate of the Disabled American Veterans organization, and Earl Penney, national executive committeeman for the organization from this district.

Entertainment for the evening was furnished through the courtesy of the Visel studio and the following young artists, in charge of Mrs. Paula Ehlen, were on the program: Miss Hazel Stukey, Miss Richards, Miss Bertha French and Miss Eva Ramsey.

Panfielo Corona Found Not Guilty

Panfielo Corona, who went on trial before a jury in the court of Judge James L. Allen yesterday on a charge of possession of marijuana, or Indian hemp, was found not guilty when the verdict was returned shortly after three o'clock yesterday afternoon. Two members of the state narcotic squad testified at the trial, as well as a chemist of the state board of pharmacy. The jury retired to consider its verdict at 11:57 a. m. and returned to the court room at 3:03 p. m.

THREE KILLED AS GANGSTERS IN MINNESOTA

on reports that George (Bugs) Moran, Chicago rival of the Capones, who has moved into Minnesota, had established headquarters there.

Coleman's body was found near the parked automobile with its burning headlights which attracted the attention of General Rhinow and his operatives as they cruised along the back highways. A loaded revolver was found by his side. Investigators said apparently he was too slow for his rivals on the draw of his gun.

Myers was unconscious when his body was found. He was rushed to St. John's hospital here where he died.

Police believed there might be a fourth victim because three hats were found in the car and Stein wore a hat. Investigation under General Rhinow and Sheriff T. H. Maher of Washington county, began a wide search of the surrounding countryside.

First reports suggested the possibility that George (Bugs) Moran might have been a victim were unconfirmed when police checked the bodies with descriptions that were forwarded from Chicago.

Moran was known to be visiting in the northwest but he was reported to be vacationing north of the Twin cities, near Brainerd in the heart of the northwest woodlands summer vacation district.

Stein was shot from the back, probably as he attempted to escape from the killers in the underbrush near the roadside. The bullet entered near his ear and came out through his eye.

LEGION IS TO HONOR FORMER POST LEADERS

A dinner meeting of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion hall on Birch street at 6:30 p. m. today, will honor past commanders of the post. An unusual program for the event has been arranged including eight acts of vaudeville, according to Ed Kolbe, post adjutant, and a large crowd is expected in attendance. Candidates for office have been invited to be guests of the Legion at this meeting and will be introduced to the Legionnaires.

Vice-Commander Hunter Leach will preside at the dinner and Past Commander Franklin West will have charge at a short business session of the post. Plans call for adjournment of the meeting prior to the introduction of the political aspirants, who will be introduced by former Judge F. C. Drumm.

The vaudeville is to be provided through the courtesy of Norman Sprowl, Santa Ana manager of the Fox treaters, and includes several fine numbers. The dinner is to be served by the Legion auxiliary.

Past commanders of the post who are to be honor guests are Dr. John Wehrly, Col. M. B. Wellington, Maurice Enderle, Franklin Grouard, Ed McFadden, Judge G. K. Scovel, Wilbur Getty, Jules Markel, Charles Van Wyk and Franklin G. West. Otto Jacobs, post commander, is in Sacramento making preparations for the care of the Santa Ana delegation to the state convention, which opens next Monday.

Jury Unable To Reach Decision In Assault Case

After trying vainly to reach a verdict since 9:58 a. m. yesterday the jury which heard the evidence in the trial of Rafael Lopez, charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, was discharged by Judge James L. Allen at 12:56 a. m. today. The case was re-set for trial on August 28.

Lopez admitted the shooting with which he was charged, during the course of the trial, but declared it was in self defense and happened after Ignacio Savala, had drawn a knife and attempted to stab him.

Asks Damages for Death of Husband

An outgrowth of the death of P. R. Rollins, who received fatal injuries when he was struck by an automobile on July 9, was a damage suit filed by the widow in superior court today against W. J. Williams, driver of the car.

Mrs. Rollins is asking for judgment of $10,555, for the death of her husband, declaring that through the loss of the support of her husband, on whom she was entirely dependent, she was damaged to the extent of $10,000. She also asks $555 for funeral expenses and medical services necessitated by the accident.

Swing Speaks Before Lions Club Group

According to Phil Swing, representative in congress for this district, personal correspondence of a congressman covers every topic in the world and being in office is much like taking a correspondence course in college work. Swing divulged this information at the Lions club this noon at St. Ann's Inn, where he forgot politics and discussed the topics of his personal mail.

The quick humor so characteristic of Swing was used to advantage in reading and displaying the many letters. One man wanted to do ayay with the Boulder dam and pipe water from the Columbia river in a rubber pipe along the ocean floor.

Wayne Goble was program chairman for the meeting. Miss Georgia Belle Walton played two violin solos, accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong. Her first number was "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak-Kreisler. Mrs. Ruth Speers sang two solos, also being accompanied by Miss Armstrong. Her first number was "A Blushing Rose."

that there may be a chance that some of the miners may be found alive. There are some 6,000 feet of old workings in the mine and if the miners are in the clear works behind the portion which collasped, the air contained in the old works may be sufficient to support them for a day or two.

Rescuers said, however, that it almost unbelievable that at least least some of them were not killed by the explosion.

DAIRY BARN NEAR SANTA ANA BURNED

Owing to the efforts of a pumper crew from the Santa Ana fire department, considerable property damage at the dairy of L. E. Platt was averted yesterday afternoon when a barn and about 25 tons of hay were burned in a fire which is thought to have originated from spontaneous combustion.

The fire broke out at about 3 o'clock and the barn valued at $3000, was burned to the ground. The structure contained 75 tons of hay, about 50 tons of the amount being saved by the Santa Ana firemen who arrived on the scene with a pumper.

Another barn containing more than 100 tons of hay, and the Platt ranch house, were threatened by the blaze, but were saved from any damage.

About one-half of the grain stored in the burning building also was saved. The grain was valued at about $350.

SUGAR BEET PLANT BEGINS OPERATION

Over 1000 tons of sugar beets already have been refined into sugar since yesterday morning, when the Holly Sugar corporation started operations at its Dyer road plant. During the 100 day season, 100,000 tons of sugar beets will be handled, which will make about 325,000 bags.

The monthly payroll approximates $30,000, officials stated today. It will be paid to 250 men who work on day and night shifts. The beets are shipped and trucked here from all parts of Orange county and the south end of Los Angeles county.

Growers in Porto Rico have developed lemons nearly as large as grape fruit and sweet enough to be eaten without sugar.

You'd be surprised what a little bit it takes to keep some people busy. Why the smallest wrist watch gets just as much attention as a city clock would get in this shop. I guarantee them, too!

ers today. Among the first to send messages was Bert Kaul, Faribault, Minn., grocer, who once employed Jackson as a delivery boy.

The flyers are hovering within gliding distance of the field to prevent endangering their record. The National Aeronautic association contest rules requires flyers to land at the point of takeoff for official recognition.

In a note O'Brine said: "I think we will be up until next year if the weather and everything holds out. We are not getting far from the field so we can set the plane down, drop it or throw it down—just so we get down."

It was estimated that the six-cylinder Curtiss challenger engine has made more than 44,000,000 revolutions and the plane has covered a distance of approximately 40,000 miles.

Ontario Pioneer Is Called Here

Mrs. Margaret Smith, 91, a pioneer of Ontario, passed away in Santa Ana yesterday. She had been living in Santa Ana for the past three years, it was learned from her daughter, Miss Cora V. Smith of Hollywood.

Funeral services will be held from the Draper Funeral parlor in Ontario tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. with Winbigler's funeral home, of Santa Ana, in charge. Interment will be in Ontario cemetery. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Smith of Hollywood.

220 Miles Hourly

A dazzling pace of 220 miles an hour was set for the 2510 miles traversed in yesterday's flight.

"I don't think it can be done any faster," Hawks said after he had set his plane down at Roosevelt field. "In the fall, in exceptionally advantageous weather, it is just possible that the time I made today can be bettered."

"I am certainly glad to hear it," Lindbergh said. "I think it is a fine thing that he brought the record down. I'll offer my congratulations to Captain Hawks at the very first opportunity."

Hawks was boyishly happy over the accomplishment. He munched on lettuce and nut sandwiches his mother had made for him in Los Angeles at the national air races.

An enthusiastic crowd was on hand to greet him when he landed at Valley Stream. The long ride did not exhaust him, although he was stiff after being cooped up in the cockpit more than 12 hours. He had remained in the ship at the three refueling points.

A year and eight months ago, when Hawks began his assaults on the cross country speed records, the fastest westward time had been made by the late Captain C. B. D. Collyer. It was 24 hours and 15 minutes.

Twice before today Capt. Hawks has held the eastward record. Once re geat his own time. He is the only man who has made the transcontinental trip in a glider and hopes that eventually a "09,6 Express" of the air can be established as a result of his swift plane plights. This service would be for carrying securities and other valuables across the continent, the planes working in relays.

DAMAGE TRIAL IS UNDER WAY TODAY

The damage case of Margaret I. Hood against the Croxen Trucking company, et al., in which the plaintiff asked $600 for destruction of her car in a collision in Fullerton last April, got under way today before Judge James L. Allen. The plaintiff declared that her car, which was being operated at the time of the accident by Blanche Ritchie, was struck by a truck and trailer operated by Glen Francon, an employee of the trucking company.

The complaint states that the plaintiff's car was pushed for a distance of 110 feet by the heavily loaded truck, over a curb, across a sidewalk and through the wall of a brick building.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

If you had no faith you could not believe in your own capacity to reason. Since you give credence to your own power to reason, you must postulate a first-cause as the source of that capacity. Having faith in your power to reason, you believe in God.

The nature and being of God were revealed in Jesus Christ, and you know that love underlies all that He permits to happen.

When the end of the day has come, you will know that He has given you the power to so consecrate the hardest hours that they have brought supreme blessings.

Go on in faith to the hour when you are reunited with your best beloved in Paradise.

RETURNS WILL EXCEED TOTAL FOR LAST YEAR

Checks to complete payments on receipts of $251,023.08 for the first Valencia orange pool will be mailed this week to growers affiliated with the Garden Grove Mutual Orange association, it is said today by W. B. Merchant, manager.

This will bring receipts of the local M. O. D. house up to $283,920 for the season so far, as the navel pool, completed last February, returned $32,896.81.

The Garden Grove house is now at work on the second Valencia pool, and prospects are that the house will ship during the entire season 225 carloads of fruit, Merchant said. Returns on these shipments will be greater by nearly $150,000, however, than returns for 415 carloads shipped by the house last year, Merchant estimates.

"We are now at work on the second pool of Valencias," he said, "and have been shipping in it since July 1. In all, this year, we expect to ship 225 carloads of fruit, both navels and Valencias. This comes from a net gain, to date, of about 200 more acres than were in the association last year. And, with receipts so far, and with the price prospect good for the balance of the season, this association will receive conservatively $550,000 for its fruit in this season.

"Our shipments last year were 415 carloads, our receipts, $402,000. Thus, in the present year we will have received $148,000 more for 190 carloads less fruit."

STREET BREAKFAST LAUNCHES TALKIE SEASON IN SANTA ANA WITH OUTSTANDING PROGRAMS

Greater Talkie Season in Santa Ana was off to a flying start today following the giant street breakfast sponsored by the Santa Ana Breakfast club this morning in front of the Fox-West Coast theater between Third and Fourth streets on Main street.

Over 200 people, including Breakfast club members, political candidates and citizens ate their "ham and eggs" at the six long tables, while hundreds of bystanders crowded the sidewalks. The police department roped off the entire block for the occasion. The entertainment was obtained through Norman Sprowl, manager of the Fox theaters in Santa Ana, and consisted of Fanchon and Marco acts, augmented by several Santa Ana performers. The Fanchon and Marco orchestra provided music for the meeting.

President Z. B. McKinney opened the festivities by introducing many of the noted guests, while O. A. Haley, temporary fine collector, waited upon each notable for a small offering. Among those introduced were J. P. Baumgartner, Dave Wettlin, Sam Collins, Sam Jernigan, Lew Wallace, Vern Speich, Earl Abbey, Charles D. Brown, Bill Sylvester, Ralph McFadden, Harry Westover, R. L. Bisby, T. E. Stephenson, J. C. Lamb and W. T. Lambert.

The principal guest, however, was Congressman Phil D. Swing, who gave a short talk complimenting the Breakfast club and the Fox theaters on the successful breakfast. He humorously suggested that perhaps he had been asked to usher in Greater Talkie Season because the reputation of Congress for eloquence had penetrated to Santa Ana. "There is no place today where the camera does not record pictures and sound," Swing stated.

Norman Sprowl was master of ceremonies and added a lively touch with his rapid-fire comedy and unique introductions for the acts. Miller and Tate, slapstick clowns, presented two skits, one featuring Scotch jokes and the other, a take-off on William Tell and the apple, with the apple finally being eaten by both.

The Wrangler Four won an ovation by singing several character songs. Dressed in picturesque cowboy costume, the singers responded to encores and ended with the bass assuming the part of a bass viol while his partner wielded a walking stick for a bow.

Spectacular and skillful was the performance of Paul Gordon, unicyclist. Starting out with a little foot-propelled wagon, Gordon rode one unicycle after another, finally mounting one 10 feet tall. These vehicles, like a bicycle but with only one wheel, presented no difficulty to the rider, who went backwards and forwards, stood on his hands on the handlebars, played a clarinet while balancing high in the air, spun around in circles and did other hair-raising stunts.

June and Glenn Mathews, 10-year old twins from San Diego, won favor from the audience with two duets, "Get Out and Get Under the Moon" and "Happy Days are Here Again," and for a perfect dance. They were accompanied at the piano by their mother.

The Four Bellthazers, seasoned acrobats from the sawdust rings, offered some spectacular exhibitions, including difficult formations, pyramids, flying leaps and other varied acts in their repertoire.

Isadore Fields, exercise leader of the Breakfast club, led the group in several parts of the "daily dozen" before the meal and led the Breakfast club songs. Much praise was given the combined staffs of the Fox Broadway and West Coast theaters, who acted as property men, for their efficient work. The speed with which the platform was removed for one of the acts was said to excel that of seasoned circus prop men.

The Green Cat confectionery at Third and Main streets, prepared the food for the occasion and handled the serving faustlessly.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Aug. 14.—Mrs. W. H. Taylor went Monday to Los Angeles, remaining over until Wednesday as the guest of a friend, Mrs. Eva Miller.

Mrs. J. E. Miller came Monday to spend a few days with Mr. Miller at their local service station and was accompanied by a friend, Mrs. Wilcox, who is also of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Brown and family, of Tustin, were evening supper guests in the home of Mr. Brown's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. P. Heil, and were accompanied home that evening by Chester Heil who is spending several days with them.

Directors of the Midway City Chamber of Commerce held a meeting Tuesday evening at the Community building, transacting regular business. The smoker which has been talked of for some time for men of the community as part of a membership drive will not be held for a month yet, it was decided at the meeting, on account of this being a general vacation time and so many people away.

The Los Amigas club is meeting Friday evening for a card party at the home of Mrs. B. L. Kirkham, Mrs. Kirkham and Mrs. Ruth Harlow to be co-hostesses of the occasion.

Sterling Price, president of the Zenith Aircraft corporation, and Mrs. Price and family were at Eddie Martin's airport when the "Tom Thumb" women's derby of 224 miles was in progress, the flyers stopping at that port on their route.

The Rev. T. P. Turner, of Talbert, occupied the pulpit of the local Nazarene church at the Sunday evening meeting.

HAM AND EGGS IN THE OPEN

TWO NAMED ON NEWPORT BAY IMPROVEMENTS

NEWPORT-BALBOA, Aug. 14.—Frank L. Smith and J. B. McNally have been named as representatives of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce on a proposed committee which may decide one of the next big steps in the development of Newport harbor, namely, providing more anchorage and further facilities inside the bay.

Smith and McNally were named today by Dr. F. C. Ferry, president of the chamber, to act on the proposed committee, following a meeting of chamber directors Tuesday night, when this course was decided on. The chamber is sending a letter to the city council, asking that body to name two of its members and City Engineer R. L. Patterson and Harbor Master M. S. Robinson on the committee.

Harbor leaders, boatmen and others agree that the $200,000 improvement recently completed by the city at the harbor entrance has been successful and one of the most important steps yet taken in developing the harbor. It has provided a channel 250 feet wide and 15 feet deep at low tide, bringing dozens of boat owners here for good.

So many boat owners and boats have already come, in fact, that the present facilities were taxed during regatta week and must be enlarged and improved. It is to make a survey and recommend what can be done along this line that the chamber of commerce suggests the proposed joint committee.

Smith is a director and former president of the chamber, and a marine hardware man in close touch with harbor affairs, while McNally is owner and operator of the McNally line of pleasure fishing boats, the recently completed palatial Dundee, and the Daisy, Dandy and Dixie, also known as the Scotch Navy.

FIRE EXTINGUISHED

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Only an internal medicine can remove the cause. That's why external remedies and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has such a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief even in chronic and stubborn case, that Schramm-Johnson says try HEM-ROID at my expense. Your Pile suffering must end or money back. —Adv.

The regular lodge session was followed by a humorous play, "Old-Fashioned Country School," under the direction of Mrs. Claude Brown. Miss Carrie B. Seaton concluded the program session with several musical numbers.

On adjourning to the banquet rooms, the guests and officers of the lodge discovered that their table was centered with silver moon and stars in a pink and green background, with a white dove hovering above amidst garlands of pink and green, Rebekah colors. Small bee hives and lilies served as candle holders. The decorations were carried out under the direction of Mrs. H. H. Allen.

Court To Decide On Jurisdiction

Evidence in the case against Juan Herrera, charged with disturbing the peace at Delhi on August 8, was heard in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning, but no decision was reached. Justice Morrison said that he was not sure whether he had jurisdiction in the case.

The fact that Delhi is now a part of Santa Ana, may throw the case over to the Santa Ana police court, Morrison said. He is to give a ruling on it this afternoon.

Herrera is alleged to have been abusive to Mrs. A. Ramerez.

BANK DEFENDANT IN COURT ACTION

Robert E. Bole et al filed a complaint in superior court yesterday against the Security-First National bank of Los Angeles et al. The plaintiffs' cause of action is the claim that on January 10th, 1927 the plaintiffs signed an oil lease with the McAdams Petroleum corporation, also a defendant, covering land owned by the plaintiff. The plaintiff alleges that, according to the terms of the lease, he was not to pay on the lien which was then existing on the property except out of their interests and royalties. The plaintiff charges that the defendant, for the space of three years, failed to drill, thus preventing the plaintiffs from paying $6,000.00 which was due on the note. The plaintiff further charges that the Security First National bank, as trustee, put the property up for sale. The plaintiff asks that the court prevent the sale until the matter is heard.

Marchant has lived in Tustin for 29 years, coming there from Kansas, where he was engaged in farming. He was a civil engineer for many years and was in South America for engineering purposes. He operated a large ranch there but had to return to Tustin when he contracted the sickness.

The Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which Marchant was a member, will officiate at the funeral Friday at 3:30 p. m., from the Smith and Tuthill chapel. Court Notes

A complaint for foreclosure of mortgage was filed yesterday in superior court by The Farmers and Merchants Savings bank of Santa Ana against the Nicholls-Loomis company. The complaint charged that no interest whatsoever was paid by the defendant on a promissory note amounting to $12,500.00. The plaintiff claims that, according to the note, it is the legal owner and holder of the mortgage, and is asking judgment for the sum of $12,500.00 with interest and expenses of the action, to be gotten from the sale of the mortgaged property.

A citation ordering the appearance in court of W. R. Coy, on August 15, at 2 p. m., that he may be examined under oath, was returned today in superior court. It resulted from a petition filed by Moresby White, Laguna Beach attorney, who as administrator of the estate of Adele Ritchie Post, informed the court that he suspected Coy of concealing rings formerly belonging to Mrs. Post.

Gertrude E. Zimmer today filed suit against the general board of restitution of certain property, which she alleges the church wrongfully took possession of on July 1. She asked damages in the amount of $1000 and $62 per month since July 1 for loss of rent from the property, which consists of a double and single dwelling in the Ross addition to Santa Ana.

The Farmers and Merchants Savings bank is plaintiff in a suit filed today against Hawley J. Selway, et al, in which foreclosure of a mortgage is sought. The action is based on a $5000 note which became due August 16, 1926, and which, it is alleged, is unpaid. Property which is sought to be foreclosed is located in Santa Ana.

A petition for letters of administration in the estate of Joseph Dismukes was filed with County Clerk J. M. Backs yesterday by the widow, Ada Dismukes. The property listed in the petition is valued at $28,000. There is also a large tract of land between Hickey avenue and Seventh street listed in the assets of the estate on which no value is placed. The will, which was attached to the petition, provided that the property should go to a son, Lieut. Jospeh W. Dismukes, of the United States navy, at Cavite, P. I., and a daughter, Zylpha D. Cronenwett of San Francisco. The widow is to have the use of the community property, according to the will, which also states that other property previously had been divided with her.

Petition for letters of adminstraton of the estate of the late John J. Finnegan was filed today with County Clerk J. M. Backs, by Harold J. Finnegan, a son, of Laguna Beach. The estate is valued at $7,500. There was no will and the heirs at law are two sons and two daughters.

VERDICTS ARE BEING SOUGHT BY TWO JURIES

Two juries were considering verdicts at noon today in the courthouse. One had heard the evidence in the trial of Rafael Lopez, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, with intent to commit murder, and retired at 9:58 a. m. to consider a verdict. The other had heard evidence in the trial of Panfeilo Corona, charged with possession of marijuana. Both cases were tried in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court.

Lopez is alleged to have assaulted Ignacio Savala with a pistol. Corona is charged with possession of six tobacco cans of a mixture containing more than four grains of Indian hemp, or marijuana, to the ounce. The mixture was seized in a raid made by state narcotic officers on June 25, according to testimony. Witnesses in the Corona case today included George H. Brown and H. T. Borchardt, of the state narcotic squad, and L. J. McColloch, chemist for the state board of pharmacy.

Members of the Lopez jury are H. G. Moberly, B. M. Huff, J. G. Mitchell, Mrs. Mary Herring, Robert M. Charles, Henry J. Burns, J. T. Dilley, Henry Marquart, H. T. Groves, Mrs. Alice Stephens, J. R. Thompson and Sarah Tabor.

Those who are to determine the innocence or guilt of Corona, whose attorney presented no evidence, are Carrie A. Love, W. E. Mars, B. F. McIndoo, Mrs. Cecil P. Bonebrake, Mrs. Helen Gardner, Mrs. M. Estelle Carter, Austin Cody, M. Livingston, Mrs. Mabel Baker, John Meurs, Elizabeth Warren and Mary Tillotson.

FOUR WIVES FILE DIVORCE ACTIONS

Four wives filed divorce complaints in superior court recently, asking that matrimonial ties be dissolved.

Mary E. Round, who was married to Phillip S. Round in Grant City, Missouri, on Dec. 29, 1896, charges her husband with desertion and failure to provide. The couple separated in 1926.

Three Races Aid In Reading News Of Tom Humiston

There always is a way to find out what you want to know if you find the right method, in the opinion of F. L. Humiston, deputy sheriff.

Humiston yesterday received a Chinese newspaper from his son, Tom, who is spending his vacation in the Orient, and in the paper was a picture of the younger Humiston. The officer understood the picture but he did not know what the lettering underneath it meant.

He applied to George Boyd, county jailer, who speaks only English, but George had an idea. He took Humiston and the paper back in the jail and found a Chinaman who translate it into English. Boyd scratched his head and tried again. He found a Mexican who could make himself understood by the Chinaman and between the three of them, they found out that young Tom Humiston had arrived safely in Shanghai.

Put up some fruit Now... when winter comes you'll be Glad

The low price of sugar today and abundance of fine fruit make home canning profitable.

CANNED fruit belongs in the diet of young and old. And when you have a wide variety on hand you can vary your menus in a pleasing way.

The present low price of sugar and the abundance of fine fruit now in market make home canning exceedingly profitable. Even though you put up only a few jars of preserves or glasses of jelly, you will feel well repaid next winter when you "help yourself" to those home-made products.

Pickles and relishes made of tomatoes, cabbage, cucumbers and watermelon rind are also delicious and easy to make. Their spicy, tart-sweet goodness is most welcome when meats and fish are served.

Don't let this summer go by without putting up some preserves, jellies and relishes. Your family will certainly thank you and you'll save money in the bargain. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

Bill Hart Gives KREG Violinist Highest Praise

Charles Morgan, whose singing violin is familiar to Southern California radio listeners and particularly to KREG audiences, thinks a lot of his fan mail, and specially a letter recently received from Bill Hart, the movie actor who made "Westerns" famous.

An idea of what Bill Hart thinks of the singing violin can be gained from the following letter, received by Morgan:

"Heard you tonight! Your 'singing violin' recalls those long ago days at camp when its dulcet tones tuned with nature in the silent hills, and the white topped waves accompanied with soft, muffled booms upon the sand.

"It was great then—its is great now—"

Bill Hart heard Morgan recently over KECA, Los Angeles, and perhaps he will tune in today when the singing violin croons over KREG from 7:30 to 7:45 p. m.

HE WAS LUCKY

REPUBLIC, Kan., Aug. 14.—Will Maywell, farmer northwest of Republic, has a tall tale to tell which has few rivals. Maywell was sitting on a lounge in his home during a thunderstorm. A bolt of lightning hit a tree near his house, entered the room by way of the radio aerial and then struck one of Maywell's shoes. It knocked the shoe from his foot and under the lounge. It left Maywell uninjured.

36 Baby Frogs At Gold Fish Farm

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 14.—Thirty-six baby frogs are being raised at the Pacific Gold Fish farm of K. Aklyama, west of Westminster on Westminster avenue.

Several grown bullfrogs have been killed at the farm this season. A gold fish about five inches long is found to be the favored menu of the frogs. The grown frogs killed weighed two and three pounds.

Frogs of the hop toad and tree varieties inhabit the gold fish pools in spite of every precaution used and their concert may be heard each evening for some distance.

Construction work on the new aviaries has started at the gold fish farm, George Wardell, of Huntington Beach, being in charge. The aviaries are to be of a new architecture and will be tried out in raising some new varieties.

QUITE A CHASE

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Aug. 14.—N. M. Lancaster was driving a truck across town and in his wake and excitement he left two destroyed radios, Chris Trumbull with a lacerated forehead, and a collision between a motorist and a fire truck. Unknown to him, the cargo on his truck was afire, and the fire engine was chasing him. They finally caught up with him, after he had driven all the way through town, and put out the blaze.

NEW YORK MAN TELLS CONCISE STORY TO FAT MEN

Yes, Gentlemen: Writes W. R. Daniels of Richmond Hill—"I have finished my second bottle of Kruschen Salts and have obtained the following results:"

2—"Get up in the morning feeling 100 per cent.
3—"I am 25 per cent more active,
4—"My mind is clearer.
5—"My wind has improved 25 per cent.
6—"All skin eruptions have disappeared.
7—"My face and lips have color.
8—"When I go to bed I am motionless—sleep like a brick.
9—"Am 46 years old and feel 20 years younger."

Millions of men the world over are taking the little daily dose of Kruschen because they know that it keeps them everlastingly feeling fit and active—life really becomes a glorious adventure—well worth living.

Don't confuse Kruschen with the ordinary salts that are made for just one purpose (to act on the bowels).

Keep everlastingly before you the fact that Kruschen contains the six vital rejuvenating salts that nature put into the human body at the beginning of creation and these 6 minerals your body must have or you could not live.

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure and also gain in ambition and keenness of mind?

Get on the scales to-day and see how much you weigh—then get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—cut down on sweets for a while—take the exercise which Kruschen will induce—persist in this method every morning of your life and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you can laugh at the people who pay hundreds of dollars to lose a few pounds of fat—now you will know the pleasant way to lose unsightly fat and you'll also know that the 6 vitalizing salts of Kruschen (Salts that your blood, nerves and glands must have to function properly)—have presented you with glorious health.

Leading druggists all over the world sell Kruschen Salts—you can always get it at Mateer's Drug Store, and Givens and Cannon, who sells dozens of packages every week.—Adv.

The Other Bullet

By Nancy Barr Mavity

CHAPTER 12

"Like fun I will! I'll photograph your darn bullets if you say so, but I stop short of standing around waiting to receive 'em. I'm going to stand right behind you, and the way you're waving that gun around, I'm not sure that's any too safe."

Planting his feet wide apart, as if afraid that Peter would drag him from the comparative safety zone against his will, Andrews took up his station directly in the rear as Peter raised the pistol and fired.

"Got it!" he exclaimed, running to the tree and pointing triumphantly to a small round hole in the blanket.

"Sure-fire-Pete! With enough practice, you may be able to hit even a barn door in time!" Andrews jeered good naturedly. But Peter's interest was infectious and the camera man followed him to the tree, where he was engaged in cutting through the woolen pad with his pen knife, taking care not to scratch the bullet, as he gouged it out. "Just pick up the shell and bring it over, will you?" he called over his shoulder. He wrapped shell and bullet in his handkerchief, and turned back towards the house.

"Now we've got to find the other shell, that dropped somewhere near the front door. That oughtn't to be hard," he observed. "Come along and help me look."

"Oh, no, not hard at all, judging from the way you look after hunting for that bullet," Andrews demurred sarcastically. Nevertheless, he obediently leaned his tripod against the wall of the house and followed Peter, who had already hurried around the corner.

On hands and knees the two men parted the grass at the side of the path. The grass was freshly mown, and there was no shrubbery to impede their search. Almost immediately Andrews pounced upon the small metal cylinder.

"You know," Peter, mused, as he explored his pockets for something in which to wrap the shell, separately from the shell and bullet which he had himself fired, "that body was stiffer than it had any business to be. I don't know much about it, but that keeps bothering me. Maybe it doesn't mean a thing, but if it does, you can bet Kurtner will know. I'm getting no end keen to talk to Kurtner. Hello!"

Having searched in vain for an envelope, Peter had thrust his hand into the hip pocket of his dingy corduroy trousers and brought out a second handkerchief. But this one was crumpled and stiff, and dyed, except for chance patches of white, a dull, dark red.

"Great Scott!" Andrews exclaimed. "What did you ever do to yourself to get all that blood?"

"I didn't do anything to myself," Peter said slowly. "That blood is Mortison's, and the quicker we get it to Kurtner the better. Something tells me—"

He left the sentence unfinished. Having knotted the shell in a corner of the blood stained handkerchief, he stepped forward briskly, unlocked the door, and advanced into the room where Mortison had met this death.

"I wonder what he was really like." Peter's gaze wandered thoughtfully around the living room on which the door directly opened. "It must have taken an unusual ranch manager to bowl Mrs. Everett over. I don't see her falling for mere brawn and 'great open spaces' stuff; yet he seems to have known his business. Funny, isn't it, this trying to reconstruct a man's character from the inanimate things he has left behind him?"

"Reconstruct all you want to. I'm tired." He stretched his legs wearily before him, and relapsed in his pose of inexhaustible patience.

"All we know about him directly," Peter continued, unperturbed by Andrews' lack of interest, "is that he was subject to violent shifts of mood—and he seems to have had a troublesome temperament where the ladies are concerned. I feel rather sorry for him on that score. He doesn't seem to have been able to keep away from them, and they on their part couldn't say no to him. That's often the way with a man of his type. There was Mrs. Everett herself, and her sister, and Mrs. Coak's daughter—that we know of. Rather embarrassingly numerous for Mr. Mortison. And he couldn't help it, any more than a dipsomaniac can help taking a drink. He was the victim of his ductless glands, as the Johnnies say nowadays," Peter delivered his homily with an elderly sententiousness which consorted oddly with his youthful countenance.

"Call it ductless glands if you want to—looks to me as if he was just a plain chaser, and got bumped off in the mix-up," Andrews commented.

"It's the same thing—just a difference of diction," Peter said amiably. He was wandering about the room as he spoke, stooping to examine the titles of the books in the unpainted board bookcase which covered one wall of the room, picking up and laying down various objects which adorned its bare top.

"Hm," he murmured. "Here's a 'tiki' from New Zealand, and this horn and leather thing is a Japanese wajang. Some of this Chinese carved ivory stuff looks fairly valuable. Our too susceptible ranch manager seems to have traveled a bit. What's more, he's hung onto this stuff, in all his later wanderings. Now what do you make of that?" He held up a riding crop with a braided leather loop for a handle.

"I suppose he rode horses," Andrews offered brilliantly.

"You needn't be so Watsonish," Peter snapped with some irritation. "Of course h edid! But no self-respecting horseman in this part of the country would carry a thing like that. It goes with varnished boots and a groom and that sort of finery."

"Do you think he's been a groom?" Despite his indifference and fatigue, Andrews was becoming interested.

"No, I don't," Peter said emphatically. "Mrs. Everett wasn't losing her head over a groom—nor yet an ex-groom. Besides, look at these." One after another, he pulled out at random an armful of books from the shelves. "A full set of Dostoievski—what's more, he'd actually read 'em." He thumbed the well-worn pages of a blue-gray volume of 'The Brothers Karamazov.' And here are the moderns—Schnitzler, Mann, 'The World's Illusion'—and Marcel Proust. Fair to middling high brow for a ranchman." Peter's eyebrow cocked upward at an inquisitorial angle. "Hullo, what's this?"

From behind the displaced books he drew out a small Chinese box made of inlaid strips of wood of different colors.

"It's one of those puzzle boxes that are opened by sliding the little panels in a certain order till you get at the compartment that holds the key to open it—see?" He held out the box for Andrews' inspection. "Only it's broken. And Mortison took good care of his curios. That's the only thing around the place that isn't in perfect condition. It's not particularly valuable, either—and of course it was perfectly worthless after it got busted."

"It doesn't look worth keeping, to me," Andrews remarked, turning the box over in his fingers.

"No—I wonder why he kept it."

"He not only kept it—he hid it," Andrews observed.

"So he did! Gee, Andrews, you're getting bright!" Peter exclaimed with exaggerated admiration. "What's more, he kept it hidden behind the books. And when Mrs. Everett was looking for a place to hide her gun, the first place she thought of was the book case. It looks as if she knew about the box, and it gave her the suggestion of a place to put the gun."

"But if the box really means anything, the silliest thing she could do was to establish a connection by choosing the same hiding place," Andrews objected.

"Of course it was silly, supposing the box has any real significance," Peter agreed. "But she had not time to stop and think. She probably didn't realize herself where the suggestion came from."

"Anyway, the box is empty." Andrews had peered into the openingb eneath the broken lid.

"That makes it all the funnier that he should have thought it worth hiding," Peter answered. "Well, we can't find out anything by staring at it any longer." With a baffled sigh, he abandoned the problem of the box and turned to the table, seating himself in the big arm chair which had been occupied by the dead man.

Peter had long ago overcome any revulsion of nerves in connection with what he called "stiffs." The chair was the obvious place to sit, even though the last man to sit there had been a corpse. He leaned his head against the leather back, disregarding the dark irregular stain which marred the upholstery at the height of his right shoulder. Then, bending forward, he proceeded to open the long shallow drawer in the front of the table, and emptied its contents on the top.

"Another gun!" he exclaimed, pouncing on a heavy object half hidden under the mass of papers which had filled the drawer. "This one hasn't been fired, though—it's full up. Yet it was right within reach. No time to defend himself, I guess."

Laying the revolver to one side, Peter methodically and without a qualm of conscience opened envelopes, unfolded letters, glanced at their contents, and laid them aside in a neat pile.

"Nothing but bills and receipts pertaining to the ranch," he said, his face long with disappointment. "Not a personal letter in the bunch! Hullo, what's this?"

From the bottom of the pile he fished out a flat leather case, balancing it on the palm of his hand. The case was of Florentine workmanship, beautifully tooled and chased with gold. But the surface was scuffed and worn, and only a trace here and there of the gilt pattern remained. In the center was the dim ,almost obliterated outline of what appeared to be a crest or coat of arms. Peter flipped open the cover and stared at an old-fashioned photograph set in the oval space within. Very softly, under his breath, he began to whistle.

The sound brought Andrews heavily to his feet. He shuffled across the room and leaned over Peter's shoulder.

The photograph, its sepia tones faded to a soft brown, showed a woman in evening dress, her hair piled high. At either side, one in front and the other with a hand on the back of her chair, stood two small boys. They were dressed alike, but the one at the back was evidently the older—he was two inches taller than the other. The picture was obviously a "family group." But the faces of the two boys had been neatly cut out with the point of a pen-knife, exposing the cardboard beneath in two blank circles.

"Well, what do you think of that?" Peter's eyebrows were lifted in puzzled astonishment.

"It won't reproduce," Andrews said dejectedly. "It's too faded."

"Gosh!" Peter flared. "You sure are the song of a single note. Can't you expand your mind, if any, a little, and take in the thought that a picture may be of some other use than for reproduction in the Herald?"

"But who is it? What are the faces cut out for? What does it mean?"

"I don't know—and ditto, and ditto. That goes for all three," Peter caroled jubilantly.

"Maybe if the art department painted out the two boys and touched up the dame's face—"

"The art department isn't going to have the chance to monkey with this picture—not yet awhile anyway," Peter said caustically. He closed the picture frame with determination, and thrust it into his inside coat pocket.

"Well, considering that you don't know one from the other you seem mighty cheered up," Andrews taunted.

"Of course I'm cheered up, you lunk-head son of a sculpin! Just try putting a little gray matter in the place where your cerebrum is supposed to be. Here's the murder trial of a young and pretty woman. Her husband is a prominent construction engineer—and he'll get more 'prominent' every day the story runs. It has 'class" and it has sex, and as if that wasn't enough, Emil Kurtner will take the stand for the defense. He's good for page one, any day in the week. Every paper in the city will send its trained seals to the trial. They'll lap it up."

'Sure they'll lap it up! I guess you'll be lapping it up yourself," he said pungently.

"Yeah," Peter agreed. "You bet I will, and it will be some little lapping. The Herald was on the ground first. We've got the edge with the sheriff, and with Kurtner, and with the lady and her husband. Still, the trial is an open and shut story. Once the others get here, it's wide open. It'll be a great show while it lasts—and when it's over, the other papers will sit back on their haunches and call it a day."

"Well, what more do you want?" Andrews enquired stubbo

"Just this." Andrews hastily ducked as Peter rapped on the edge of the table with the butt of the revolver. "There's another story behind this one. I can smell it—my nose knows! If Kurtner's stuff breaks the way I hope it will, they'll all get wind of it before the trial's over. But they won't know what to do about it. They won't find out, either, because little Peter is here on the ground first, copping all the evidence he can lay his hands on."

Peter's eyes shone with excitement as he wheeled to face Andrews.

"We've got day and days, weeks maybe, before the other papers will even guess that there is another story—one that'll make the trial just a nice little curtain raiser to the main show. And that's the story the Herald is going to get—all sole alone!"

Favor Rivers Over DeCorsey

JOHNNY AGAIN UNDER-DOG FOR BOUT TONIGHT

Johnny DeCorsey is in a nice spot to spring another surprise on the boys at the Orange County Athletic club tonight when he squares away for 10 rounds in a main event with Indian Jimmie Rivers.

Making his first start at Delhi since the first of the year, Rivers has been made a favorite to celebrate it with a victory.

Johnny was a shortender against Tommy Huffman whom he decisively outpointed. He was a shortender against "Wild Man" Macias, and gave that worthy one of the hardest fights of his life. He was a shortender against "Swede" Berglund, yet stopped the San Bernardina pride in four heats.

Coming in as the under-dog tonight gives the smiling Los Angeles youngster a swell chance to score another tremendous upset.

Art Molino vs. Willie Pitcher, 125 pounds, six rounds; Andy de la Parra vs. "Sonny Boy" Thompson, 122 pounds, four rounds.

He is meeting a shrewd, calculating, experienced opponent in Rivers, now under the mangement of Ralph Pantusso, the Placentia sportsmen who handles Tony Moreno and Urban Hernandez. Jimmie has just returned from a long tour and is supposed to be in splendid condition. A host of his old admirers is sure to gather inside Promoter H. T. Foust's pavilion to watch the redskin go and determine whether his business in other states has improved or cramped his style.

Don Smith, one-time pride of the amateurs, faces Sal Ortega in the six-round semi-final. Smith claims a draw with Len Porter, colored ace, and if this be true he rates over Ortega, just a willing slugger.

Eddie O'Day and Jack Gilmore, a couple of these "beeg, strong fellers," head the rest of the show. They are going six rounds, or less. The first one who hits is apt to win.

Art Molino meets Willie Pitcher in another six-rounder, while "Sonny Boy" Thompson, colored, opens the card against Andy de la Parra, local Mexican bantam.

Women will be admitted free.

'Red' Cooke to Matriculate At Santa Clara

Warren ("Red") Cooke, veteran of three seasons in Saint tanbark and for two years picked on the All-Coast Preparatory league eleven, was admitted to the northern institution today. The flaming-haired end plans to leave for Santa Clara Saturday night.

Cooke now weighs 171, considerably more than when he was starring with Coach Oliver's Saint grid machines. Football critics are agreed that Cooke should develop into one of the coast's outstanding wingmen before he graduates from college.

Brain again triumphed over brawn when the editorial and business offices of The Register combined to give the mechanical department its annual indoor baseball spanking, 19-4, at Irvine park yesterday. The "Brawns" never had a chance. (Don't be surprised if you find this full of typographical errors.)

Wayne Moone's trajectories were dispensed with altogether too much emotion for the serfs of the lower floor who did well to score at all.

"Big Train" Zangraft was on the protuberance for the "Brawns." He was batted robustly and received mediocre support.

J. Frank Burke umpired most of the game. Nobody said "Kill the umpire."

The lineups:

Brawns—Zangraft, p; Sherwood, c; Newton, 1b; Shidler, 2b; Duke, 3b; Smith, lss; Thrasher, rss; Lyle, lff; Patison, cf; King, rf.

Promoter H. T. Foust has completed his August "future book" for both his Santa Ana and San Bernardino boxing arenas.

Jimmie Rivers and Johnny DeCorsey met here tonight. Next Thursday the matchmaker will use Joe Reese and Jack (Kid) Allen, another pair of welterweights. The Urban Hernandez-Jimmy Fox attraction, originally booked for tonight, has been set back to August 28.

Santiago Zorrilla, celebrated Panamanian, meets Frankie Boldt at Foust's San Bernardino club next Tuesday. The inland club will be "dark" August 26 on account of the primaries.

CARNERA BOUT SEPTEMBER 29 UP TO SHARKEY

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—With a single unimportant exception—He was only one of the prize fighters—everybody seemed agreed today that the Sharkey-Carnera fight had practically been made for Chicago on the night of September 29 and may Allah protect the ring's foundations.

Carnera, his manager and the managers of his managers were for it. So was Miguel Malloy, the new boy from up the block who has come down to play on the Garden's sidewalks. Johnny Buckley, who manages Sharkey after business hours, said he was for it as he bowed himself off the asphalt on to the midnight train for Boston.

To be frank, he was speaking strictly for Johnny Buckley. When the time comes, he will speak for Sharkey directly after Sharkey speaks for himself.

Malloy Well Financed

A nod of the latter's head, it seems, now stands between Miguel Malloy and his first time in the coarse money.

His backing? Mr. Malloy is glad the question is asked, because, it appears, his backing is everything a man could wish. He isn't worried about his backing because he is fronting for a certain somebody and, looking him over from left to right, one has to admit that he has an ideal front. Anyhow, the Sharkey agents are convinced that Miguel's credentials are quite in order and so is the writer.

Sharkey's hesitancy at the moment is a mere matter of incentive. He must fight at this time only for the sake of staying in the money, whereas Carnera must fight to stay in the country. They were going to run him out of here a few weeks ago, but a compromise was effected, suitable to all hands. According to its terms, the immigration authorities were allowed to stay on Ellis island and Carnera was reimbursed for his trouble by getting at least $150,000 for the proposed fight in Chicago.

Will Accept 25 Per Cent

He is committed to accepting 25 per cent of the receipts, which ought to do at least $600,000, the commitment having been arranged at a mass meeting of his managers. At least 10 managers are getting various parts of Carnera's purses. Nobody seems to know what Carnera is getting out of Carnera but maybe this isn't imporant.

The last offer to Sharkey was a flat guarantee of $125,000, which is flat like Lookout mountain, or a privilege of 30 per cent, which isn't a privilege at all. It is downright bounty. The terms were communicated to Sharkey by telephone but he was all tired out from a hard day on the front porch and couldn't be bothered. He will get around to it, however.

This fact was ordained after Buckley had paid a duty call on the Garden and found that this organization had decided to be very big about the thing and offer him a match with Campolo for a dollar-ninety and expenses.

NEW SENATOR

This is Joe Kuhel, $65,000 first baseman the Senators purchased from Kansas City in the American association. Kuhel's inaugural performance with Washington was marked by three hits. He will assist the veteran Joe Judge at the initial sack, which eventually may lead to the shifting of Art (The Great) Shires to an outfield post.

WESTMINSTER, GARDEN GROVE IN TITLE TILT

HOW THEY STAND

	W.	L.	Pct.
Westminster	1	1	.500
Garden Grove	1	1	.500

Westminster and Garden Grove tonight play their "do or die" game at Westminster for the championship of the Orange County "B" Night Baseball league.

Standing one to one in their two-out-of-three game series, the crack teams of the fast junior circuit promise to put up still another of the thrilling imbroglios which has marked their every meeting this summer.

Not only will the pennant in the "B" circuit be officially at stake but also the right to represent the league in a playoff with Ontario, undisputed champions of the American Night league's "B" loop.

Garden Grove took the first game of the series, 5 to 3. Westminster squared accounts Monday night, coming from far behind in the eighth and ninth innings to defeat the Peppers, 8 to 7.

The rival managers, Francis Penhall of Westminster and Claude Anderson of Garden Grove, plan to start virtually the same lineups that went postward Monday. Ira DeBusk will do the submarining for the Aviators. Russ Muir will work for the Peppers. "Dink" Penhall will be behind the log for Westminster, Marks for Garden Grove.

STARS OUT TO CINCH PENNANT AT LONG BEACH

Unless Santa Ana loses both to Long Beach and Orange and thereby is tied by Anaheim for the second half title, the series between the Stars and Whittier for the 1930 championship of the National Night league will begin next week, officials said today.

No dates have been established and none will be until Santa Ana is definitely "in," but if the Stars win at Long Beach tomorrow night the playoff may start as early as Monday.

Representatives of both clubs are said to favor no less than a three-out-of-five series. Such an arrangement might require the better part of two weeks unless one team was lucky enough to breeze through to three successive victories, so an early part is desirable for all concerned. Games probably will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays.

The winner of the Santa Ana-Whittier play, if these cities do get together, then would have to meet Colton in another long series for the championship of Southern California. Sectional meetings always have called for a two-out-of-three series in past seasons.

Santa Ana hopes to sew up the championship at Long Beach. Already a cinch to tie for the bauble, Herb Salveson's gang will be out to win it against the Acorns and do away with the necessity of meeting Orange in a game that was postponed from the Fourth of July. Salveson will start all his regulars, Pitcher Joe Cornelius included, so the Stars rate as better than an even choice to cop.

Word from Long Beach is to the effect that the Acorns are "gunning" for the Stars and will spare no effort to make things as troublesome as possible. Milt Fish and Joe Bell, "master minds" of the Acorns, have a new pitcher by the name of Sheek who has been turning in some pretty fair games of late. If Sheek doesn't get the nomination, Deene Downer, a fast-ball pitcher from Long Beach city league ranks, will do the throwing. The Stars haven't faced either Sheek or Downer this term.

Anaheim draws the Fullerton Night Hawks tomorrow, and should have no trouble winning, although "Bus" Callan's outfit loked a little better than usual Tuesday from Orange, 6 to 2.

MICKEY WALKER TO HEAD L. A. PROGRAM

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—Mickey Walker, world middleweight champion, today signed an open contract to fight the main event at an open-air boxing show at Wrigley field here September 15.

Promoter Jack Doyle said Walker was willing to meet Paolino Uzcudun if the Basque can be signed, or any other formidable opponent available at that time.

The date of the show was advanced from September 8 because of the Max Baer-Frankie Campbell fight in San Francisco August 26. Efforts will be made to have the winner appear on the Wrigley field program.

BABY SAL WINS

HOOKS and SLIDES

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Night baseball is just a quaint old Spanish custom in Santa Barbara, Calif. . . . It was played there in 1905. . . . Last year Fat Fothergill was "the peepul's choice" in Detroit . . . fans went into delirium when he came to the plate in a pinch . . . but this year Fat wasn't delivering . . . so he went to the White Sox for the waiver price. . . . Red Grange has retired as a roadhouse host near Los Angeles . . . says he wasn't cut out for that sort of business. . . . Jockey Paul Neal, leading jockey around Chicago tracks last season was thrown into a post by a horse at Hawthorne the other day and badly hurt . . . the horse's name was Apple Brandy. . . . Oculists say that because the light rays in night baseball come from the sides and not from above, fair players have to be good to play it. . . . and good players better.

MY BALL PLAYER

Lewis Robert Wilson is up to his old tricks again. Time after time we have remonstrated with Lewis, and he has promised to do better. But just as he seems about to prove he has mended his ways, there he goes again, kerflop! We weep with him, and then he sets out bravely again, his jaw squared, determination in his eye, and we go along right with him again.

Lewis Robert Wilson is our favorite ball player. He plays center field for the Chicago Cubs and happened, the same thing that happens to all the graceful lines of a brick kiln. He fights with umpires. He argues with fans in the stands, sometimes with his fists, for Lewis has a temper. He socks homers far over the wall and swats ball players on the nose. In pinches, sometimes he lets the third strike waft lazily across the dish. In other pinches sometimes he loses fly balls in the sun, and usually when Lewis loses 'em, they cost the Cubs ball games. But he is our favorite ball player.

JOY AND SORROW

He makes spectacular catches sometimes, and whenever Hack makes 'em, somehow they seem to be better catches than Tris Speaker ever could make. Those chunky piano legs of his fairly spin under him as he races to the outer wall for a long fly. He leaps, and oh, boy, what a catch! Then again, sometimes he just stands there in center waiting for a nice easy fly, and when the ball gets close to him, he waves his arms over his head in bewilderment and the stuff's off. He has lost it in the sun. But just the same, he's our favorite ball player.

He's battling Babe Ruth this year for home run honors and he isn't so many behind the Bambino. Old Hack was basking in sunshine and glory the other day, with the Cubs ahead in the ninth, when another one of these terrible things happened, teh same thing that happened in the world series last year. Hack lost one in the sun and it went for a home run. The Cardinals won a battle from the Cubs.

McGRAW SHIPPED HIM

He's a castoff, you might say—one of those McGraw castoffs. He was with the Giants three years, but in 1926 John decided he didn't want Hack any longer, so he sent him away. The Cubs rescued him from Toledo.

Hack fights and works every minute. His bat has brought the Cubs victory time after time, but so have his inglorious failures brought them defeat. You never know just what Hack is going to do, and that is another one of the reasons why he's our favorite ball player. He's always in earnest; always trying, but he's just human, after all.

Some of the lads in the press box say he gets his name by his resemblance to n old-fashioned hack. Others say they call him that because he has the physical proportions of Hackenschmidt, the old wrestler. Either reason is authentic, but for all that he remains our favorite ball player.

Hack can make the greatest catches in the world. He can hit the ball as far as Ruth and as often. And he can make the greatest mistakes you ever saw. One day he gets the razzberry and it seems everybody in the stands is against him. The very next day he belts a homer over the fence and they're all his friends.

No mater what he does he remains by ball player. I think he's wonderful.

LEGION CHECKS PENNANT DASH OF 'PHONEMEN

No longer was there an undefeated baseball team in the Santa Ana City league today.

The only one of the species left before last night was the Pacific Telephone company, and the Pole-Climbers went the way of the rest when it ran afoul of the hard-hitting American Legion outfit, 9 to 4.

One nightmare of an inning, the fifth, beat the 'Phonemen. In that large frame, the Legionnaires knocked "Mack" Castro all over the Bowl for six runs and seven hits, more than enough to win with the kind of pinch-pitching old Earl Jones was dishing out from his ancient "souper." The Pacifics got 11 hits off Jones but did well to make four runs.

The Richfield Oilers ran true to form in the curtain-raiser, winning almost as they pleased over the Courthouse, 9 to 2. Fred Miller yielded only four scattered hits for the winners, who scored in almost every round off "Spike" Spicer.

Another double-header is scheduler for tonight. The Dennis Printers and the Orange County Builders' exchange collide in the main event at 8:15, and if the Builders win they will be "in" as champions of the first half of the split season. Peek's market, a second half title contender, plays the Eastern Oil company at 6:45.

SPARR STOPS M'KNIGHT

WILMINGTON, Aug. 14.—A slow main event at the Harbor arena last night between Jack Sparr and Jack McKnight ended in the fourth round when McKnight was unable to continue because of a broken hand. Sparr was awarded a technical knockout. Tommy Huffman took the semi-windup from Jackie Stewart.

SHOOTING with SHUTE

by DENNY SHUTE

If I felt ambitious and literary I probably could write an entire novel-length book on how to play out of sand traps. And probably I wouldn't half cover the field, either.

One thing that strikes me as a rather common error is in the choice of a club to play out of such places. Duffers I have seen seem to think the niblick is the one club to use in such a situation and that that is the only use for such a club.

Of course that is not true. The niblick is the club when explosion shots are necessary, but one should never attempt an explosion shot when any other method of getting out remains.

In traps where there is no tranch between the hand and the side of the bunker, most any club is better than a niblick and in shallow traps where no especial loft is required, a putter is frequently the best club to use.

As a matter of fact, I believe the duffer who gets wild-eyed and afraid the minute he gets into sand will find it to his advantage to think over the possibilities of getting out with the putter first. Then if he finds that the putter doesn't answer his purpose, he should go on up the line of clubs until he decides on one with which he can feel certain of getting out.

McFADDEN FOR SHERIFF CLUB STAGES DINNER

S. James Tuffree, Placentia, manager of the club, presided, and in the opening talk lauded McFadden's candidacy, reviewing the candidate's platform on which he is seeking to be nominated for the office of sheriff at the coming primary election on August 26.

"When Ralph McFadden was a city trustee of Anaheim several years ago, he, in association with Frank Gibbs and Fred Backs, was instrumental in making Anaheim dry," Tuffree declared. The speaker further declared McFadden's stand for impartial enforcement of all laws.

T. B. Talbert, Huntington Beach, was the next speaker. He said in part:

"You always know where Ralph McFadden stands, regardless of friend or foe. And he has real business ability. I think Orange county is fortunate in having such a man offer himself as a candidate for sheriff."

H. A. Lake, Garden Grove lumberman and president of the Orange county fair board, said McFadden was the man who "can clean up things in Orange county."

J. P. Greeley, Balboa, who was Orange county's first superintendent of schools, said McFadden once was his pupil. "He is free, impartial and unafraid," said Greeley.

Tom McFadden, brother of the candidate, declared that there are stills running in Orange county "right now." "Law violators are protected here by big bond men in Los Angeles." "Unfit" was the term this speaker applied to some of the members of the sheriff's force in the past. He paid a glowing tribute to the ability and integrity of his brother.

"Some have said they would vote for an ex-service man," Ross Shafer of Tustin declared. "I want to say," he continued, "that I am a service man and a member of the American Legion. Ralph McFadden offered his services to his country during the World war. The end of that war was the only thing that prevented him from being in the commissioned ranks of his country's armed forces."

Other speakers were Cal Lester, Orange; L. A. Hogue, Brea; Mrs. Ruth Harbison, William T. Wallop and Merman Stern, Anaheim; Ted Tarbox, Huntington Beach; H. A. MacClatchie, Yorba Linda and Brea; E. R. Walker, Yorba Linda; H. H. Hale, Placentia; A. W. McBride and O. T. Stephens, La Habra; and Ralph McFadden.

In outlining his position on law enforcement, McFadden declared that if elected he would make a study of a certain grand jury recommendation with reference to establishing sub-stations of the sheriff's office in strategic locations in the county, and if found for the best interests of enforcement, would work for the accomplishment of the recommendation.

IT'S A FUNNY WORLD

FORT WORTH, Aug. 14.—While the thermometer hovered around 100 here, the local telephone company made an announcement which caused a lot of sweltering citizens to ponder over spending a large lump of money in order to keep cool—a la Coue. A connection can now be made between torrid Texas and Sweden, up in the cold north, over the telephone. To talk that distance, however, it would cost $45.75 for the first three minutes.

Chile supplies about 90 per cent of the world's iodine, the production of which is a by-product of its nitrate industry.

Consider the case of one Bob Tarry, Long Beach high school tackle, a member of last year's Southern California championship eleven and eligible for one more season in Jackrabbit moleskins.

Big, tough and strong, Tarry developed ambitions for the career of a heavyweight prizefighter. He trained all summer, got a preliminary bout at Wilmington and was knocked colder than a pawnbroker's smile in one round.

Now he is a professional. No more high school or college football for him.

Colton awaits the impending Southern California night baseball playoffs with tremendous interest.

The lamplight racket is primarily a "small town" sport because it generates inter-city competition and rivalry.

Colton fans have petitioned their city council for bleachers that will accommodate 1000 more fans. Their present stands seat 650, hardly enough even for Santa Ana if the Stars "make" the big series.

But don't be confused when the tire dealer with something "special" to sell backs you into a corner.

Just remember the one fact — after years of experience, after testing this value and that, "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

There must be a valid reason for this.

There is: Goodyear Tires are definitely superior, in the two main parts of a tire.

Now is the time to get YOURS

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts.

As far back as 1916, it became a fact that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Every year since that time it has been increasingly true that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Today this preference for Goodyears runs into millions: millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

There can be only one conclusion: Goodyear Tires must be better—and at present prices they are a matchless bargain.

AIDS STATE IN EXCELLING TWO MILLION MARK

A substantial increase in the number of voters registered in Orange county for the primary election helped the state to make a heavy gain in voting strength and for the first time go over the two million mark. The registration in Orange county for the primary was 48,937, it has been announced by J. M. Backs, county clerk, while that for the entire state is 2,187,474 as shown in announcement made today by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan. Orange county ranks eighth in the state the figures show.

Comparison with the primary election four years ago reveals that the registration in Orange county then was 40,506 and for the state, 1,854,471. An increase in the number of voting precincts in the county, which added 15 for a new total of 189, also is in line with the increase in the number of precincts in the state as revealed in Jordan's announcement, where the increase was from 8282 precincts in 1926 to 10,283 this year.

The ratio of Republican voters to Democrats still remains at about four to one, reflecting the condition that was found to exist in Orange county. The total registered vote for the 58 counties of the state by party affiliation, as compiled from the figures sent by county officials to Jordan, is as follows: Republican, 1,599,413; Democratic, 449,824; Prohibition 12,304; Socialist 10,602; declined to state, 114,940; miscellaneous 391.

Los Angeles, as usual, stood first in registration with a total of 824,886 voters, as compared to 661,444 four years ago. San Francisco came next with 243,019 as against 220,893 in 1926, while Alameda ranked third, wiht 227,674 as compared with 198,265.

Alpine, California's tiniest county, registered 136 voters for the state primary—126 Republicans and 10 Democrats. At the primary election four years ago this county's total registration was only 86, of whom 71 actually cast their votes for governor.

TO FLY ATLANTIC "PAY-LOAD"

It's a "flying freight" that these two aviators plan to pilot across the Atlantic. William S. MacLaren, Newark, N. J., airman, and Mrs. Berl Hart, one of the country's few women transport pilots, intend to carry a pay-load in their plane when they take off from the Newark Airport for Paris early in August. They expect to follow a route across Bermuda and the Azores and are seeking permission to transport government mail on the flight.

FORMER REGISTER EMPLOYE WRITES TRIBUTE TO MOTHER

BY JOHN H. McCOY

It has often been recorded that the man or woman of today seldom pauses to merely think . . .

But fewer still are the times when men or women pause to really consider and glorify the richest of all possessions . . . Mother. Yet she is continually glorifying them.

"God could not be everywhere so he made Mothers," reads the old Jewish proverb.

Once each year we honor them; once each year we endeavor to pay tribute to them. But it is not enough.

Upon the shoulders of the Mothers of today rests the burden of rearing the men and women of tomorrow. May we henceforth daily glorify, honor, and cherish each and everyone of those Mothers of men.

Court Notes

J. W. Heinicke has brought suit against S. E. Eller et al, asking a decree of quiet title to property in San Clemente.

The Commercial National bank of Santa Ana brought suit against Joe Wagner yesterday in superior court asking judgment on a promissory note for $1000. Attorney fees of $250 also are asked in the complaint.

Claude Groover, who entered a plea of guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor when he was arraigned before Judge James L. Allen last Friday, was sentenced to spend two years in the county jail when judgment was pronounced yesterday afternoon by Judge Allen.

John E. Turner, who was found guilty by a jury Monday on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, was fined $200 today by Judge James L. Allen and had his driver's license revoked for one year. The court suspended $100 of the fine and remanded the prisoner to the sheriff with instructions that he was to spend one day in jail for every dollar of the fine, if not paid.

A stipulated judgment of $474.15 plus costs was entered by Judge James L. Allen today in the case of Wm. C. Bernard, of Laguna Beach, against Nettie K. Holcombe-Pritchard. The suit had been brought on an open book account.

The inventory and appraisement in the estate of C. Francis Clark, filed today, gives the value of the estate as $4300.

CAKE FLAVORING LEADS TO ARREST

Six bottles of cake flavoring were the cause of Herman Ebert, 39, Arcadia rancher, being lodged in the county jail yesterday by State Traffic Officer Groover.

Not that it is against the law to have six bottles of cake flavoring, but Ebert drank the contents and they made him drunk according to the officer, who booked the prisoner on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

The Ebert machine was zig-zagging down the road near San Juan Capistrano, according to Groover.

Ebert also staged two attempts to escape after he was arrested, according to Groover.

Bail of $500 was demanded of the driver in Justice John Landell's court this morning and Ebert is to appear in San Juan Capistrano next week for a hearing.

SAMPLE BALLOTS PLACED IN MAIL

Sample ballots, voting instructions and information concerning candidates are leaving the quarters of County Clerk J. M. Backs by the truck load for the post office where envelopes for 49,937 voters are being sorted preparatory to distribution through the mails on Saturday.

The first truck load left the court house last night and two others went the route today. Workers in the election department of the county clerk's office worked overtime last night stuffing the envelopes and getting them ready for the mail. Backs stated today that he expected the night work to continue until the task is completed. The ballots are required to be sent to all registered voters between August 16 and August 21.

LOCAL MEN CAUGHT IN ARIZONA FLOOD

Major Leach and Frank McGowan, Santa Ana men, returned to Santa Ana today from the Grand canyon, after being caught in the Arizona flood of last week.

Their automobile, owned by McGowan, was lost in the flood which swept down on the Santa Anans in the Hopi country. Leach and McGowan were forced to borrow horses afrom the Indians so that they could continue their way back toward California.

Leach and McGowan were on their way to the Grand canyon from the petrified forest, where they visited, when the rain started falling, they reported. They left their machine in a dry spot which, in a few minutes turned into a raging stream. The quicksand which developed with the water caused the car to sink.

After walking 10 miles into the Indian reservation, they were able to hire horses, which they rode to Lupe. Abandoning the animals there, and taking a truck, they drove to Winslow, where they boarded a train for California.

The public school system of England was introduced by the Foster Education Act 1870.

President Hoover shouldn't be worried when driving even in the thickest traffic if Francis H. Robinson, below, is at the wheel. For Robinson—chauffeur for every president since the first automobile was bought for the White House in 1910—has never been in an accident. He has driven many thousands of miles with Presidents Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

The presentation of the life membership was made by the present secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, W. L. Walker, who was elected to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Dr. Foster.

KIWANIS CLUB SPEAKER TELLS ABOUT ORIENT

The Rev. E. W. Koons, for 27 years a resident and president of a boys' school in Korea, gave a talk on "Economic and Industrial Conditions of Japan and Korea," at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon at St. Ann's inn.

Bill Kelly was program chairman and secured the speaker. The talk on Oriental conditions was preceded by music offered by four singers, Miss Lorene Croddy, Miss Marietta Limbaugh, Walter Workman and George Bonecutter. The first number was a one-act skit, entitled "Vender of Hearts" and the second was a duet, "Under an Old New England Moon," sung by Miss Limbaugh and Walter Workman. They were accompanied by Paul LeBar, club pianist.

The Rev. Mr. Koons gave the reasons why Japan was a great country and also of the hardships that this small country has suffered. In the fire of 1923, there were over 100,000 casualties and the area of the fire was larger than the London, Chicago and San Francisco fires combined, he said.

"The four greatest handicaps to Japanese industry are lack of natural resources and capital, high cost of production, high consumption and cost of liquor and the course of licensed prostitution," the speaker declared. "Until these conditions are overcome," Koons continued, "Japan will be held down."

MAYOR ROLPH TO SPEAK IN COUNTY

Mayor James Rolph jr., of San Francisco, candidate for governor at the August 26 primaries, will make one of his last speeches in Southern California at San Clemente. On his way to San Diego, where he will close his campaign in this section of the state on August 21, Mayor Rolph will stop in the Spanish Village at 9:15 a. m., and deliver a 15-minute address. He then will proceed to San Diego.

Mayor Rolph will make a swing of Orange county on August 20, when he will visit 17 cities of the county. On August 21 he will have breakfast with the Santa Ana Breakfast club, after which he will start south. He will talk at Tustin and at San Juan Capistrano before speaking at San Clemente.

Wallace Is Given Probation Today

Ray Wallace, former deputy sheriff here, charged with forgery of a $1,000 note at the Santa Ana First National bank, and also with non-support of two children, gained his freedom in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday on both cases.

On the failure to provide charge he was given two years probation on condition that he pay $50 per month for the children's keep, and on the forgery charge, sentence was suspended for a period of six months pending good behavior.

Justice Kenneth Morrison said that Wallace paid the First National bank the money owed on the note.

ARTZ BACKERS LAUNCH DRIVE FOR CANDIDATE

Believing every problem coming before the county should receive the attention of a qualified business man, backers of Charles O. Artz, candidate for supervisor, well known Tustin business man and extensive property owner throughout the fifth district, today were preparing a final drive for the primary election August 26. Friends of Artz declare that while the county does not need remodeling, they do believe that the injection of new blood and new ideas into public offices will better county business.

They believe a man who has resided in the district and the county for 43 years, who has extensive property and business interests located in various parts of the district and who has established during a period of 25 years a reputation as a successful business man, can give unselfishly of his time and will devote his best efforts to the protection and advancement of the county and the district.

No better recommendation can be secured, his friends declare, than that of permanent residence and property interests, coupled with a business experience and a contact with the commercial world such as Artz has had.

"I promise, if elected," Artz said, "to give fair and honest consideration to every question upon its merits, and to serve the fifth district and Orange county to the best of my ability as a business man."

Young People Invited To Spend Evening in Cards and Dancing

A group of congenial young people found Miss Evangeline Wolford a delightful hostess last night, when they were invited to her home at 806 East Pine street, for an evening of cards and dancing.

The lavish use of garden flowers made the home doubly attractive, and formed a colorful background for the card tables arranged for a lively game of 500. In the contest, Miss Elizabeth Gillespie scored high among the girls, and received a lovely corsage flower ornament, while a davenport ash tray rewarded John Maring, scoring high among the young men. Amusing little joke gifts offered their consolation to Mrs. Clyde Stovall and Erhard Hegeman.

As a finale to the dancing of the later evening hours, Miss Wolford served an appetizing refreshment course to her guests, who included Mr. and Mrs. Florian Eickholt, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stovall, Miss Elizabeth Gillespie, Miss Gladys McDonald, Messrs. Erhard Hageman, John Maring, Vincent Borchard and Dan Jerry.

Tri-City Bridge Club Is Entertained By Orange Hostess

S. O. A. club members held a most enjoyable meeting yesterday, when Mrs. George Merriman entertained in her pleasant home in Orange. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock at small tables with bouquets of shell pink asters as the central decorative motif. The same lovely color effect was carried out in all appointments.

Bridge was played, and Mrs. W. Thompson was fortunate in holding high score, Mrs. George Merriman, second high, while Mrs. William Batt was content with low.

Members regretted that one of their group, Mrs. Daisy McGee, of Santa Ana, who is suffering with a nervous breakdown, was unable to be with them. However, it is expected that she will be sufficiently recovered by the next club meeting to entertain members in her home.

Those sharing the pleasant afternoon with Mrs. Merriman were Mesdames John Jiles, W. Thompson, Leland Eubank, L. Wagner, C. A. Sisson, of Anaheim, William Batt and F. W. Higgins of Orange.

Gold Star Mother Has Arrived For Visit With Daughter

Recently arriving in this city where she rejoined her husband to spend the fall and winter months with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Everett C. Huntter, 826 North Flower street, Mrs. Jeannie Forbes of Fairmont, Nebr., brought with her the poignant memories of her recent voyage to France, where as a Gold Star Mother, she made the heart-rending pilgrimage to the grave of her son, Lieutenant Earl Forbes, 20 Aero squadron of Nebraska, sleeping his "last long sleep" in the cross-starred cemetery of St. Mihiel.

Mrs. Forbes was a member of the first contingent of Gold Star Mothers sailing from New York on the United States liner America, and arriving in France in May. She carried with her, a pathetic little tribute, the last gift she might offer her boy—a handful of the rich brown soil of the Nebraska farm where his boyhood was spent. And to the soil of France, where her son's earthly remains will be transmuted into velvety green grass and bright-hued flowers, was added this bit of his home-land, that was so dear to him, that he gave it the best he had to offer—his clean and fearless young life.

A touching article, "Mothers Remember," written by Grace Robinson for a recent issue of the Liberty magazine, alludes at much length to Mrs. Forbes and her son, and tells in detail the gallant manner in which he went forth to meet death.

"She was gazing at a marble cross that marked the grave of a gallant aviator son," explained Miss Robinson. "For her the hopes and tragedies of the Great war lay buried with the slim, charred body of Lieutenant Earl Forbes.

"When she looks into the eastern horizon, she sees only a desperate battle in the air, 14,000 feet over the German line. She sees eight American planes in flaming combat with 16 German planes. Her boy is there, in a heavy bombing ship, not built for lightning-quick skirmishes in the sky.

"A plane is hit in the gas tank. In that plane are Richard Matthews and Everett Taylor. Another plane dives to its side—turns back from its chance of safety over the Allied lines, and tries to defend the beleaguered men in the Matthews-Taylor ship. In the rescue plane is Mrs. Forbes' son, Earl.

"Earl's plane, which strove so gallantly to assist, is shot by German bullets. There is the roar of explosion as the gas ignites, and down go two more aviators. One is Dave Harris, Earl's pilot, and one is Lieutenant Earl Forbes!

"A frightful nightmare! A thing that couldn't have happened. Why, Earl wasn't a military man. Only a little while before he'd been a student at the University of Nebraska, a quiet kind of boy, planning his career. When war came, he wanted to be a pilot. But he became an observer instead because the government needed observers—so many had been lost. And he had only two trips into Germany, 20 days in action, when he went down like a meteor on September 26, 1918."

Lieutenant Forbes is credited, in the list of air heroes at Washington, with having brought down one enemy plane, but that knowledge is not so tender a memory to Mrs. Forbes, as is the short message sent her by one of his companion aviators, "When I last saw Earl he was standing at his guns, firing at the enemy which was attacking in superior numbers."

So to Mrs. Forbes' heartache, is consolation in the knowledge that her boy went bravely to his fate, and her trip to France was a pilgrimage in which a mother's sorrow was mingled with a mother's pride in a son whose courageous young manhood proved equal to the supreme test which his country could ask.

Register Group Shares Supper and Gaiety Of Park Party

Any chance caller at the Register office yesterday who may have wondered at the air of suppressed excitement prevailing in every department, might have understood the reason had he been "among those present" in Irvine park last night, when members of the Register staff and their families comprised the largest of the many picnic groups seeking the delights of that sylvan spot.

The occasion was one of the frequent Register parties, and J. Frank Burke, owner and publisher, acted as host at the dinner, with members of the staff co-operating in making the affair a success.

All the involved details of getting out a daily paper were speeded up throughout the day, and early in the afternoon, the big plant was wrapped in silence as the staff sought the county park—an ideal place for such a gathering. An exciting ball game drew the attention of everyone to the ball grounds, where men of the editorial and business departments clashed with those of the composing room and mechanical department. Results were too sad to make public to the waiting world, which needs only be assured that the first named group won.

While the ball game was in progress, feminine members of the group divided their time between cheering the opposing teams and holding a bridge contest quite as exciting, if not as noisy. The supreme event of the outing however, was the baked ham supper served cafeteria style, with the girls of the staff serving, and Frank Rowe presiding over the coffee making.

Two of the long park tables were required for the diners, and presented a most inviting scene, the effect of which was heightened by great clusters of zinnias and sprays of honeysuckle brought by Mrs. J. Frank Burke from the gardens of her Panorama Heights home.

In the interval between supper and dancing, with which the evening closed, everyone enjoyed an impromptu program put on by the Very Small People of the party, with Master Bobby Perryman as master of ceremonies. The children were so lacking in self-consciousness, and were so serious in their varied numbers, that other picnickers in the park drew near to enjoy the entertainment.

Among the Register folk and their families and friends who shared the happy evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Burke and son, Franklin Burke; Mr. and Mrs. Loyal K. King, Mrs. Almina Herb, Mr. Burke's sister from Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Mason Yould and son, Philip, and nephew, Bobby Heath; Mr. and Mrs. W. Lee Millis and daughter, Betty Lee; Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Alvord and daughter, Marguerite; Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perryman and son and daughter, George H. Risch, Cora Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Minihan, Amsel McBroom, W. H. "Hello Girls" Revel At Beach Party

Girls in the traffic department of the local telephone company were hosts to Corona girls last night, when they entertained at a wiener bake at Balboa Point. About 50 were present to share in the menu and the usual delights of the beach which followed it.

Some of those present enjoyed a stimulating dip in the ocean, while others preferred to bask in the blaze of the campfire and contribute to the stories and songs of the evening. To Mrs. Niel E. Meister and Miss Alice Upson goes the credit for successfully carrying out plans for the pleasant event.

Party Honoree Finds Her Engagement Is No Secret

Honoring Mrs. Marion Burdette, of this city, who this week will become the bride of Harvey Anderson of San Diego, was the daintily appointed party given last evening in the home of Miss Mary Bowyer, 560 Van Bibber street, Orange. The earlier part of the evening was spent mastering the hazards of the Dinky Links, after which the group adjourned to the Bowyer home, where bridge was enjoyed. As fate would will it, Mrs. Burdette held high score, and received an appropriate prize.

Refreshments were served at the prettily appointed long dining table, laid with Italian linen, and centered with a rose crystal bowl of rose and white asters. Rose crystal service completed the scheme. When guests delved into the depths of tiny rose nut cups, they found therein, small wedding rings, bearing the names of the young couple.

Although the event will be a surprise to Mrs. Burdette's many friends in this city, it remained a greater surprise to the honoree as to how the secret escaped, as preparations for the approaching wedding have been made with the utmost quietness, even securing the marriage license in another county.

Guests present last evening in addition to the guest of honor, Mrs. Marion Burdette, and the hostess, Miss Mary Bowyer, were Miss Ruth Hilyard, Miss Bishop, Miss Doris Bowyer, Miss Eleanor Bowyer, Miss Juanita Wallace and Miss Mary Louise Wallace.

About 30 members were present.

Dorcas Club

Mrs. H. C. Parsons was hostess to members of the Dorcas club of the First Christian church Tuesday night when they met in her home at 1018 Kilson Drive. The rooms were prettily decorated with bouquets of asters in colors varying from pale pink and blue to lavender.

Two-in-One Picnic

Two-In-One class members of the First Methodist Episcopal church defied the coolness of Tuesday evening, and held a delightful picnic in front of the Herbert Witt cottage at Newport Beach. A better location could not have been asked for, as the beach was unusually clean, and the ocean was only a short block away.

About 30 members gathered to participate in the evening's pleasures, and after all had consumed a great deal of the delicious pot-luck supper, they sat around the bonfire, exchanging stories and adventures and singing.

Surprise Party Given As Farewell For Miss Christie

Surprising to the fullest extent, Miss Lola Christie, popular among the younger set in Santa Ana, who will leave tomorrow for her home in Centerville, Ia., was the delightful affair planned last evening by her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. deWolf, with whom she has been staying for the past year.

The group of young friends first met at the home of Miss Ramona Smith on South Ross street, from where they motored to Balboa, to the pretty beach home of their hosts. Guests were greeted with a sign on the door telling them to walk in, for in the meantime, the honoree had been taken for a stroll. Upon her return she was surprised and delighted to find a host of friends assembled to greet her.

Bridge was made interesting by the use of clever tallies bearing piquant pirate maids, and merry faced clowns. Prizes for high score were awarded Miss Ruth Beemer and Joe McChesney, while low score went to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walworth. Other interesting card games followed during the evening. Variety was given by a humorous reading by Miss June Arnold.

Dinner In Irvine Park Is Preliminary to Bridge Session

Among the scores of merry parties which last night found setting in Irvine park, none was more enjoyable than that which called together the members of a congenial bridge club, who shared a picnic dinner planned by Mr. and Mrs. Reeves Aylmore, later enjoying the hospitality of the Aylmore home at 2129 Greenleaf street.

Arriving at the park in the early evening, the group shared the magic twilight hour with scores of other picnickers, who watched the long shadows steal in and out through the festooning vines and the giant liveoaks. One long table which commanded a view of the whole animated scene, was chosen for the serving of the varied menu. Places were indicated by a gay little fan-shaped cards which later did service as tally cards in the bridge games.

Mrs. Aylmore used quantities of garden flowers to make her home attractive as a rendezvous for the diners, and a lively session of bridge was enjoyed. Mrs. A. G. Flagg and Joseph Warner were fortunate in securing, and were awarded the prizes selected by the hosts.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Aylmore, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Dr. and Mrs. Claude Olewiler, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Allen and Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Kilbourne.

The hostess had arranged an attractive setting of zinnias in a variety of colors, and the tallies and score pads carried out an intriguing futuristic motif. Mrs. G. F. Ludlow held high score, while Mrs. W. Roy Waldren was consoled. A delectable refreshment course concluded the pleasant evening.

Those present, other than the hostess, Mrs. John Turton, were Mesdames G. F. Ludlow, Wilbur Getty, Everett Cornecl, Clifford Thatcher, Kenneth Stowe, James Board, W. Roy Waldren, Edward Ehlen, Ralph Mitchell, Elmer Snyder, and one guest, Mrs. Roy Gowdy.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Save Your Health and Be Happy

I admire intensely one who has the courage to live life intelligently, sanely, efficiently, and at the same time, pleasurably.

To do so one must have a well developed will power; no one admires the individual who blows hot, then cold, and is a proverbial fence sitter. To illustrate my statements allow me to quote from the letter of a woman who is now reaping the harvest of "sane and safe" diet habits. She says in part:

"I am now 65 and this summer have been able to paint my house ontside and inside, and do lots of work in the yard. I use no meat but take one and one-half pints of milk each day. The pint I drink for lunch with a big dish of fruit, the rest of the milk goes into a custard for dinner.

"I use a raw egg in the milk for lunch, and for breakfast I eat two slices of toast with a dash of jelly, and one boiled egg. For dinner I have a BIG plate of lettuce salad and some cooked vegetable other than potatoes.

"I use no potatoes and with so little bread have no symptoms of high blood pressure."

The law jails people who deliberately steal; what a pity there is no human law to punish the individual who steals his own health and thus destroys his life and his economic value to his country.

TODAY'S RECIPE

The Gardens of Spain
(A Luncheon Salad)

2 heads solid lettuce
1 can of pimiento
Orange fruit moulds
French and mayonnaise dressings
Cold sliced chicken breast

If home-cooked cold chicken is not at hand, don't forget that the choicest of chicken white meat is available at your grocer's, put up in glass containers of several sizes.

The jellied fruit moulds must be made several hours before the salad is needed. For six moulds take one-half envelope of orange jelly powder and for most of the liquid use the juice from the can of pineapple.

In the moulds put thin slices of orange, some seeded white grapes, and thin slivers of pineapple. And lemon juice to the jelly to suit your taste, fill up the moulds and chill till set.

At serving time arrange the choicest of the yellow heart lettuce leaves on plates. Put thin slices of chicken on the lettuce and garnish them strips of the pimiento. Pour French dressing over this part of the salad, then put the moulds of jellied fruit on top of the salad, garnish with whipped cream mayonnaise and serve immediately.

This good looking salad would be fine for a bridge luncheon, a supper party, or it would serve beautifully as the entree for a formal dinner party.

Each salad has a calory value of 365, half of which will be found in the salad dressings, distinct energy-making food.

The leaflet on cleaning upholstered furniture is available free of charge all this week if you will just send us a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Veal Kidney Stew with Polenta will be the lesson for tomorrow.

Santa Ana Girls Home From Summer Camp

Enthusiastic over the success of the Queen Esther summer camp which was held from August 2 to 11 at the Pacific Palisades, a number of local girls of the First M. E. church and the Richland Avenue M. E. church have returned to their homes here after attending the annual convention of the organization. The girls are the Misses Jeannette Lutes, Betty Heil, Dorothy Grizzle, Helen Wiesseman, Ruth Beemer, Margaret Guthrie, Isabel McCormac, Katherine Budd, Katherine Bement ,Caroline Cushing, Marguerite Lewis, Evelyn Fairley, and Irene Boyer.

Acting as conference queen of the camp was Miss Margaret Guthrie, of the First Methodist Circle, who was crowned at an impressive service held on August 3.

On of the most popular leaders present was Miss Katherine Maurer, "the Angel of Angel Island," whom the girls refer to as their inspiration. Miss Ethel Ristine headed the camp as dean, and was assisted by an exceptionally capable faculty. Others assisting with the programs were Geoffrey Morgan, Madame Ellen Beach Yaw, noted soprano, Mrs. Daniel Dundas, and Mrs. Fred C. Croyell of Glendale.

Girls of the First M. E. church are anticipating their year's program, which will begin September 22 when they will be guests of Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman.

'SONG OF MY HEART' BIG ENTERTAINMENT

John McCormack, greatest of all tenors, will sing his way right into your heart in his first all-talking picture, "Song of My Heart," which is now playing at the Fox West Coast theater. The picture opened there Monday and shows here through Friday night.

Hundreds of people in Santa Ana have been thrilled by the perfect record made of his great voice for the screen, while there are just as many more who have thrilled at the plot of the show which can not be said to be inferior to the singing itself.

McCormack sings 11 different songs in the film, and while that is more singing than is heard in most pictures being made today, McCormack wil never tire any audience with his singing. There are pictures where the action is stopped so that some singer can sing, but not in "Song of My Heart." The action goes on as ever, and the songs fit in as a part of the romance.

All in all, "Song of My Heart" is one of the greatest entertainments that has been brought to Santa Ana this year. It is a romance with McCormack playing the part of a lover who is forced to give his girl to another man.

A Fox Movietone news reel, together with an all-talking comedy and other short subjects also are shown.

Mrs. Stephen Inns has returned from a three months' visit in the east, most of which was spent visiting her mother, in Boston. She has resumed her duties at the First National bank here.

Mrs. H. M. Kitsman and Mrs. J. Minkey, mother and sister of Mrs. Tom Darling, both of Toledo, Ohio, are at the Darling home for a visit. Owing to the continued illness of Mrs. Darling who has now been bedfast for many months, their stay will be indefinite.

W. A. Hall, long connected with the Oil Well Supply company here and for the past several months employed in the Santa Fe Springs store, has now been transferred to Ventura where he will have charge of that branch.

"LET US BE GAY" STAR

Norma Shearer, famous Metro Goldwyn Mayer star, who opens Greater Talkie Season here tomorrow in her latest 1930-31 picture, "Let Us Be Gay." The picture is the first produced by M. G. M. this year and is said to give Miss Shearer the best opportunity she has had in pictures. The film will show at the theater Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

CYRIL MAUDE HERE IN FAMOUS 'GRUMPY'

Cyril Maude, famous stage star of international fame, comes to the Fox West Coast theater Saturday and Sunday in his first all-talking picture "Grumpy," a play in which he has appeared 1300 times on the stage.

"Grumpy" is a Paramount production and one of the biggest pictures that Paramount has made this year. It is really the first of the Greater Talkie Season shows to come to the Fox West Coast theater.

"Grumpy" is a comedy thriller. The story is novel and entertaining, hinged on the character of a lovable, grouchy old tyrant. The plot of the story concerns the stealing of a valuable diamond entrusted to the man whom Grumpy's granddaughter is in love with.

How Grumpy turns detective and routes out the thief, saving his daughter's lover and how he waxes from an old grouch to a lovable old man are the highlights of the production.

The picture is the kind of entertainment that will appeal to any kind of an audience. The kids will love him. They will laugh at him and they will make fun of him but they will love the character just the same. The grown ups will love his disposition and at the same time will recognize in him one of the greatest character actors they have ever seen.

'HALLELUJAH' FIRST ALL-NEGRO PICTURE

Vivid drama, haunting music and the quaint old traditions of the South all blend into what is probably the most daring and interesting venture in motion pictures in history—King Vidor's "Hallelujah," first all-Negro film drama in history, which closes tonight at Walker's State.

Filmed in original locales, in the cotton fields of the Mississippi, near Memphis, Tenn., and with the spirituals and haunting Negro "blues," chants heard along the levees and odd folk song, all genuinely of the race, embellishing the speaking sequences, the new picture is an intimate study of the people, aside from being a gripping human interest play.

FALL STYLE REVIEW TO DRAW CROWDS

A complete sell-out of the Broadway theater on Friday night is expected with the added attraction of the Santa Ana Sample Shop's annual Fall Style Review, which will be shown between the first and second shows at the theater.

Two score of guests, who are among the leading citizens of the city and county have been invited to attend the show and many of them will be introduced. Aside from the actual showing of some of the latest imported creations, several acts of vaudeville also have been scheduled for the show.

The styles will be shown by eight professional Hollywood models, the clothes being of the Fanchon and Marco mode, of which the Sample shop here is the exclusive dealers.

Fall coats, fall evening dresses, many of which are imported to the United States and a number of sport models are included in the showing of the new garments. Six changes are to be made by the various models.

On the screen will be seen the first showing of "Let Us Be Gay," with Norma Shearer. This picture opens Greater Talkie Season at the Fox Broadway theater and is said to be one of the greatest pictures of the year.

L. B. Valuation $3,346,045; Tax Rate Fixed At $1

11 STREET BIDS PRESENTED TO CITY COUNCIL

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 14.—The assessed valuation of property within the city limits of Laguna Beach is $3,346,045.

This is the figure used in the ordinance given two readings Wednesday evening by the city council in which the tax rate for the coming fiscal year is set at $1, the same as has been used in previous years.

Adoption of the resolution calling a city election on acceptance of the petition submitted by property owners asking that one be called tentatively sets the date for September 23, this allowing for publication of notices and other preliminaries. The amount asked is $20,000.

Eleven contractors submitted bids for the improvement of streets on the cliffs and in the Cody tract, with Gribble & Burke, Glendale, apparently lowest bidders, at approximately $140,000. One of the contractors later said that had bids been let two weeks earlier a lower figure estimated by him $10,000 less, could have been made, as materials are now advancing and are likely to continue to do so. The check of bids will be ready for report to the council next Wednesday.

Robert Mize, Santa Ana attorney, representing Howard G. Heisler, asked the council's opinion as to permitting use of Heisler point as a campground as now used. Councilmen McCrea, McMillan and Champion were opposed. Clapp believed that if the owner wished, tents should be allowed. Mize also drew attention to encroachments on city property by the camp ground, by the sanitary department and by a refreshment stand operated by J. Gibson. He thought the city should take steps to assert its right. City Engineer Frank Gowan was instructed to run lines to ascertain boundaries. A new lease is to be made with the Bank of Italy, Mr. Mize informed the council, this being the reason for obtaining an expression of sentiment from the council.

Root and All—Out to Stay!

Two tablespoonfuls of that amazing refreshing and foot invigorating Radox to one gallon of water makes a footbath which after 3 or 4 night's soaking lifts out aching, maddening corns, callouses, too—root and all.

Radox softens the hard outer layers of corn—and oxygen which Radox liberates, enters the pores, each night penetrating further and further, carrying the salts right to root of corn which can be lifted out bodily.

Wonderful to take out pain and burning and refresh tired feet!

Members of the San Francisco symphony will comprise a quintet, with Hill at the piano. He will be heard over the radio at Oakland.

John Fate appeared in a cornet number with Hill as accompanist and later gave a number of bugle calls. The musical entertainment was arranged by J. C. Herbsman, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The club voted to stage a son's night at a future date. Ed Bartlett was named chairman. Herbsman and Russell Tyree will assist him in arranging the program.

Earl Moore announced his write in candidavy for constable of San Juan township and made a short speech. Dr. Lape stated he had had the beach cleaned and would see that it was put in shape each week. Danny Henon, chairman of the dance committee, stated that the band benefit dance fund was now $95.

Victim of Crash Leaves Hospital

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 14. — Marion Pelke, 21, of Chicago, who was seriously injured in an auto crash at Galavan, three miles north of San Juan Capistrano, last Sunday, was discharged from the San Clemente hospital yesterday by Dr. Garnet B. Grant. Miss Pelke was severely cut about the face and plastic surgery was resorted to. Dr. Grant reports that the operation was successful and that the girl will suffer no ill effects or scars from her wounds.

Walter McEvilly, 62, of 2438 Grand avenue, Huntington Beach, driver of the car which went into the ditch when he lost control of it, and Mrs. C. Pelke, 44, mother of the injured girl, were but slightly hurt in the cash and left the hospital on Sunday after being treated by Dr. Grant.

NEW QUARTERS FOR EMPLOYES OF BEACH CITY

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 14.—That the city's business is too scattered and should be concentrated was the opinon expressed by Councilman McMillan at the council session last night. He moved that the building used by the police department be so remodeled as to permit placing offices for the city engineer, city treasurer, city clerk and building inspector in it. This was finally authorized without opposition.

When Councilman McCrea moved that City Engineer Gowan be made superintendent of streets, City Clerk G. W. Prior pointed out that A. J. Stead is now holding that position and to have another would result in confusion of titles. In the ensuing discussion it was discovered that to declare the position vacant might interfere with the legal requirements. Finally it was adjusted by placing Mr. Gowan in control of all employes engaged in street, sewer and park work, without giving him any particular title in that respect.

Possibility of delay in letting the contract for the work on streets on the cliffs was seen in the assertion by Mayor Bishop that there might be more work in the plans and specifications than is absolutely needed. The matter was laid over for a week for investigation pending the action in letting the contract.

FORESTRY WORK OUTLINED FOR ORANGE GROUP

ORANGE, Aug. 14. — Several speakers outlined the work being done along the lines of forest protection at a meeting of the Orange County Forest Protective association held in the American Legion clubhouse last night the meeting following dinner, served by the American Legion auxiliary.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A copy of the letter sent to postoffice and fire department and newspaper in Orange county by the Orange County Farm bureau July 2, was read.

Joe Sherman, state ranger for Orange county, reported 15 fires to date this year. He expressed appreciation for the co-operation he had received from ranchers, Orange county road department, farm bureau, Forest Protective association members and others.

H. S. Gilman, member of the state forestry board, from San Dimas, outlined the work of the state forestry board, pointing out the importance and relationship of forestry work to water conservation. The speaker said, "California has 20,000,000 acres of lands within the national forest with an additional 20,000,000 acres in virgin timber, cut over timber, brush covered water sheds and other areas under the jurisdiction of the State Forestry board, 5,000,000 of the last 20,000,000 is in Southern California. The crop from this total acres of 40,000,000 acres is timber and water with a by-product of recreation. The state of California owns very little timber land."

Mr. Gilman made a plea for the development of a state consciousness of the importance of creating a state owned timber area. The state forestry protective budget is approximately $280,000. It will need to be increased to $1,000,000 to provide adequate protection. It is hoped to accomplish this by 1935, Gilman said.

W. H. Coupe, state forestry inspector, was the next speaker. He expressed the belief that progress was being made in fire prevention. The trip through the Southland last fall of the state forestry board created a big change in the attitude of members of the board from northern California. Prior to this time, they had felt the brush covered hills to be of no value, but now realize their importance from a water shed and re-creational standpoint, Coupe declared.

Williard Smith, chairman of the board of supervisors, stated that the supervisors were conscious of the importance of fire protection work and were cooperating to the fullest extent with the state and the federal government.

Nelander, state forest ranger, of Riverside county, reported that their fire truck and pumper had cut down their burned acreage last year very materially and also reduced the cost of fire suppression. He reported instances where the truck and pumper had made it possible to save buildings, stacks of hay and other property when they were in direct contact with fires.

W. M. Cory, acting farm advisor, pointed out that if trucks were secured for Orange county, it would be necessary to secure places throughout Orange county where water could be obtained when needed.

H. R. Valentine, federal ranger for Cleveland National forest, spoke on the new regulations controlling hunting within the boundaries of the national forest and the game reserve within the boundaries of the Cleveland National forest, pointing out that under the change in this law it is unlawful to possess firearms or hunt on federal land or private land located within the boundaries of this game reserve. Inasmuch as this area was a dangerous and very hazardous from a fire standpoint it would be necessary for the federal service to enforce this regulation to the letter, Valentine said.

The association, while taking no action on Valentine's statements, expressed unanimous approval of his deteminations to enforce this hunting question.

Roy Bishop, past president of the Orange County Farm bureau, was introduced and pointed out that there were 35 licensed power supply outfits in this county that could be called upon in case of emergency.

K. P. Carter, member of the Los Angeles County Forestry department, reported 86 fires in Los Angeles county to date. Facts presented were: There were 36 fires during the month of June. The largest one burned about 200 acres. Truck and pumper equipment were used in 21 fires. These are 600-gallon tank trucks, carrying tools and equipment. It is hard to estimate the number of buildings and value of property saved already this year by this truck equipment.

R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the farm bureau, reported on water activities of the farm bureau and the trend of water legislation in adjoining states.

Many others present spoke briefly of various subpects. The question of trying to secure truck and tank equipment for Orange county came in for considerable discussion. The committee authorized at the last meeting was appointed by President Ragan as follows: Frank Collins, chairman, John Osterman, Mr. Luce.

ORANGE FIREMEN'S CANINE LIKES TO CHASE DOLLARS

ORANGE, Aug. 14.—Pal, the canine mascot of the Orange firemen, is a "dollar chaser," in the most literal sense, for the clever little dog readily distinguishes a dollar from a half dollar and considers smaller coins beneath his notice.

William Vickers, truck driver, is responsible for the training the dog has received. When Vickers rolls a dollar down the sidewalk, at the first clink of the coin, Pal is in pursuit and even if the dollar has rolled in the grass at the edge of the walk, he does not give up his search until he has found it.

After Pal has been chasing dollars it is difficult for him to consider finding a half dollar, and he watches it disdainfully as it rolls away from him. However, if Vickers assures Pal that no more dollars are forthcoming, he reluctantly goes after the half dollar and brings it to the fireman. Smaller coins than this Pal likes to ignore and unless forced to do so, will not bring them back if they are rolled down the walk.

Pal knows a number of other tricks and will flip a coin from his nose at any count Vickers designates. If Vickers says "Stop when I reach two," up goes the coin, and the process is repeated when any other number is designated and the fireman begins counting.

Pal's mother was an Australian shepherd and he is the lovely light brown of this breed of dog. From his terrier father he inherits his small size and his quick darting movements.

The former mascot of the fire department was "Jiggs", a chinaeyed bull dog, whose ability to roll over and over on command Pal also imitates.

3 COMPLAINTS ON TAX RATES BEFORE BOARD

ORANGE, Aug. 14.—But three complaints were received by the members of the city council sitting as a board of equalization at the city hall. Yesterday's session completed the board meetings as no further complaints were received.

The complaints filed were from George L. Bates, civil engineer and rancher of this city; Ralph Goddard and H. G. Lembcke. Bates presented a blanket request from a number of ranchers for a reduction in the rate used to determine assessed valuations of ranch property within the corporate limits of the city.

Bates asked that the county rate of 33 1-3 per cent be used instead of the 50-cent rate used in the assessments computed by Paul Clark, city assessor.

The request was taken under investigation and at a conference with County Assessor James Sleeper, the members of the board were informed that two rates in the city, one for ranch and one for business property, would be unconstitutional.

Ralph Goddard's request for an adjustment in his personal property assessment was granted. H. G. Lambcke told the board that he was being assessed for a three-foot strip of land which had been dedicated to the city when the street was paved. Lembcke was assured that a way to remedy his complaint would be worked out.

The city's tax assessment roll, a sum of $8,608,295, was adopted and will be used for setting the new tax rate Sept. 1.

COMPLETE WORK ON ORANGE FIRE TRUCK

ORANGE, Aug. 14.—The old fire truck at the fire department was returned yesterday fitted with new tires and otherwise renovated. The work on the truck, which is an American La France, was done in Los Angeles. The truck was bought by the city in 1920 and was sent to the factory to have the wheels cut down to fit pneumatic tires.

The piece of apparatus has a 1000-gallon pumping capacity per minute. A 60-gallon booster tank now replaces the old sodic acid tank and the truck is now in fine condition.

Water thrown from the pressure tank will not destroy anything with which it comes in contact as the acid formerly did, according to Fire Chief A. L. Tomblin.

The value of the annual harvest of fish along Alaska's 26,000 miles of seacoast is nearly $50,000,000.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

While looking up and down the street who should the Tinies chance to meet but one fine little fellow who was smiles from ear to ear. "Oh, look," cried Carpy, "that looks grand. He has some melon in his hand. I've eaten them at home. I didn't know they had them here."

"Why, sure they have and they're real good," replied the Travel Man. "You should just taste a piece and, by the way, I guess I'll buy 'bout two. We'll cut them up in slices and each hold a slice right in our hand. I know that two will be enough for everyone of you."

They found a fruit store right nearby and shortly heard the owner cry, "Fine melons! They are very cheap. Come, let me sell you some. I'll cut them up, all set to eat and you will find they are a treat." "You bet we want some," Clowny cried. "Start slicing. Here we come!"

Into the store they promptly went and all ate their hearts' content. The man then told them of a well that was not far away. Said he, "It's wonderful, we think, and there you all can get a drink. If there's a line-up waiting you can loaf around and play.

"We thank you," Scouty said and then the whole bunch went ahead and found the well. A group of men were standing at its side. The Travel Man said, "When they're through with drinking, that's what we will do." The Tinies found the water very cooling, when 'twas tried.

Some big oil cans stood by the well. A man was kind enough to tell the Tinies that folks used to use big crocks in days of old. "But now they use these cans," said he. "They're just as handy as can be. They're easier to carry and they keep the water cold."

Missing Letter Links

RULES:

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters can not be changed.

ART TREASURES OF CHINA ARE STILL INTACT

BY D. C. BESS
United Press Staff Correspondent

PEIPING, Aug. 14.—(UP)—The vast treasures of Chinese art objects in the Palace museums in Peiping are entirely intact and reports widely published that Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang carried away some of the most valuable pieces are false, according to the findings of a commission of Chinese and foreign experts who have been going over the lists of Palace museum possessions.

Competent Chinese connoisseurs served on the commission, and Dr. J. C. Ferguson, American student of Chinese language and art, acted as adviser. The commission found nothing of importance missing from the lists, which have been kept fairly complete, and pre-dated the departure of Marshal Feng from Peiping in 1926, when the alleged looting is said to have taken place.

The story, first printed in Chicago newspapers, and later appearing in English and American papers, described how Marshal Feng's subordinates had come at night to the entrance of the Forbidden City, where the museum treasures are kept, and that a long train of camels had been loaded heavily and had gone out toward Mongolia. "Eye witnesses" were quoted who had seen the camels loading objects carried from the museum enclosures.

Foreign correspondents attempted to verify this story, and one foreigner was found who said he had also seen the mysterious camel train, and that the museums had been looted. Although the story had been re-published at intervals ever since 1926, Marshal Feng or his American-educated assistants never have bothered to contradict it. So far as is known, Marshal Feng never has commented upon the story at all, and foreign correspondents hesitated to ask him outright if it were true.

It therefore has been believed generally that Marshal Feng had carried off some of the most valuable jades, porcelains, lacquers, Chinese paintings and embroideries from the museum, with the intention of selling them to support his armies. The investigations of the museum commission indicate that this belief has been entirely unjustified.

If the museum lists may be believed, and there seems no reason to disbelieve them, the palace treasures taken over from the Manchus when they abdicated hardly have been touched during the frequent sudden and unexpected changes of government in Peiping. The museum still retains its most precious pieces.

A large sum of money has been spent during the past few weeks in renovating the palace museums, of which there is a whole series, and in bringing out some of the interesting pieces hitherto kept in storage. The palace treasures are so abundant that there is not room, even in the dozens of display rooms to show them at once.

The most interesting of the new collections on view is that of the "favorite curios of the Emperor Chien-lung." This emperor, third of the Manchu rulers, was a distinguished patron of Chinese art, and established imperial factories making almost every kind of Chinese art and handicrafts. There are several hundred pieces in this little collection, covering porcelains, bronzes, lacquers, ivories and jades.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(UP)—After holding gains through most of the afternoon the stock market sold off just before the close following a wide open break in Canadian Pacific Railway which made a new low since 1927, below 166 for a loss of more than 10 points.

U. S. Steel which had led the market into higher ground, touching 160⅝ up 1⅝, broke below the previous close, and the whole market followed it after the drastic setback in the Canadian Pacific.

EYES ARE ON CALIFORNIA

The selection of Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, of West Virginia, at the head of the women's division of the Republican national committee, should be noted. Mrs. Yost is a member of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and is their national representative at Washington.

The appointment of a militant "dry" at the head of the women's division of the Republican National Committee is another evidence that the national administration is determined to organize from top to bottom for the support of the Constitution and the law, and let the world know it. This appointment comes from the National chairman of the Republican party, Senator S. D. Fess. Senator Fess is a "dry," and has been his entire life. As his right hand helper in directing the movements of the National Republican Committee, he selects one of the driest people in the nation.

It suggests that the issue is clearly drawn. It shows there is a seriousness on the part of those who are planning for the future which should be encouraging to every one who believes in the Eighteenth Amendment. It suggests also that the voters of California should so vote on the 26th of August as to sustain the president in his position, and to serve notice upon the country that California backs him up thoroughly in his position.

Should the mayor of San Francisco be selected as the standard bearer of the Republican party in California this year, it would be flashed over the wires, not that there had been a division in the prohibition forces which resulted in the "wet" slipping in, but it would be stated in every paper in the country outside of California that the Republican party had selected a liberal, a "wet" from the "wet" headquarters at San Francisco, thereby repudiating the President's law enforcement program and the President himself. It would be said that the people of California were joining with those of New Jersey in a proposal to put a "wet" plank in the Republican platform and present a "wet" man as a candidate to run on such a platform. We do not believe the people of California will vote to so help them out.

With an increasing number of students swimming the historic Hellespont each year, it won't be long now before they organize a creek-letter fraternity.

THREE RECORDS BROKEN

On the first page of the paper this morning there were three records that were broken. One was the endurance record aloft, being made by Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brine at St. Louis. These men had passed by 14 hours the record made by the Hunter brothers of Sparta, Illinois, at Chicago, last month. They are headed toward a greater goal. This endurance record primarily determines the character of the engine. With these records being made, confidence is gaining in the power and ability of the motor to perform the relatively easy task of passing over the wastes of water of the Atlantic or the Pacific.

Another record broken was that of looping the loop in an airplane. This was done by Miss Laura Ingalls, who rolled over 714 times, breaking the record held by Dale Jackson, who is one of the endurance flyers at St. Louis, by more than 297 loops.

The third record broken, which appeared on the first page of the paper is the time of the Coast-to-Coast flight. This time it has been reduced to 12 hours and 25 minutes and three seconds. The record broken was that of Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, who flew across the continent in 14 hours and 45 minutes.

All of these records were airplane records. It would appear that the possibilities with the airplane have not by any means been reached. We are prepered for any records now. The speed with which people can move from one point to another certainly is such that it will soon solve some of our problems of congestion in our great cities. The difficulty of landing airplanes in the center of congestion will also be solved soon.

THE HELICOPTER TESTED

Maitland Bleecker, inventor, the other day made a successful test of his helicopter. An outdoor test scheduled for several weeks ago was postponed when the motor developed an oil leak. After the leak was repaired, Mr. Bleecker became too impatient to await the outdoor test and tied a rope to the fuselage of the machine which would prevent it from crashing against the roof of the hangar and started his flight upward. The small plane rose high enough to insure success, at least in the vertical portion of the flight, when the outdoor tests are conducted.

The perfection of a means for rising and landing in a small space is exceedingly important. Airplanes can today cut down the time factor tremendously but there still remains the trip from the landing field to the centers of population. Until a practical landing space atop tall buildings is constructed or the heliocopter is proved practical, the airplane for short distance trips, such as commuting, will have its drawbacks.

Thousands of people are spending two hours a day journeying back and forth from their places of business to their homes, many spend even more in this way. If this expenditure of time could be cut down to half an hour a day by the use of airplanes it would mean the saving of some of the most precious time there is, either that spent with the family, or, for the man obsessed with business, that spent in the office.

MANY VISITORS

According to A. C. Fleury, supervisor officer of the state border quarantine stations, 109,073 autos entered California during the month of July. The number exceeds that of July 1929 by 17,528.

Of course some of these autos contained visiting Californians returning to their home state. But by a conservative estimate, two hundred thousand people probably visited in our state during July alone. Many of these people returned to their homes with a new ambition: to ultimately return to California either when their fortunes are made and they retire or when they can relieve themselves of their business affairs and transfer their substance to California. We don't need tourist bureaus to "sell" California. The state sells itself. It remains for us only to be polite and honest in our dealings with the stranger who visits here, and not spoil the sale.

In particular there should be a little more politeness on the road. Two different parties, who have arrived in California in the last year or two have spoken of the daze they were in when motoring about the first few weeks. Everyone was rushing, the road signs were difficult to read on the run, and being unfamiliar with the roads they had to read them all. Then when they would slow down the better to read a sign, some of those who went around them would yell at them contemptuously because the uncertain traveling of the stranger put them out a little. Sometimes people forget to conceal their annoyance with the stranger who is of necessity uncertain and slow. We would be just as he is in his section of the country.

Prohibition agents are instructed to use brains instead of force in their work hereafter. This will arouse resentment among detectives who are thought to have a monopoly on the method.

A CHICAGO JUDGE

A judge in Chicago has asked the police officers of that city to go out and round up the hoodlums, thugs and gangsters, and he says:

I'll show you that hoodlums can be thrown in a cell. These fellows will have a lot of lawyers. If necessary, I'll throw them in jail, too. You don't have to be afraid. They can't sue you. I will take the responsibility and if necessary lay my decisions in the lap of the Appellate Court and the Supreme courts.

We don't know just how the court plans to perform this service for Chicago, or how he can set himself up as a jury as well as a judge in the case of charges against these men. We believe in all of the institutions made for the purpose of bringing convictions, and at the same time safeguarding the person and property of the individual. If this judge has found some means of ridding Chicago, and hence other cities, of the gangster murderers, it will be worth observing.

A Musical L'Aiglon

Christian Science Monitor

The striking thing about the career of Siegfried Wagner is the courage and abnegation with which, when he realized that he was not destined to become a composer of his father's quality, he devoted himself to the propagation of Richard Wagner's great music dramas. Named after his father's favorite operatic hero, Siegfried Wagner started his musical career under the double handicap of two famous names. Richard advised his son to study architecture, Siegfried did so, but could not resist the urge to music. He composed thirteen operas and attained success as a conductor, especially of his father's works.

His principal achievement, however, was in establishing, as an aide to his mother, the Bayreuth festivals, and, above all, in restoring them to success after the ten-year interval of silence that began with the World war. In 1924 he visited the United States for a musical tour, and made enough money to justify him in reopening the festivals. Since then, by indefatigable labor, he has restored them to their early prestige. Thus his life, which might have been embittered by failure, was brought to achievement through service to the fame of the greater man who was his father.

N. E. A. Editorial

Add another tribute to the already glorious record of 17-year-old Dorothy Dell Goff of New Orleans, who was chosen "the world's most beautiful girl" at a recent Galveston beauty pageant; she's truthful.

For Dorothy—beautiful, but by no means dumb—candidly admits that washing dishes gives her a great big pain and cooking is something she despises. A more romantic and less straight-forward beauty contest winner would prate for hours over her alleged joys in puttering around the kitchen, as most of them have done in interviews.

It's the customary thing for newly-crowned feminine celebrities to pose as neat little home-makers, but when you come right down to it no girl likes to cook and wash dishes any better than a boy likes to carry out the furnace ashes or mow the lawn. Therefore, Dorothy is to be congratulated on having the courage to speak out.

Sure, there's a lot of romance in home making . . . but that doesn't include cooking in a hot kitchen . . . or mopping bathroom floors . . . or bathing a stock of dirty dishes almost as high as one's self after every meal.

If you don't believe it, just ask any housewife.

Oakland Tribune

It is going to be difficult to check up on the story of Li Ching Wan who announces, modestly, he is 253 year old. Way off in Man Chow, Li has heard of Agha Zaro, the presumptuous Kurd who boasts a mere 156 years, and Lo has spoken.

As an honorable man tells no fibs, and Li Ching Wan has been known for years as one of undoubted probity, there is no need, in his opinion, for supporting details. He makes the assertion and if there are any doubters, let them prove their points.

What Mr. Zaro—and the "Agha" means something like "mister"—will have to say concerning the claims of the Chinese ancient should prove interesting. And let Trader Horn come out and say he overlooked mentioning in his books that he was born in 1601. Until then Li Ching Wan gets the medal and it is considered impolite to remark of the coincidence that the first part of his name is "Li."

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE SUBSTITUTES

The thrushes have departed;
Their youth has had its fling
The robins, weary hearted,
Find no more time to sing,
The blue-birds briskly flutter
Beneath the August sky,
But not a note they utter
To cheer the passer-by.

But voices still are sounding
Throughout the summer day,
And music is abounding
Hard by and far away,
For in the fields and thickets
And down the country lanes
The locusts and the crickets
Are piping their refrains.

They never seem to weary
Or grow morose nor glum,
Their ditties, bright and cheery
Will sound till frost has come,
From wood to pasture winging,
From garden, dell and glade
By day and night they're singing
Their merry serenade.

Perhaps they are not gifted
But still it's good to hear,
Their chirping lays uplifted
In music far and near.
Far better minor trilling
But still, till comes the Fall
Far better minor thrilling

Up a Tree

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Nick Getty, 14, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., got the impression, from reading the papers, that everybody who amounted to anything entered some kind of an endurance contest. "Shipwreck" Kelly was the immediate inspiration. It seems that "Shipwreck," who had been sitting on flag poles in general all his life, decided to sojourn this summer on the breezy tip of a particular flag pole in Atlantic City.

We wonder that Nicky Getty did not take advantage of the unique opportunities offered by his home town. He might have established a new world's record for enduring exclamations of bridal couples on first seeing Niagara Falls.

But no; that would not do. With "Shipwreck" Kelly as his hero, Nick decided that he would show the world who could stay up a tree longest. Inadvertently, he chose a neighbor's tree. The good neighbor aided and abetted Nick's aerial ambition until the ground crews, and refueling teams, and contact men blocked the way to his garage. Then the neighbor instituted removal proceedings.

"Nick was saved from a forced landing," we read, "only by the ingenuity of his ground staff, who cut a limb from another tree, held it up for him to climb on to, and carried him triumphant to a new arboreal perch."

But how can little Nick hope to win the prize for staying up a tree, when whole industries have been competing for that prize for many years. The textile industry, for example, has been up a tree so long that few can remember when it last had its feet on the ground. It may yet establish a new world's record for profitless operations.

The contest is on. The leather industry is proving a keen rival. The farmers, too, are worthy contenders; more so than ever, now that Federal funds are providing them with new incentives to over produce.

How long will this go on? Will the contestants endure until they find forced landings in the bankruptcy courts? Probably not. We have an idea that some of them will decide, after a while, to leave such childish stunts to Nick Getty and his little playmates. In one industry after another, the competitors will get tired of seeing who can stay up a tree longest. When that time comes they will get together and find ways, no doubt, of keeping their feet on the ground.

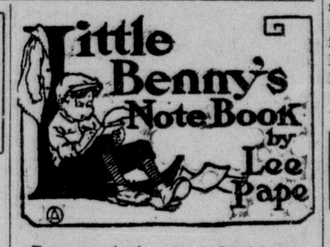
Little Benny's Note Book by Lee Pape



Pop was trying to make his new cigar lighter werk and ma sed, Willyum, everybody we know has been to the automobeel show and we havent.

Its a grate thing to be original in this standardized age, pop sed, Original nuthing, everybody is tawking about nuthing but the automobeel show and we're just out of the conversation like a cupple of strangers.

Anybody with a grain of imagination can tawk about motor cars, pop sed. The next time somebody mentions the bewtiful lines of such and such a car, just throw a little bluff and reel off a few tecknical terms, and youll leeve them gasping.

Yes no doubt, but where am I going to get the tecknical terms? ma sed.

Make them up, my deer, pop sed. And pritty soon the bell rang and it was Mr. and Mrs. Hews to play bridge, and ma took Mrs. Hews in her room to help take off her hat and pop and Mr. Hews started to tawk about different subjecks including the automobeel show. Mr. Hews saying, We've been 3 times so far, we're crazy about the new Dillberry Six, the body lines of that car are marvelliss.

Perhaps so, but I understand that the concussion driving rods are still of the old fashion overlapping variety, pop sed.

Well of corse, that going into it a little too deep for me, Mr. Hews sed, and pop sed, And not ony that, but the transmitting distribution of the Deezel gear shift has undeslung magnetoes, wich naturelly retards 2 out of every 3 sparks.

Youve got me there, I admit, Mr. Hews sed. And just then ma and Mrs. Hews came back and they all started to play bridge, pop laffing to himself every once in a while and saying he was ony cawffing.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

IF LUTHER COULD SPEAK

If the dead leaders of the past could communicate freely with their followers in the present, I think Martin Luther would want just now to write a letter to the Protestant Churches.

And here are some of the things I think he would have in mind as he wrote:

I think he would express delight over the critical cross-examination to which latter-day Protestantism is being subjected by its most courageous and creative leaders, and he would emphasize, I am sure, the imperative importance of investing this cross-examination with crystal honesty and of insuring it against diversion into blind alleys.

I think he would say that, looked at from the high plateau of the post-mortal world, the Protestantism he fathered seems to be suffering now the dual handicap of outer disintergration and inner distraction.

Protestantism's outer disintegration is due, I think he would say, to the fact that its desirable freedom had produced a dangerous factionalism. I feel sure that Luther would deplore the denominationalism that is so largely the galvanized corpse of dead issues, assuming generously that the issues that loosed the deluge of denominations were everliving issues.

Protestantism's inner distraction shows itself, I think he would observe, in the way its diverse and dissentient leaderships are seeking to lead it to divergent goals. I think Luther would remind Protestantism that it is becoming distressingly disheveled from being pulled and hauled about by so many competing counselors, and would suggest that it would pull itself together for the sacrament of choice between the various alternative goals its varied leaderships are urging.

And he would warn Protestantism, I think, that it cannot find integration of purpose and intensification of power either in a panic flight to the wistful surety of dogmatic Fundamentalism or in a perfunctory embrace of the dogmatic negations of Modernism. He would insist, I think, that Protestantism needs spiritual integration even more than it needs theological revision.

I think he would say that Protestantism, now that it has won the right of private judgment, must think about the rightness of the private judgment that has been won. The private judgment of a man blind to spiritual values is of no value in religion. I think he would counsel latter-day Protestants to defend the right of private judgment as valorously as he defended it, but I think he would say that the big problem now is to develop the richness and reach of private judgment they defend.

And I think he would say, "Don't cling to literally to everything I said when alive. Remember that I lived in a day of limited insights before science had thrown its searchlight into innumerable corners that were then impenetrably dark. Take what was sound in my protest and rethink and relive it in terms of the knowledge and conditions of your own day."

OUR CHILDREN

BROTHERLY LOVE

"We have two boys, eleven and thirteen. They are good boys; bright boys. Everybody speaks well of them but we are nearly beside ourselves because of their quarreling. They can't seem to understand that brothers should love each other."

Eleven and thirteen know little of brotherly love. Boys of this age are very primitive. They know only the strong desire to excel, to win over the other fellow. To fight like mad for what they want. Personal pride, personal ownership, personal power, is strong within them to the point of battle.

"That's mine. You leave it alone."

"Aw, can't I look at it?"

"No, you can't. Leave it alone, I tell you. If you don't let that alone, I'll give you a punch in the eye."

Such a passage at arms sends a thrill of horror down the mother's back. Brothers. And fighting like that. What is to be done with them?

Separate them. And very coolly. Send one off in one direction, the other in an opposite one. Give each something to do that will occupy his mind for some time. Keep them apart and busy. Brothers know nothing of brotherly love until they are adolescent—and sometimes it takes longer than that.

Plan things so that each brother has friends of his own. Family inbreeding in the sense of family isolation, is very bad for the children. They must have other associations than those of the home group. A family of children will quarrel desperately if kept together without the opportunity of making outside friendships.

Fathers and mothers make a mistake in thinking that they can cultivate family solidarity by holding the children together within the home and forcing them to keep apart from the other children and young people of the neighborhood.

It is better to widen the family associations as much as possible. Let each child have his own friends. Let them take turns in entertaining and expect some cooperation from the others in this matter.

Do not force one brother to give in always to the other. Each has his own rights; each his own duties. They will get along very much better in this in-between stage by this method. After they are adolescent they understand each other better and work and play and plan together in brotherly fashion.

Of course there are the rare children who never quarrel. And there are those, equally rare, who always quarrel. I should suspect that both cases needed a close scrutiny as to mental and physical health. Any physical defect is bound to have its reaction in poor mental health. Persistent quarreling with everybody is an indication of a rather serious situation. But the great group of normal healthy children quarrel among themselves as they grow up because it is in their nature to do so.

Separate them. Give them occupation. Permit them a wide association with other children and the trouble will soon pass.

ERNEST SETON'S BIRTH

On August 14, 1860, Ernest Thompson Seton, famous American artist, author and lecturer, and one of the originators of the Boy Scout movement in America, was born at South Shields, England.

Following his education at Toronto Collegiate Institute in London, Seton served as naturalist to the government at Manitoba. He soon became prominent through clever stories about animals, although such veteran naturalists as John Burroughs and experienced woodsmen criticized him for ascribing to animals mental and moral characteristics not evinced in real life.

As one of the founders of the Boy Scout movement in America, Seton later started the outdoor life organization known as the Woodcraft League. In 1904 the organization was introduced into England with the aid of General Baden-Powell.

Among his writings, largely illustrated by himself, are: "Wild Animals I Have Known," "The Trail of the Sandhill Stage," "Lives of The Hunted," and "Woodcraft and Indian Lore."

SUPREME COURT MEETS IN FOLSOM

FLY THROUGH HEAVY RAINS DURING DARK

THOUSANDS ON FIELD

Plane Keeps Within Gliding Distance of Field in Order to Set Record

LAMBERT ST. LOUIS FIELD, ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Their lost honors regained with the recovery of the world's endurance refueling flight record, Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brine added gold to glory with each passing hour aloft today.

At 3:11 p. m., C. S. T., the flyers had piloted their orange and yellow monoplane, the Greater St. Louis, through the air for 584 hours—31 hours longer than the previous record of 553 hours established by John and Kenneth Hunter in Chicago a month ago.

The first profit of the flight began when they broke the record when an oil company agreed to pay $100 an hour until the flyers had topped the previous record by 70 hours.

This is significant since it insures necessary capital to carry on the flight. At one time the flyers indicated that they might be forced to land because of lack of funds.

In celebration of their feat the ground crew staged a fireworks display last night. The flyers, 3500 feet above, aided in the celebration by dropping an occasional flare.

Congratulations began pouring into the refueling headquarters from many cities last night. The messages will be given to the fly-

REPORTED CAPTURE OF TALLMAN DENIED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—(UP)—Reports that William Tallman, wanted here for the murder of Mrs. Virginia Patty, was under arrest in Grand Rapids, Mich., were branded as a hoax today after police received denials from the eastern city.

Local authorities were advised by telegram that Tallman, formerly a radio operator, had been taken into custody in Grand Rapids while traveling with a carnival. The Michigan City police, however, said Tallman was not held and that there had been no carnival in the city.

Setting Fast Pace During Early Hours

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, August 14.—(UP)—The world's largest dirigible, R-100, sped before a stiff wind down the St. Lawrence valley today, setting a pace that held promise of a record-breaking flight across the Atlantic ocean on its retrun trip to Cardington, England.

..The big dirigible, with one of its six motors crippled,. raced over father point at 1 a.m. EST., making 60 knots before a 45-mile-per-hour wind and under favorable skies. At that time the ship had covered some 320 miles four hours and 30 minutes after it departed eastward from St. Hubert airport at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Its average speed of about 72 miles an hour indicated the R-100 would reach the Atlantic coast several hours before noon, depending on whether Commander R. B. B. Colmore followed his proposed route to Cape Breton.

When the R-100 reported itself 158 miles below Quebec at 1 a.m. it was about 440 miles from the open sea via Gaspe and Cape Breton.

Meterologists reported the prospects for the flight excellent with good weather and tail winds to speed the craft at least half way across the ocean. The ocean route which Commander Colmore planned to follow was roughly along the track of Canadian steamships on their eastward voyage.

LIPTON YACHT ARRIVES FOR FAMOUS RACE

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Lost from her convoy for days at a time on the storm-tossed Atlantic, beating up against adverse winds and riding out gales which would have taxed the sea-worthiness of far stauncher craft, the slender racing yacht Shamrock V, challenger for the America's cup, weathered a difficult 4200 mile voyage and today was laid alongside a Thames river pier and stripped of her now superfluous ocean-going gear.

To look at the graceful green challenger, one would never imagine that she had been nearly a month on an ocean voyage, save for salt flecks where the sea had poured over her narrow, neatly rimmed decks. Below decks, where her commander, Captain Ted Heard, her navigator, William Paul, and the crew of 20 lived during those difficult days, Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht, upon arrival at New London late yesterday, was as neat as the proverbial new pin.

Nor from the men who sailed her could any of the hardships, possibly peril, of her voyage from England, be adequately gleaned, for these weather-beaten monosyllable sailormen took it as all part of a day's work.

Colonel Duncan Neill, a veteran among distinguished British seamen, made the voyage in command of the three-masted power yacht, Erin, as Sir Thomas Lipton's personal representative. The Erin acted as a convoy for the Shamrock V.

Calvin Coolidge Says

By CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Aug. 14.—"The peace time services of the navy are very important. In exploration Admiral Peary was the first to reach the North pole while Admiral Byrd was the first to fly over both the North and South poles. They increased the sum of human knowledge.

In civil affairs, Admiral Bristol for years after the war was our high commissioner at Constantinople, winning great diplomatic distinction. The marine corps supplied General Russell to serve long in Haiti, and General Butler to go at a critical time to head the police at Philadelphia. The administration of certain insular possessions has been creditably discharged by the navy department. The naval observatory at Washington makes valuable contributions to pure and applied science.

But it is in time of great disaster like the Japanese earthquake or the San Francisco fire, that the ships, supplies and medical staff of the navy make most conspicuous contributions. Such a service is never forgotten. Only recently it was the basis of a good will visit here of a Japanese delegation. The organized talent and scientific skill of our navy is a great reserve power for good."

BILLINGS TO TELL STORY TO JURISTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—(UP)—Members of the California supreme court entered Folsom prison today where a session in the "retrial" of Warren K. Billings, convicted dynamiter, will be held.

The seven justices, now considering a pardon application for Billings, will hear the convict deny that he or Thomas J. Mooney had anything to do with the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing, July 22, 1916, in which 10 persons lost their lives.

Opening at 5 p. m. the prison hearing will climax a session of the court without precedent in the judicial history of California.

Today's session will be the first court meeting ever held in a prison in this state.

Before the justices enter Folsom all prisoners, except Billings, will be locked up. This is a precautionary measure as authorities do not wish a demonstration on the part of Folsom's convict population while the court is in session.

The eve of the prison hearing found friends of Billings in a joyful mood as they had just emerged from one of the most successful days for the defense since the pardon consideration review opened on July 29.

Significant developments in yesterday's session were:

1.—Declaration by W. L. Claiborne, Oakland attorney, that John Crowley, trial witness against Billings, did not see Billings at the scene of the dynamiting, as he testified, as he was working under an automobile half a block away at the time.

2.—A charge by Maxwell McNutt, original defense attorney for Billings and Mooney in 1916 and 1917, that Martin Swanson, Pacific Gas and Electric company detective, caused the arrest of Billings and Mooney with the idea of "identifying them as the dynamiters later."

3.—Injection into the hearing records of a theory by McNutt that "an insane man planted the bomb and that Mooney and Billings, being sane, could not possibly have been responsible for the crime.

Claiborne said that he owned a part interest in a garage half a block from Stewart and Market streets and that Crowley was working under a car in the garage for 45 minutes previous to and for 10 minutes after the bombing.

Under cross examination, Claiborne said he attempted to tell police of Crowley's alleged perjury but that no one would listen to him and that he did not go to prosecutors with the story because he desired to remain out of the controversy.

MINE CREWS HOPE TO RESCUE 46 MEN

Directors of the rescue efforts held strong hope of removing the 46 men alive.

Forty-nine were trapped when the explosion wrecked the mine. One miner was rescued alive. Bodies of two others have been recovered.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 14.—(UP)—A summer sun in whose existence inhabitants had almost ceased to believe came out today to put at least a temporary end to cloudbursts which for three solid days flooded the state.

As highways and carpenter crews began the labor of rehabilitation, damage was tentatively estimated at $1,200,000.

One town was under two feet of water, miles of rail and highway have been destroyed, bridges have been washed away and crop damage was heavy.

46 MINERS ARE TRAPPED UNDER TONS OF EARTH

PRINCETON, B. C., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Tons of debris today hid the fate of 46 miners who were trapped hundreds of feet underground last night when a terrific gas explosion wrecked the No. 4 mine of the Coalmont collieries at Blakeburn, near here.

There was no communication with the entombed miners and their rescue, if indeed they were not killed by the explosion, hinged on whether the shaft could be opened in 24 or 36 hours.

Trained teams of rescuers who were rushed to the mine from Princeton and Merritt to work under the direction of George Murray, manager of the mine, and John Biggs, mine inspector, worked their way into the main shaft of the mine 300 feet below the surface and there found the walls and roof entirely collasped. The bodies of two miners have been recovered. A third miner, brought to the surface in an unconscious state, is expected to live.

The debris, however, completely blocked further passage and its removal will be a slow and tedious process. Whether it will take a day or a week none of the rescuers would estimate. It is not known how far into the shaft the roof is wrecked. The rescue crews were hampered considerably by the presence of the gas which caused the explosion and fire hoses through which air was pumped were sent into the tunnel to clear the atmosphere.

If the debris can be cleared within a reasonable time it is believed

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(UP)—Capt. Frank M. Hawks, who in 20 months has cut the flying time between the Pacific and Atlantic almost in half, again held the transcontinental speed record today.

Racing eastward from Los Angeles in the swiftest and most brilliant long distance flight this country has seen, Hawks clipped two hours yesterday from the mark set by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and regained the laurels which that famous air idol has taken from him.

His time for the transcontinental dash was 12 hours and 25 minutes, although only 11 hours and 40 minuets of that period was spent in the air. The captain was clocked in at Curtiss field, Valley Stream,

THREE KILLED AS CYCLONE HITS TOWN

NAPLES, Italy, Aug. 14.—(UP)—Three persons were killed, six were dying, 20 were seriously injured and 50 slightly hurt in a cyclone that struck the produce market of Poggioreale, on the outskirts of Naples early today. The Duchess of Aosta visited the injured in various hospitals.

The cyclone struck the eastern section of the city with extreme suddenness. The sheds of the produce market, always crowded in the morning, held a larger crowd than usual when pedestrians sought shelter from a heavy rain which preceded the storm. Other sections of the city escaped damage.

An 11-year-old boy, Mauro Borriello, from the nearby town of Ponticelli, was among the dead.

Farmer Kills Two Found In Potato Field

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 14.—(UP)—An unemployed father and his young son, trying to steal potatoes for a hungry family of six children, were shot and killed today by the farmer who owns the potato patch.

The victims are Elmer G. Tilton and his son, Louis.

Coy said the shooting climaxed a series of raids on the patch.

Mrs. Tilton told police her husband and son had been out of work for months. There are six other children in the family besides Louis, she said.

MISSIONARIES FROM U. S. ARE SAFE IN CHINA

HONG KONG, Aug. 14.—(UP)—After a march of eleven days through rain and heat over the mountains of the bandit infested Kiangsi country, a party of American Catholic missionaries from Kanchow reached Shiuchow and Kwangtung Sunday.

General Lu Kiangsi, governor of Kanchow, ordered the evacuation of foreigners when invasion by roving communists was threatened. The governor was unable to guarantee safety in the city.

On July 30, when the rebel forces were only ten miles from Kanchow, Bishop John A. O'Shea ordered the evacuation of the missionaries, without a military escort they started on their long journey through a dangerous country. The party suf-

THREE KILLED AS GANGSTERS IN MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, MINN., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Three gangsters were assassinated last night by rivals along a lonely road near the Wildwood amusement park.

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Aug. 14.—(UP)—The coast guard cutter Algonquin neared the end of a mercy mission today as it rapidly approached the yawl Contender, reported becalmed and running short of fuel 400 miles off San Pedro.

The Algonquin sent a radio to headquarters here that it expected to reach the Contender by noon to transfer food and gasoline.

Horne sent a message that the Contender faced a difficult time in making port and asked for help.

GIRL DRAGGED FROM CAR BY NEGROES

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 14.—(UP)—Milton Rogers, of Angier, reported to Raleigh police today that Vila Evans of Elizabeth, with whom he was riding in an automobile, was dragged from the car by three Negroes and carried off shortly before 1 a. m. A posse was organized at once to search for the missing girl.

He had met the girl only last night, Rogers said. After driving around Raleigh for a while, he decided to take her home at Elizabeth. While en route the kidnaping occurred, he said.

At dawn posses under the direction of Deputy Sheriff Clyde Whitaker began searching the woods surrounding Garner, N. C., where Rogers said the kidnaping occurred. Fear was expressed she might have been murdered.

The typhoon reached a speed of about 127 miles an hour, the dispatch said, causing widespread damage especially in coal mines.

Swing Presents Hoover Pen At Veterans' Meeting

DINNER STAGED BY D. A. V. TO HONOR MURPHY

William J. Murphy, Santa Ana's national commander of the Disabled Veterans of the World War last year, was officially welcomed home last night, when members of the Jack Fisher post of the D. A. V. organization met at the Legion hall, and Murphy was presented with the pen which President Herbert Hoover used to sign the disabled veterans' bill of July 3, which aids sick and disabled ex-service men of the World War.

There were 175 ex-service men and their friends present at the meeting, and the pen was presented by Congressman Phil D. Swing, who, in a short talk, highly praised Murphy for his untiring efforts on behalf of the disabled veterans and who stated that when the bill came up in the house of representatives Murphy was cheered to the echo.

A touch of sadness was seen in the meeting when Ashman Brown, of the Sawtelle chapter of the Disabled Veterans, presented Murphy with a cane, made by an ex-service man who since has died. The cane is a handsome piece of workmanship, made by the disabled man while he was a patient in the soldier's home at Tucson, Ariz., and is made of Arizona cactus and copper.

Murphy visited the man on one occasion while he was national commander and stopped at his bedside for a chat. The man never forgot. He made the cane for Murphy and asked that it be given to him.

Another speaker last night was Major Dave Borden, regional manager for the U. S. Veterans bureau, of Los Angeles, who talked on the new law, which Murphy's administration saw completed and passed. He told of the benefits that would be derived under the new law and the effect it would have for the betterment of conditions of ex-service men in Southern California. He stated that last year there were more than 12,000 claims made to the Los Angeles office alone.

It also was brought out that under the new bill just passed, all ex-service men could be benefited, not only those whose illness was the result of the war. It will affect all veterans who become sick in the future as well, he reported.

Among other visitors at the meeting last night were Volney Mooney, national judge advocate of the Disabled American Veterans organization, and Earl Penney, national executive committeeman for the organization from this district.

Entertainment for the evening was furnished through the courtesy of the Visel studio and the following young artists, in charge of Mrs. Paula Ehlen, were on the program: Miss Hazel Stukey, Miss Richards, Miss Bertha French and Miss Eva Ramsey.

Panfielo Corona Found Not Guilty

Panfielo Corona, who went on trial before a jury in the court of Judge James L. Allen yesterday on a charge of possession of marijuana, or Indian hemp, was found not guilty when the verdict was returned shortly after three o'clock yesterday afternoon. Two members of the state narcotic squad testified at the trial, as well as a chemist of the state board of pharmacy. The jury retired to consider its verdict at 11:57 a. m. and returned to the court room at 3:03 p. m.

THREE KILLED AS GANGSTERS IN MINNESOTA

on reports that George (Bugs) Moran, Chicago rival of the Capones, who has moved into Minnesota, had established headquarters there.

Coleman's body was found near the parked automobile with its burning headlights which attracted the attention of General Rhinow and his operatives as they cruised along the back highways. A loaded revolver was found by his side. Investigators said apparently he was too slow for his rivals on the draw of his gun.

Myers was unconscious when his body was found. He was rushed to St. John's hospital here where he died.

Police believed there might be a fourth victim because three hats were found in the car and Stein wore a hat. Investigation under General Rhinow and Sheriff T. H. Maher of Washington county, began a wide search of the surrounding countryside.

First reports suggested the possibility that George (Bugs) Moran might have been a victim were unconfirmed when police checked the bodies with descriptions that were forwarded from Chicago.

Moran was known to be visiting in the northwest but he was reported to be vacationing north of the Twin cities, near Brainerd in the heart of the northwest woodlands summer vacation district.

Stein was shot from the back, probably as he attempted to escape from the killers in the underbrush near the roadside. The bullet entered near his ear and came out through his eye.

LEGION IS TO HONOR FORMER POST LEADERS

A dinner meeting of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion hall on Birch street at 6:30 p. m. today, will honor past commanders of the post. An unusual program for the event has been arranged including eight acts of vaudeville, according to Ed Kolbe, post adjutant, and a large crowd is expected in attendance. Candidates for office have been invited to be guests of the Legion at this meeting and will be introduced to the Legionnaires.

Vice-Commander Hunter Leach will preside at the dinner and Past Commander Franklin West will have charge at a short business session of the post. Plans call for adjournment of the meeting prior to the introduction of the political aspirants, who will be introduced by former Judge F. C. Drumm.

The vaudeville is to be provided through the courtesy of Norman Sprowl, Santa Ana manager of the Fox treaters, and includes several fine numbers. The dinner is to be served by the Legion auxiliary.

Past commanders of the post who are to be honor guests are Dr. John Wehrly, Col. M. B. Wellington, Maurice Enderle, Franklin Grouard, Ed McFadden, Judge G. K. Scovel, Wilbur Getty, Jules Markel, Charles Van Wyk and Franklin G. West. Otto Jacobs, post commander, is in Sacramento making preparations for the care of the Santa Ana delegation to the state convention, which opens next Monday.

Jury Unable To Reach Decision In Assault Case

After trying vainly to reach a verdict since 9:58 a. m. yesterday the jury which heard the evidence in the trial of Rafael Lopez, charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, was discharged by Judge James L. Allen at 12:56 a. m. today. The case was re-set for trial on August 28.

Lopez admitted the shooting with which he was charged, during the course of the trial, but declared it was in self defense and happened after Ignacio Savala, had drawn a knife and attempted to stab him.

Asks Damages for Death of Husband

An outgrowth of the death of P. R. Rollins, who received fatal injuries when he was struck by an automobile on July 9, was a damage suit filed by the widow in superior court today against W. J. Williams, driver of the car.

Mrs. Rollins is asking for judgment of $10,555, for the death of her husband, declaring that through the loss of the support of her husband, on whom she was entirely dependent, she was damaged to the extent of $10,000. She also asks $555 for funeral expenses and medical services necessitated by the accident.

Swing Speaks Before Lions Club Group

According to Phil Swing, representative in congress for this district, personal correspondence of a congressman covers every topic in the world and being in office is much like taking a correspondence course in college work. Swing divulged this information at the Lions club this noon at St. Ann's Inn, where he forgot politics and discussed the topics of his personal mail.

The quick humor so characteristic of Swing was used to advantage in reading and displaying the many letters. One man wanted to do ayay with the Boulder dam and pipe water from the Columbia river in a rubber pipe along the ocean floor.

Wayne Goble was program chairman for the meeting. Miss Georgia Belle Walton played two violin solos, accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong. Her first number was "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak-Kreisler. Mrs. Ruth Speers sang two solos, also being accompanied by Miss Armstrong. Her first number was "A Blushing Rose."

that there may be a chance that some of the miners may be found alive. There are some 6,000 feet of old workings in the mine and if the miners are in the clear works behind the portion which collasped, the air contained in the old works may be sufficient to support them for a day or two.

Rescuers said, however, that it almost unbelievable that at least least some of them were not killed by the explosion.

DAIRY BARN NEAR SANTA ANA BURNED

Owing to the efforts of a pumper crew from the Santa Ana fire department, considerable property damage at the dairy of L. E. Platt was averted yesterday afternoon when a barn and about 25 tons of hay were burned in a fire which is thought to have originated from spontaneous combustion.

The fire broke out at about 3 o'clock and the barn valued at $3000, was burned to the ground. The structure contained 75 tons of hay, about 50 tons of the amount being saved by the Santa Ana firemen who arrived on the scene with a pumper.

Another barn containing more than 100 tons of hay, and the Platt ranch house, were threatened by the blaze, but were saved from any damage.

About one-half of the grain stored in the burning building also was saved. The grain was valued at about $350.

SUGAR BEET PLANT BEGINS OPERATION

Over 1000 tons of sugar beets already have been refined into sugar since yesterday morning, when the Holly Sugar corporation started operations at its Dyer road plant. During the 100 day season, 100,000 tons of sugar beets will be handled, which will make about 325,000 bags.

The monthly payroll approximates $30,000, officials stated today. It will be paid to 250 men who work on day and night shifts. The beets are shipped and trucked here from all parts of Orange county and the south end of Los Angeles county.

Growers in Porto Rico have developed lemons nearly as large as grape fruit and sweet enough to be eaten without sugar.

You'd be surprised what a little bit it takes to keep some people busy. Why the smallest wrist watch gets just as much attention as a city clock would get in this shop. I guarantee them, too!

The flyers are hovering within gliding distance of the field to prevent endangering their record. The National Aeronautic association contest rules requires flyers to land at the point of takeoff for official recognition.

In a note O'Brine said: "I think we will be up until next year if the weather and everything holds out. We are not getting far from the field so we can set the plane down, drop it or throw it down—just so we get down."

It was estimated that the six-cylinder Curtiss challenger engine has made more than 44,000,000 revolutions and the plane has covered a distance of approximately 40,000 miles.

L. I., at 6:41:30 p. m., E.D.T., last night.

220 Miles Hourly

A dazzling pace of 220 miles an hour was set for the 2510 miles traversed in yesterday's flight.

"I don't think it can be done any faster," Hawks said after he had set his plane down at Roosevelt field. "In the fall, in exceptionally advantageous weather, it is just possible that the time I made today can be bettered."

"I am certainly glad to hear it," Lindbergh said. "I think it is a fine thing that he brought the record down. I'll offer my congratulations to Captain Hawks at the very first opportunity."

Hawks was boyishly happy over the accomplishment. He munched on lettuce and nut sandwiches his mother had made for him in Los Angeles at the national air races.

An enthusiastic crowd was on hand to greet him when he landed at Valley Stream. The long ride did not exhaust him, although he was stiff after being cooped up in the cockpit more than 12 hours. He had remained in the ship at the three refueling points.

A year and eight months ago, when Hawks began his assaults on the cross country speed records, the fastest westward time had been made by the late Captain C. B. D. Collyer. It was 24 hours and 15 minutes.

Twice before today Capt. Hawks has held the eastward record. Once re geat his own time. He is the only man who has made the transcontinental trip in a glider and hopes that eventually a "09.6 Express" of the air can be established as a result of his swift plane plights. This service would be for carrying securities and other valuables across the continent, the planes working in relays.

DAMAGE TRIAL IS UNDER WAY TODAY

The damage case of Margaret I. Hood against the Croxen Trucking company, et al., in which the plaintiff asked $600 for destruction of her car in a collision in Fullerton last April, got under way today before Judge James L. Allen. The plaintiff declared that her car, which was being operated at the time of the accident by Blanche Ritchie, was struck by a truck and trailer operated by Glen Francon, an employee of the trucking company.

The complaint states that the plaintiff's car was pushed for a distance of 110 feet by the heavily loaded truck, over a curb, across a sidewalk and through the wall of a brick building.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

If you had no faith you could not believe in your own capacity to reason. Since you give credence to your own power to reason, you must postulate a first-cause as the source of that capacity. Having faith in your power to reason, you believe in God.

The nature and being of God were revealed in Jesus Christ, and you know that love underlies all that He permits to happen.

When the end of the day has come, you will know that He has given you the power to so consecrate the hardest hours that they have brought supreme blessings.

Go on in faith to the hour when you are reunited with your best beloved in Paradise.

RETURNS WILL EXCEED TOTAL FOR LAST YEAR

Checks to complete payments on receipts of $251,023.08 for the first Valencia orange pool will be mailed this week to growers affiliated with the Garden Grove Mutual Orange association, it is said today by W. B. Merchant, manager.

This will bring receipts of the local M. O. D. house up to $283,920 for the season so far, as the navel pool, completed last February, returned $32,896.81.

The Garden Grove house is now at work on the second Valencia pool, and prospects are that the house will ship during the entire season 225 carloads of fruit, Merchant said. Returns on these shipments will be greater by nearly $150,000, however, than returns for 415 carloads shipped by the house last year, Merchant estimates.

"We are now at work on the second pool of Valencias," he said, "and have been shipping in it since July 1. In all, this year, we expect to ship 225 carloads of fruit, both navels and Valencias. This comes from a net gain, to date, of about 200 more acres than were in the association last year. And, with receipts so far, and with the price prospect good for the balance of the season, this association will receive conservatively $550,000 for its fruit in this season.

"Our shipments last year were 415 carloads, our receipts, $402,000. Thus, in the present year we will have received $148,000 more for 190 carloads less fruit."

Greater Talkie Season in Santa Ana was off to a flying start today following the giant street breakfast sponsored by the Santa Ana Breakfast club this morning in front of the Fox-West Coast theater between Third and Fourth streets on Main street.

Over 200 people, including Breakfast club members, political candidates and citizens ate their "ham and eggs" at the six long tables, while hundreds of bystanders crowded the sidewalks. The police department roped off the entire block for the occasion. The entertainment was obtained through Norman Sprowl, manager of the Fox theaters in Santa Ana, and consisted of Fanchon and Marco acts, augmented by several Santa Ana performers. The Fanchon and Marco orchestra provided music for the meeting.

President Z. H. McKinney opened the festivities by introducing many of the noted guests, while O. A. Haley, temporary fine collector, waited upon each notable for a small offering. Among those introduced were J. P. Baumgartner, Dave Wettlin, Sam Collins, Sam Jernigan, Lew Wallace, Vern Speich, Earl Abbey, Charles D. Brown, Bill Sylvester, Ralph McFadden, Harry Westover, R. L. Bisby, T. E. Stephenson, J. C. Lamb and W. T. Lambert.

The principal guest, however, was Congressman Phil D. Swing, who gave a short talk complimenting the Breakfast club and the Fox theaters on the successful breakfast. He humorously suggested that perhaps he had been asked to usher in Greater Talkie Season because the reputation of Congress for eloquence had penetrated to Santa Ana. "There is no place today where the camera does not record pictures and sound," Swing stated.

Norman Sprowl was master of ceremonies and added a lively touch with his rapid-fire comedy and unique introductions for the acts. Miller and Tate, slapstick clowns, presented two skits, one featuring Scotch jokes and the other, a take-off on William Tell and the apple, with the apple finally being eaten by both.

The Wrangler Four won an ovation by singing several character songs. Dressed in picturesque cowboy costume, the singers responded to encores and ended with the bass assuming the part of a bass viol while his partner wielded a walking stick for a bow.

Spectacular and skillful was the performance of Paul Gordon, unicyclist. Starting out with a little foot-propelled wagon, Gordon rode one unicycle after another, finally mounting one 10 feet tall. These vehicles, like a bicycle but with only one wheel, presented no difficulty to the rider, who went backwards and forwards, stood on his hands on the handlebars, played a clarinet while balancing high in the air, spun around in circles and did other hair-raising stunts.

June and Glenn Mathews, 10-year old twins from San Diego, won favor from the audience with two duets, "Get Out and Get Under the Moon" and "Happy Days are Here Again," and for a perfect dance. They were accompanied at the piano by their mother.

The Four Bellthazers, seasoned acrobats from the sawdust rings, offered some spectacular exhibitions, including difficult formations, pyramids, flying leaps and other varied acts in their repertoire.

Isadore Fields, exercise leader of the Breakfast club, led the group in several parts of the "daily dozen" before the meal and led the Breakfast club songs. Much praise was given the combined staffs of the Fox Broadway and West Coast theaters, who acted as property men, for their efficient work. The speed with which the platform was removed for one of the acts was said to excel that of seasoned circus prop men.

The Green Cat confectionery at Third and Main streets, prepared the food for the occasion and handled the serving faustlessly.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Aug. 14.—Mrs. W. H. Taylor went Monday to Los Angeles, remaining over until Wednesday as the guest of a friend, Mrs. Eva Miller.

Mrs. J. E. Miller came Monday to spend a few days with Mr. Miller at their local service station and was accompanied by a friend, Mrs. Wilcox, who is also of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Brown and family, of Tustin, were evening supper guests in the home of Mr. Brown's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. P. Heil, and were accompanied home that evening by Chester Heil who is spending several days with them.

Directors of the Midway City Chamber of Commerce held a meeting Tuesday evening at the Community building, transacting regular business. The smoker which has been talked of for some time for men of the community as part of a membership drive will not be held for a month yet, it was decided at the meeting, on account of this being a general vacation time and so many people away.

Sterling Price, president of the Zenith Aircraft corporation, and Mrs. Price and family were at Eddie Martin's airport when the "Tom Thumb" women's derby of 224 miles was in progress, the flyers stopping at that port on their route.

TWO NAMED ON NEWPORT BAY IMPROVEMENTS

NEWPORT-BALBOA, Aug. 14.—Frank L. Smith and J. B. McNally have been named as representatives of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce on a proposed committee which may decide one of the next big steps in the development of Newport harbor, namely, providing more anchorage and further facilities inside the bay.

Smith and McNally were named today by Dr. F. C. Ferry, president of the chamber, to act on the proposed committee, following a meeting of chamber directors Tuesday night, when this course was decided on. The chamber is sending a letter to the city council, asking that body to name two of its members and City Engineer R. L. Patterson and Harbor Master M. S. Robinson on the committee.

Harbor leaders, boatmen and others agree that the $200,000 improvement recently completed by the city at the harbor entrance has been successful and one of the most important steps yet taken in developing the harbor. It has provided a channel 250 feet wide and 15 feet deep at low tide, bringing dozens of boat owners here for good.

So many boat owners and boats have already come, in fact, that the present facilities were taxed during regatta week and must be enlarged and improved. It is to make a survey and recommend what can be done along this line that the chamber of commerce suggests the proposed joint committee.

Smith is a director and former president of the chamber, and a marine hardware man in close touch with harbor affairs, while McNally is owner and operator of the McNally line of pleasure fishing boats, the recently completed palatial Dundee, and the Daisy, Dandy and Dixie, also known as the Scotch Navy.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Only an internal medicine can remove the cause. That's why external remedies and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has such a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief even in chronic and stubborn case, that Schramm-Johnson says try HEM-ROID at my expense. Your Pile suffering must end or money back. —Adv.

Torosa Rebekah members had an inspirational motive for convening last night in the I. O. O. F. hall, for they had in their midst Fannie Barker, district deputy president, who was here on her official visit, and Mrs. Mary Edwards, district deputy marshal. Sharing honors with the two guests were Clayton Allen, district deputy grand master, district deputy grand marshal, Mr. Osterman, of Anaheim, and Fannie M. Lacy, past president of the Rebekah assembly.

The regular lodge session was followed by a humorous play, "Old-Fashioned Country School," under the direction of Mrs. Claude Brown. Miss Carrie B. Seaton concluded the program session with several musical numbers.

On adjourning to the banquet rooms, the guests and officers of the lodge discovered that their table was centered with silver moon and stars in a pink and green background, with a white dove hovering above amidst garlands of pink and green, Rebekah colors. Small bee hives and lilies served as candle holders. The decorations were carried out under the direction of Mrs. H. H. Allen.

CLYDE MARCHANT CALLED BY DEATH

Suffering from a disease contracted in South America four years ago, Clyde C. Marchant, 44, of Sixth and Tustin avenue in Tustin, passed away yesterday at 3:30 p. m. in his home.

Marchant has lived in Tustin for 29 years, coming there from Kansas, where he was engaged in farming. He was a civil engineer for many years and was in South America for engineering purposes. He operated a large ranch there but had to return to Tustin when he contracted the sickness.

The Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which Marchant was a member, will officiate at the funeral Friday at 3:30 p. m., from the Smith and Tuthill chapel. Stephenson Will Broadcast Talks On Local History

That keen interest in community and county history has been aroused by publication of "Caminos Viejos" (Old Roads), written by T. E. Stephenson and printed under the direction of T. E. Williams, was evidenced today in an announcement that the author has been requested to broadcast tomorrow over KFI, Los Angeles, and KGER, Long Beach.

Giving 10 minute talks on material similar to that in the book, Stephenson will be on the air over KFI on the Motor Transit program which will be broadcast from 12:30 to 1:30 p. m. EL MODENA, Aug. 14.— The qualifications of state and county candidates for office were discussed at a meeting of the El Modena W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Pearl Paddock on Panorama Heights.

Several speakers were heard in the afternoon after a covered dish luncheon had been served. While no candidates were endorsed, Logan Jackson was given favorable consideration as a candidate for sheriff, it is said.

Guests included Pearl Kendall Hess, Mrs. Minnie Neville, Mrs. J. F. Burke and Mrs. M. Saunders, of Phoenix, Ariz.

Court Notes

A complaint for foreclosure of mortgage was filed yesterday in superior court by The Farmers and Merchants Savings bank of Santa Ana against the Nicholls-Loomis company. The complaint charged that no interest whatsoever was paid by the defendant on a promissory note amounting to $12,500.00. The plaintiff claims that, according to the note, it is the legal owner and holder of the mortgage, and is asking judgment for the sum of $12,500.00 with interest and expenses of the action, to be gotten from the sale of the mortgaged property.

A citation ordering the appearance in court of W. R. Coy, on August 15, at 2 p. m., that he may be examined under oath, was returned today in superior court. It resulted from a petition filed by Moresby White, Laguna Beach attorney, who as administrator of the estate of Adele Ritchie Post, informed the court that he suspected Coy of concealing rings formerly belonging to Mrs. Post.

Gertrude E. Zimmer today filed suit against the general board of restitution of certain property, which she alleges the church wrongfully took possession of on July 1. She asked damages in the amount of $1000 and $62 per month since July 1 for loss of rent from the property, which consists of a double and single dwelling in the Ross addition to Santa Ana.

The Farmers and Merchants Savings bank is plaintiff in a suit filed today against Hawley J. Selway, et al, in which foreclosure of a mortgage is sought. The action is based on a $5000 note which became due August 16, 1926, and which, it is alleged, is unpaid. Property which is sought to be foreclosed is located in Santa Ana.

A petition for letters of administration in the estate of Joseph Dismukes was filed with County Clerk J. M. Backs yesterday by the widow, Ada Dismukes. The property listed in the petition is valued at $28,000. There is also a large tract of land between Hickey avenue and Seventh street listed in the assets of the estate on which no value is placed. The will, which was attached to the petition, provided that the property should go to a son, Lieut. Jospeh W. Dismukes, of the United States navy, at Cavite, P. I., and a daughter, Zylpha D. Cronenwett of San Francisco. The widow is to have the use of the community property, according to the will, which also states that other property previously had been divided with her.

Petition for letters of adminstraton of the estate of the late John J. Finnegan was filed today with County Clerk J. M. Backs, by Harold J. Finnegan, a son, of Laguna Beach. The estate is valued at $7,500. There was no will and the heirs at law are two sons and two daughters.

PIONEER ANAHEIM RESIDENT PASSES

ANAHEIM, Aug. 14.—Dr. W. S. Wilkins, a resident of Anaheim for the past 23 years, passed away at the family home, 149 South Lemon street, last evening.

The body is at the Backs, Terry and Campbell parlors, with funeral services tentatively set for Saturday.

Dr. Wilkins is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilkins, and two sons, Dr. H. W. Wilkins, living south of Anaheim, and Rolla Wilkins, of Santa Ana.

Imposes Fine On B. C. Boggs Today

B. C. Boggs, ice man of Fullerton, charged with reckless driving after a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor had been reduced, was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail, the sentence then suspended, his operator's license was suspended for the period of one year and he was fined $250 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning.

Boggs was arrested on August 7, driving a car between Anaheim and Fullerton, it was reported. He asked that his case be heard before Justice Morrison.

Court To Decide On Jurisdiction

Evidence in the case against Juan Herrera, charged with disturbing the peace at Delhi on August 8, was heard in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning, but no decision was reached. Justice Morrison said that he was not sure whether he had jurisdiction in the case.

The fact that Delhi is now a part of Santa Ana, may throw the case over to the Santa Ana police court, Morrison said. He is to give a ruling on it this afternoon.

Herrera is alleged to have been abusive to Mrs. A. Ramerez.

A bear cub is eight or nine inches long when born and weighs about fourteen or fifteen ounces.

BANK DEFENDANT IN COURT ACTION

Robert E. Bole et al filed a complaint in superior court yesterday against the Security-First National bank of Los Angeles et al. The plaintiffs' cause of action is the claim that on January 10th, 1927 the plaintiffs signed an oil lease with the McAdams Petroleum corporation, also a defendant, covering land owned by the plaintiff. The plaintiff alleges that, according to the terms of the lease, he was not to pay on the lien which was then existing on the property except out of their interests and royalties. The plaintiff charges that the defendant, for the space of three years, failed to drill, thus preventing the plaintiffs from paying $6,000.00 which was due on the note. The plaintiff further charges that the Security First National bank, as trustee, put the property up for sale. The plaintiff asks that the court prevent the sale until the matter is heard.

VERDICTS ARE BEING SOUGHT BY TWO JURIES

Two juries were considering verdicts at noon today in the courthouse. One had heard the evidence in the trial of Rafael Lopez, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, with intent to commit murder, and retired at 9:58 a. m. to consider a verdict. The other had heard evidence in the trial of Panfeilo Corona, charged with possession of marijuana. Both cases were tried in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court.

Lopez is alleged to have assaulted Ignacio Savala with a pistol. Corona is charged with possession of six tobacco cans of a mixture containing more than four grains of Indian hemp, or marijuana, to the ounce. The mixture was seized in a raid made by state narcotic officers on June 25, according to testimony. Witnesses in the Corona case today included George H. Brown and H. T. Borchardt, of the state narcotic squad, and L. J. McColloch, chemist for the state board of pharmacy.

Members of the Lopez jury are H. G. Moberly, B. M. Huff, J. G. Mitchell, Mrs. Mary Herring, Robert M. Charles, Henry J. Burns, J. T. Dilley, Henry Marquart, H. T. Groves, Mrs. Alice Stephens, J. R. Thompson and Sarah Tabor.

Those who are to determine the innocence or guilt of Corona, whose attorney presented no evidence, are Carrie A. Love, W. E. Mars, B. F. McIndoo, Mrs. Cecil P. Bonebrake, Mrs. Helen Gardner, Mrs. M. Estelle Carter, Austin Cody, M. Livingston, Mrs. Mabel Baker, John Meurs, Elizabeth Warren and Mary Tillotson.

FOUR WIVES FILE DIVORCE ACTIONS

Mary E. Round, who was married to Phillip S. Round in Grant City, Missouri, on Dec. 29, 1896, charges her husband with desertion and failure to provide. The couple separated in 1926.

Habitual intemperance and extreme cruelty were the charges contained in the complaint of Sarah C. Corbett against Claude F. Corbett. They were married in Miami, Oklahoma, in 1925 and separated in 1929.

William A. Craig was charged with failure to provide in the complaint filed by Violet S. Craig. The marriage occurred in 1927 and separation took place Aug. 1, 1929.

Dorothy Blalock, who was married to Forest F. Blalock in 1927, alleged that her mate failed to provide, and charged wilful neglect3. They separated April 4, 1930.

Steak Bake And Dance Featured By 20-30 Club

Enjoying a steak bake and swimming party, 26 members and friends of the Santa Ana 20-30 club met Tuesday night at Dana Point, later motoring to Laguna Beach for dancing.

Tevis Westgate and Hooley McDonald acted as cooks for the occasion and served a dinner of steak, salad, coffee, pickles, olives, tomatoes and watermelon after some of the picnickers had finished swimming in the surf. In a drawing for prizes Lee Finley and Ethan Lauderbach won boxes of candy.

Three Races Aid In Reading News Of Tom Humiston

There always is a way to find out what you want to know if you find the right method, in the opinion of F. L. Humiston, deputy sheriff.

Humiston yesterday received a Chinese newspaper from his son, Tom, who is spending his vacation in the Orient, and in the paper was a picture of the younger Humiston. The officer understood the picture but he did not know what the lettering underneath it meant.

He applied to George Boyd, county jailer, who speaks only English, but George had an idea. He took Humiston and the paper back in the jail and found a Chinaman who translate it into English. Boyd scratched his head and tried again. He found a Mexican who could make himself understood by the Chinaman and between the three of them, they found out that young Tom Humiston had arrived safely in Shanghai.

Put up some fruit Now... when winter comes you'll be Glad

The low price of sugar today and abundance of fine fruit make home canning profitable.

CANNED fruit belongs in the diet of young and old. And when you have a wide variety on hand you can vary your menus in a pleasing way.

The present low price of sugar and the abundance of fine fruit now in market make home canning exceedingly profitable. Even though you put up only a few jars of preserves or glasses of jelly, you will feel well repaid next winter when you "help yourself" to those home-made products.

Pickles and relishes made of tomatoes, cabbage, cucumbers and watermelon rind are also delicious and easy to make. Their spicy, tart-sweet goodness is most welcome when meats and fish are served.

Don't let this summer go by without putting up some preserves, jellies and relishes. Your family will certainly thank you and you'll save money in the bargain. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

Bill Hart Gives KREG Violinist Highest Praise

Charles Morgan, whose singing violin is familiar to Southern California radio listeners and particularly to KREG audiences, thinks a lot of his fan mail, and specially a letter recently received from Bill Hart, the movie actor who made "Westerns" famous.

An idea of what Bill Hart thinks of the singing violin can be gained from the following letter, received by Morgan:

"Heard you tonight! Your 'singing violin' recalls those long ago days at camp when its dulcet tones tuned with nature in the silent hills, and the white topped waves accompanied with soft, muffled booms upon the sand.

"It was great then—its is great now—"

Bill Hart heard Morgan recently over KECA, Los Angeles, and perhaps he will tune in today when the singing violin croons over KREG from 7:30 to 7:45 p. m.

HE WAS LUCKY

REPUBLIC, Kan., Aug. 14.—Will Maywell, farmer northwest of Republic, has a tall tale to tell which has few rivals. Maywell was sitting on a lounge in his home during a thunderstorm. A bolt of lightning hit a tree near his house, entered the room by way of the radio aerial and then struck one of Maywell's shoes. It knocked the shoe from his foot and under the lounge. It left Maywell uninjured.

36 Baby Frogs At Gold Fish Farm

Several grown bullfrogs have been killed at the farm this season. A gold fish about five inches long is found to be the favored menu of the frogs. The grown frogs killed weighed two and three pounds.

Frogs of the hop toad and tree varieties inhabit the gold fish pools in spite of every precaution used and their concert may be heard each evening for some distance.

Construction work on the new aviaries has started at the gold fish farm, George Wardell, of Huntington Beach, being in charge. The aviaries are to be of a new architecture and will be tried out in raising some new varieties.

QUITE A CHASE

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Aug. 14.—N. M. Lancaster was driving a truck across town and in his wake and excitement he left two destroyed radios, Chris Trumbull with a lacerated forehead, and a collision between a motorist and a fire truck. Unknown to him, the cargo on his truck was afire, and the fire engine was chasing him. They finally caught up with him, after he had driven all the way through town, and put out the blaze.

Here's a Red Hot Tip For Men With Big Waistlines

Yes, Gentlemen: Writes W. R. Daniels of Richmond Hill—"I have finished my second bottle of Kruschen Salts and have obtained the following results:"

2—"Get up in the morning feeling 100 per cent.

3—"I am 25 per cent more active,

4—"My mind is clearer.

5—"My wind has improved 25 per cent.

6—"All skin eruptions have disappeared.

7—"My face and lips have color.

8—"When I go to bed I am motionless—sleep like a brick.

9—"Am 46 years old and feel 20 years younger."

Millions of men the world over are taking the little daily dose of Kruschen because they know that it keeps them everlastingly feeling fit and active—life really becomes a glorious adventure—well worth living.

Don't confuse Kruschen with the ordinary salts that are made for just one purpose (to act on the bowels).

Keep everlastingly before you the fact that Kruschen contains the six vital rejuvenating salts that nature put into the human body at the beginning of creation and these 6 minerals your body must have or you could not live.

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure and also gain in ambition and keenness of mind?

Get on the scales to-day and see how much you weigh—then get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—cut down on sweets for a while—take the exercise which Kruschen will induce—persist in this method every morning of your life and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you can laugh at the people who pay hundreds of dollars to lose a few pounds of fat—now you will know the pleasant way to lose unsightly fat and you'll also know that the 6 vitalizing salts of Kruschen (Salts that your blood, nerves and glands must have to function properly)—have presented you with glorious health.

The Other Bullet

By Nancy Barr Mavity

CHAPTER 12

"Like fun I will! I'll photograph your darn bullets if you say so, but I stop short of standing around waiting to receive 'em. I'm going to stand right behind you, and the way you're waving that gun around, I'm not sure that's any too safe."

Planting his feet wide apart, as if afraid that Peter would drag him from the comparative safety zone against his will, Andrews took up his station directly in the rear as Peter raised the pistol and fired.

"Got it!" he exclaimed, running to the tree and pointing triumphantly to a small round hole in the blanket.

"Sure-fire-Pete! With enough practice, you may be able to hit even a barn door in time!" Andrews jeered good naturedly. But Peter's interest was infectious and the camera man followed him to the tree, where he was engaged in cutting through the woolen pad with his pen knife, taking care not to scratch the bullet, as he gouged it out. "Just pick up the shell and bring it over, will you?" he called over his shoulder. He wrapped shell and bullet in his handkerchief, and turned back towards the house.

"Now we've got to find the other shell, that dropped somewhere near the front door. That oughtn't to be hard," he observed. "Come along and help me look."

"Oh, no, not hard at all, judging from the way you look after hunting for that bullet," Andrews demurred sarcastically. Nevertheless, he obediently leaned his tripod against the wall of the house and followed Peter, who had already hurried around the corner.

On hands and knees the two men parted the grass at the side of the path. The grass was freshly mown, and there was no shrubbery to impede their search. Almost immediately Andrews pounced upon the small metal cylinder.

"You know," Peter, mused, as he explored his pockets for something in which to wrap the shell, separately from the shell and bullet which he had himself fired, "that body was stiffer than it had any business to be. I don't know much about it, but that keeps bothering me. Maybe it doesn't mean a thing, but if it does, you can bet Kurtner will know. I'm getting no end keen to talk to Kurtner. Hello!"

Having searched in vain for an envelope, Peter had thrust his hand into the hip pocket of his dingy corduroy trousers and brought out a second handkerchief. But this one was crumpled and stiff, and dyed, except for chance patches of white, a dull, dark red.

"Great Scott!" Andrews exclaimed. "What did you ever do to yourself to get all that blood?"

"I didn't do anything to myself," Peter said slowly. "That blood is Mortison's, and the quicker we get it to Kurtner the better. Something tells me—"

He left the sentence unfinished. Having knotted the shell in a corner of the blood stained handkerchief, he stepped forward briskly, unlocked the door, and advanced into the room where Mortison had met this death.

"I wonder what he was really like." Peter's gaze wandered thoughtfully around the living room on which the door directly opened. "It must have taken an unusual ranch manager to bowl Mrs. Everett over. I don't see her falling for mere brawn and 'great open spaces' stuff; yet he seems to have known his business. Funny, isn't it, this trying to reconstruct a man's character from the inanimate things he has left behind him?"

"Reconstruct all you want to. I'm tired." He stretched his legs wearily before him, and relapsed in his pose of inexhaustible patience.

"All we know about him directly," Peter continued, unperturbed by Andrews' lack of interest, "is that he was subject to violent shifts of mood—and he seems to have had a troublesome temperament where the ladies are concerned. I feel rather sorry for him on that score. He doesn't seem to have been able to keep away from them, and they on their part couldn't say no to him. That's often the way with a man of his type. There was Mrs. Everett herself, and her sister, and Mrs. Coak's daughter—that we know of. Rather embarrassingly numerous for Mr. Mortison. And he couldn't help it, any more than a dipsomaniac can help taking a drink. He was the victim of his ductless glands, as the Johnnies say nowadays," Peter delivered his homily with an elderly sententiousness which consorted oddly with his youthful countenance.

"Call it ductless glands if you want to—looks to me as if he was just a plain chaser, and got bumped off in the mix-up," Andrews commented.

"It's the same thing—just a difference of diction," Peter said amiably. He was wandering about the room as he spoke, stooping to examine the titles of the books in the unpainted board bookcase which covered one wall of the room, picking up and laying down various objects which adorned its bare top.

"Hm," he murmured. "Here's a 'tiki' from New Zealand, and this horn and leather thing is a Japanese wajang. Some of this Chinese carved ivory stuff looks fairly valuable. Our too susceptible ranch manager seems to have traveled a bit. What's more, he's hung onto this stuff, in all his later wanderings. Now what do you make of that?" He held up a riding crop with a braided leather loop for a handle.

"I suppose he rode horses," Andrews offered brilliantly.

"You needn't be so Watsonish," Peter snapped with some irritation. "Of course h edid! But no self-respecting horseman in this part of the country would carry a thing like that. It goes with varnished boots and a groom and that sort of finery."

"Do you think he's been a groom?" Despite his indifference and fatigue, Andrews was becoming interested.

"No, I don't," Peter said emphatically. "Mrs. Everett wasn't losing her head over a groom—nor yet an ex-groom. Besides, look at these." One after another, he pulled out at random an armful of books from the shelves. "A full set of Dostolevski—what's more, he'd actually read 'em." He thumbed the well-worn pages of a blue-gray volume of 'The Brothers Karamazov.' And here are the moderns—Schnitzler, Mann, 'The World's Illusion'—and Marcel Proust. Fair to middling high brow for a ranchman." Peter's eyebrow cocked upward at an inquisitorial angle. "Hullo, what's this?"

From behind the displaced books he drew out a small Chinese box made of inlaid strips of wood of different colors.

"It's one of those puzzle boxes that are opened by sliding the little panels in a certain order till you get at the compartment that holds the key to open it—see?" He held out the box for Andrews' inspection. "Only it's broken. And Mortison took good care of his curios. That's the only thing around the place that isn't in perfect condition. It's not particularly valuable, either—and of course it was perfectly worthless after it got busted."

"It doesn't look worth keeping to me," Andrews remarked, turning the box over in his fingers.

"No—I wonder why he kept it."

"He not only kept it—he hid it," Andrews observed.

"So he did! Gee, Andrews, you're getting bright!" Peter exclaimed with exaggerated admiration. "What's more, he kept it hidden behind the books. And when Mrs. Everett was looking for a place to hide her gun, the first place she thought of was the book case. It looks as if she knew about the box, and it gave her the suggestion of a place to put the gun."

"But if the box really means anything, the silliest thing she could do was to establish a connection by choosing the same hiding place," Andrews objected.

"Of course it was silly, supposing the box has any real significance," Peter agreed. "But she had not time to stop and think. She probably didn't realize herself where the suggestion came from."

"Anyway, the box is empty." Andrews had peered into the openingb eneath the broken lid.

"That makes it all the funnier that he should have thought it worth hiding," Peter answered. "Well, we can't find out anything by staring at it any longer." With a baffled sigh, he abandoned the problem of the box and turned to the table, seating himself in the big arm chair which had been occupied by the dead man.

Peter had long ago overcome any revulsion of nerves in connection with what he called "stiffs." The chair was the obvious place to sit, even though the last man to sit there had been a corpse. He leaned his head against the leather back, disregarding the dark irregular stain which marred the upholstery at the height of his right shoulder. Then, bending forward, he proceeded to open the long shallow drawer in the front of the table, and emptied its contents on the top.

"Another gun!" he exclaimed, pouncing on a heavy object half hidden under the mass of papers which had filled the drawer. "This one hasn't been fired, though—it's full up. Yet it was right within reach. No time to defend himself, I guess."

Laying the revolver to one side, Peter methodically and without a qualm of conscience opened envelopes, unfolded letters, glanced at their contents, and laid them aside in a neat pile.

"Nothing but bills and receipts pertaining to the ranch," he said, his face long with disappointment. "Not a personal letter in the bunch! Hullo, what's this?"

From the bottom of the pile he fished out a flat leather case, balancing it on the palm of his hand. The case was of Florentine workmanship, beautifully tooled and chased with gold. But the surface was scuffed and worn, and only a trace here and there of the gilt pattern remained. In the center was the dim ,almost obliterated outline of what appeared to be a crest or coat of arms. Peter flipped open the cover and stared at an old-fashioned photograph set in the oval space within. Very softly, under his breath, he began to whistle.

The sound brought Andrews heavily to his feet. He shuffled across the room and leaned over Peter's shoulder.

The photograph, its sepia tones faded to a soft brown, showed a woman in evening dress, her hair piled high. At either side, one in front and the other with a hand on the back of her chair, stood two small boys. They were dressed alike, but the one at the back was evidently the older—he was two inches taller than the other. The picture was obviously a "family group." But the faces of the two boys had been neatly cut out with the point of a pen-knife, exposing the cardboard beneath in two blank circles.

"Well, what do you think of that?" Peter's eyebrows were lifted in puzzled astonishment.

"It won't reproduce," Andrews said dejectedly. "It's too faded."

"Gosh!" Peter flared. "You sure are the song of a single note. Can't you expand your mind, if any, a little, and take in the thought that a picture may be of some other use than for reproduction in the Herald?"

"But who is it? What are the faces cut out for? What does it mean?"

"I don't know—and ditto, and ditto. That goes for all three," Peter caroled jubilantly.

"Maybe if the art department painted out the two boys and touched up the dame's face—"

"The art department isn't going to have the chance to monkey with this picture—not yet awhile anyway," Peter said caustically. He closed the picture frame with determination, and thrust it into his inside coat pocket.

"Well, considering that you don't know one from the other you seem mighty cheered up," Andrews taunted.

"Of course I'm cheered up, you lunk-head son of a sculpin! Just try putting a little gray matter in the place where your cerebrum is supposed to be. Here's the murder trial of a young and pretty woman. Her husband is a prominent construction engineer—and he'll get more 'prominent' every day the story runs. It has 'class" and it has sex, and as if that wasn't enough, Emil Kurtner will take the stand for the defense. He's good for page one, any day in the week. Every paper in the city will send its trained seals to the trial. They'll lap it up."

'Sure they'll lap it up! I guess you'll be lapping it up yourself," he said pungently.

"Yeah," Peter agreed. "You bet I will, and it will be some little lapping. The Herald was on the ground first. We've got the edge with the sheriff, and with Kurtner, and with the lady and her husband. Still, the trial is an open and shut story. Once the others get here, it's wide open. It'll be a great show while it lasts—and when it's over, the other papers will sit back on their haunches and call it a day."

"Just this." Andrews hastily ducked as Peter rapped on the edge of the table with the butt of the revolver. "There's another story behind this one. I can smell it—my nose knows! If Kurtner's stuff breaks the way I hope it will, they'll all get wind of it before the trial's over. But they won't know what to do about it. They won't find out, either, because little Peter is here on the ground first, copping all the evidence he can lay his hands on."

Peter's eyes shone with excitement as he wheeled to face Andrews.

"We've got day and days, weeks maybe, before the other papers will even guess that there is another story—one that'll make the trial just a nice little curtain raiser to the main show. And that's the story the Herald is going to get—all sole alone!"

NEW FELT GOLF COURSE

1209 SOUTH MAIN STREET

"Midst the Palms"

Saturday, August 16, 7 p. m.

Saturday at 7 P. M. the new Felt Golf Course at 1209 South Main Street with its inviting palm tree setting, makes its bow to the public.

Our first course, constructed at this location in March (the third Tom Thumb course in Southern California) has become so popular that there has been an insistent demand for another course at this corner to handle our ever-growing group of "Midst the Palm" golfers. This new course has been constructed to meet this demand and afford the player more diversification in greens and hazards.

You will be delightfully surprised at this new golf link.—Art has not been spared to make it attractive and interesting, neither has capital or labor. 18 large felt covered greens with new and original hazards and layouts . . . situated among a beautiful grove of 55-year-old palms . . . artistic water falls . . . new shadow eliminating flood lights . . . seats for spectators which is a new innovation among golf courses . . . Other features that make this great Super-Course outstanding.

PLAY 36 HOLES IF YOU WISH! Our 18 hole course adjoining and this new 18 hole link makes a 36 hole course—the only one in Orange county.

JOHNNY AGAIN UNDER-DOG FOR BOUT TONIGHT

Johnny DeCorsey is in a nice spot to spring another surprise on the boys at the Orange County Athletic club tonight when he squares away for 10 rounds in a main event with Indian Jimmie Rivers.

Making his first start at Delhi since the first of the year, Rivers has been made a favorite to celebrate it with a victory.

Johnny was a shortender against Tommy Huffman whom he decisively outpointed. He was a shortender against "Wild Man" Macias, and gave that worthy one of the hardest fights of his life. He was a shortender against "Swede" Bergland, yet stopped the San Bernardina pride in four heats.

Coming in as the under-dog tonight gives the smiling Los Angeles youngster a swell chance to score another tremendous upset.

Art Molino vs. Willie Pitcher, 125 pounds, six rounds; Andy de la Parra vs. "Sonny Boy" Thompson, 122 pounds, four rounds.

He is meeting a shrewd, calculating, experienced opponent in Rivers, now under the mangement of Ralph Pantusso, the Placentia sportsmen who handles Tony Moreno and Urban Hernandez. Jimmie has just returned from a long tour and is supposed to be in splendid condition. A host of his old admirers is sure to gather inside Promoter H. T. Foust's pavilion to watch the redskin go and determine whether his business in other states has improved or cramped his style.

Don Smith, one-time pride of the amateurs, faces Sal Ortega in the six-round semi-final. Smith claims a draw with Len Porter, colored ace, and if this be true he rates over Ortega, just a willing slugger.

Eddie O'Day and Jack Gilmore, a couple of these "beeg, strong fellers," head the rest of the show. They are going six rounds, or less. The first one who hits is apt to win.

Art Molino meets Willie Pitcher in another six-rounder, while "Sonny Boy" Thompson, colored, opens the card against Andy de la Parra, local Mexican bantam.

Women will be admitted free.

'Red' Cooke to Matriculate At Santa Clara

Warren ("Red") Cooke, veteran of three seasons in Saint tanbark and for two years picked on the All-Coast Preparatory league eleven, was admitted to the northern institution today. The flaming-haired end plans to leave for Santa Clara Saturday night.

Cooke now weighs 171, considerably more than when he was starring with Coach Oliver's Saint grid machines. Football critics are agreed that Cooke should develop into one of the coast's outstanding wingmen before he graduates from college.

Brain again triumphed over brawn when the editorial and business offices of The Register combined to give the mechanical department its annual indoor baseball spanking, 19-4, at Irvine park yesterday. The "Brawns" never had a chance. (Don't be surprised if you find this full of typographical errors.)

Wayne Moone's trajectories were dispensed with altogether too much emotion for the serfs of the lower floor who did well to score at all.

"Big Train" Zangraft was on the protuberance for the "Brawns." He was batted robustly and received mediocre support.

J. Frank Burke umpired most of the game. Nobody said "Kill the umpire."

The lineups:

Promoter H. T. Foust has completed his August "future book" for both his Santa Ana and San Bernardino boxing arenas.

Jimmie Rivers and Johnny DeCorsey met here tonight. Next Thursday the matchmaker will use Joe Reese and Jack (Kid) Allen, another pair of welterweights. The Urban Hernandex-Jimmy Fox attraction, originally booked for tonight, has been set back to August 28.

Santiago Zorrilla, celebrated Panamanian, meets Frankie Boldt at Foust's San Bernardino club next Tuesday. The inland club will be "dark" August 26 on account of the primaries.

CARNERA BOUT SEPTEMBER 29 UP TO SHARKEY

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—With a single unimportant exception—He was only one of the prize fighters—everybody seemed agreed today that the Sharkey-Carnera fight had practically been made for Chicago on the night of September 29 and may Allah protect the ring's foundations.

Carnera, his manager and the managers of his managers were for it. So was Miguel Malloy, the new boy from up the block who has come down to play on the Garden's sidewalks. Johnny Buckley, who manages Sharkey after business hours, said he was for it as he bowed himself off the asphalt on to the midnight train for Boston.

To be frank, he was speaking strictly for Johnny Buckley. When the time comes, he will speak for Sharkey directly after Sharkey speaks for himself.

Malloy Well Financed

A nod of the latter's head, it seems, now stands between Miguel Malloy and his first time in the coarse money.

Sharkey's hesitancy at the moment is a mere matter of incentive. He must fight at this time only for the sake of staying in the money, whereas Carnera must fight to stay in the country. They were going to run him out of here a few weeks ago, but a compromise was effected, suitable to all hands. According to its terms, the immigration authorities were allowed to stay on Ellis island and Carnera was reimbursed for his trouble by getting at least $150,000 for the proposed fight in Chicago.

Will Accept 25 Per Cent

He is committed to accepting 25 per cent of the receipts, which ought to do at least $600,000, the commitment having been arranged at a mass meeting of his managers. At least 10 managers are getting various parts of Carnera's purses. Nobody seems to know what Carnera is getting out of Carnera but maybe this isn't imporant.

The last offer to Sharkey was a flat guarantee of $125,000, which is flat like Lookout mountain, or a privilege of 30 per cent, which isn't a privilege at all. It is downright bounty. The terms were communicated to Sharkey by telephone but he was all tired out from a hard day on the front porch and couldn't be bothered. He will get around to it, however.

This fact was ordained after Buckley had paid a duty call on the Garden and found that this organization had decided to be very big about the thing and offer him a match with Campolo for a dollar-ninety and expenses.

NEW SENATOR

This is Joe Kuhel, $65,000 first baseman the Senators purchased from Kansas City in the American association. Kuhel's inaugural performance with Washington was marked by three hits. He will assist the veteran Joe Judge at the initial sack, which eventually may lead to the shifting of Art (The Great) Shires to an outfield post.

STARS OUT TO CINCH PENNANT AT LONG BEACH

Unless Santa Ana loses both to Long Beach and Orange and thereby is tied by Anaheim for the second half title, the series between the Stars and Whittier for the 1930 championship of the National Night league will begin next week, officials said today.

No dates have been established and none will be until Santa Ana is definitely "in," but if the Stars win at Long Beach tomorrow night the playoff may start as early as Monday.

Representatives of both clubs are said to favor no less than a three-out-of-five series. Such an arrangement might require the better part of two weeks unless one team was lucky enough to breeze through to three successive victories, so an early part is desirable for all concerned. Games probably will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays.

The winner of the Santa Ana-Whittier play, if these cities do get together, then would have to meet Colton in another long series for the championship of Southern California. Sectional meetings always have called for a two-out-of-three series in past seasons.

Santa Ana hopes to sew up the championship at Long Beach. Already a cinch to tie for the bauble, Herb Salveson's gang will be out to win it against the Acorns and do away with the necessity of meeting Orange in a game that was postponed from the Fourth of July. Salveson will start all his regulars, Pitcher Joe Cornelius included, so the Stars rate as better than an even choice to cop.

Word from Long Beach is to the effect that the Acorns are "gunning" for the Stars and will spare no effort to make things as troublesome as possible. Milt Fish and Joe Bell, "master minds" of the Acorns, have a new pitcher by the name of Sheek who has been turning in some pretty fair games of late. If Sheek doesn't get the nomination, Deene Downer, a fast-ball pitcher from Long Beach city league ranks, will do the throwing. The Stars haven't faced either Sheek or Downer this term.

HOW THEY STAND

	W.	L.	Pct.
Westminster	1	1	.500
Garden Grove	1	1	.500

Westminster and Garden Grove tonight play their "do or die" game at Westminster for the championship of the Orange County "B" Night Baseball league.

Standing one to one in their two-out-of-three game series, the crack teams of the fast junior circuit promise to put up still another of the thrilling imbroglios which has marked their every meeting this summer.

Not only will the pennant in the "B" circuit be officially at stake but also the right to represent the league in a playoff with Ontario, undisputed champions of the American Night league's "B" loop.

Garden Grove took the first game of the series, 5 to 3. Westminster squared accounts Monday night, coming from far behind in the eighth and ninth innings to defeat the Peppers, 8 to 7.

The rival managers, Francis Penhall of Westminster and Claude Anderson of Garden Grove, plan to start virtually the same lineups that went postward Monday. Ira DeBusk will do the submarining for the Aviators. Russ Muir will work for the Peppers. "Dink" Penhall will be behind the log for Westminster, Marks for Garden Grove.

MICKEY WALKER TO HEAD L. A. PROGRAM

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—Mickey Walker, world middleweight champion, today signed an open contract to fight the main event at an open-air boxing show at Wrigley field here September 15.

Promoter Jack Doyle said Walker was willing to meet Paolino Uzcudun if the Basque can be signed, or any other formidable opponent available at that time.

The date of the show was advanced from September 8 because of the Max Baer-Frankie Campbell fight in San Francisco August 26. Efforts will be made to have the winner appear on the Wrigley field program.

BABY SAL WINS

Clara Zinke Wins From Mary Greef

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Clara Zinke, Cincinnati, scored a surprising victory in the quarter-final round of the women's singles here today by defeating Mary Greef, Kansas City, ranked No. 6 nationally, 8-6, 7-5.

Baroness Giacomo Giorgio Levi, second ranking player of Italy, gained the semi-finals by winning from Dorothy Andrus, Stanford, 6-1, 7-5.

The third player to enter the semi-finals was Marjorie Gladman, Santa Monica, Calif., who scored over Mrs. J. D. Corbiere, Stamford, Conn., 6-3, 6-4.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Night baseball is just a quaint old Spanish custom in Santa Barbara, Calif. . . . It was played there in 1905. . . . Last year Fat Fothergill was "the peepul's choice" in Detroit . . . fans went into delirium when he came to the plate in a pinch . . . but this year Fat wasn't delivering . . . so he went to the White Sox for the waiver price. . . . Red Grange has retired as a roadhouse host near Los Angeles . . . says he wasn't cut out for that sort of business. . . . Jockey Paul Neal, leading jockey around Chicago tracks last season was thrown into a post by a horse at Hawthorne the other day and badly hurt . . . the horse's name was Apple Brandy. . . . Oculists say that because the light rays in night baseball come from the sides and not from above, fair players have to be good to play it. . . . and good players better.

MY BALL PLAYER

Lewis Robert Wilson is up to his old tricks again. Time after time we have remonstrated with Lewis, and he has promised to do better. But just as he seems about to prove he has mended his ways, there he goes again, kerflop! We weep with him, and then he sets out bravely again, his jaw squared, determination in his eye, and we go along right with him again.

Lewis Robert Wilson is our favorite ball player. He plays center field for the Chicago Cubs and happened, the same thing that haphas all the graceful lines of a brick kiln. He fights with umpires. He argues with fans in the stands, sometimes with his fists, for Lewis has a temper. He socks homers far over the wall and swats ball players on the nose. In pinches, sometimes he lets the third strike waft lazily across the dish. In other pinches sometimes he loses fly balls in the sun, and usually when Lewis loses 'em, they cost the Cubs ball games. But he is our favorite ball player.

He makes spectacular catches sometimes, and whenever Hack makes 'em, somehow they seem to be better catches than Tris Speaker ever could make. Those chunky piano legs of his fairly spin under him as he races to the outer wall for a long fly. He leaps, and oh, boy, what a catch! Then again, sometimes he just stands there in center waiting for a nice easy fly, and when the ball gets close to him, he waves his arms over his head in bewilderment and the stuff's off. He has lost it in the sun. But just the same, he's our favorite ball player.

He's battling Babe Ruth this year for home run honors and he isn't so many behind the Bambino. Old Hack was basking in sunshine and glory the other day, with the Cubs ahead in the ninth, when another one of these terrible things happened, teh same thing that happened in the world series last year. Hack lost one in the sun and it went for a home run. The Cardinals won a battle from the Cubs.

McGRAW SHIPPED HIM

He's a castoff, you might say—one of those McGraw castoffs. He was with the Giants three years, but in 1926 John decided he didn't want Hack any longer, so he sent him away. The Cubs rescued him from Toledo.

Hack fights and works, every minute. His bat has brought the Cubs victory time after time, but so have his inglorious failures brought them defeat. You never know just what Hack is going to do, and that is another one of the reasons why he's our favorite ball player. He's always in earnest; always trying, but he's just human, after all.

Some of the lads in the press box say he gets his name by his resemblance to n old-fashioned hack. Others say they call him that because he has the physical proportions of Hackenschmidt, the old wrestler. Either reason is authentic, but for all that he remains our favorite ball player.

Hack can make the greatest catches in the world. He can hit the ball as far as Ruth and as often. And he can make the greatest mistakes you ever saw. One day he gets the razzberry and it seems everybody in the stands is against him. The very next day he belts a homer over the fence and they're all his friends.

No mater what he does he remains by ball player. I think he's wonderful.

LEGION CHECKS PENNANT DASH OF 'PHONEMEN

No longer was there an undefeated baseball team in the Santa Ana City league today.

The only one of the species left before last night was the Pacific Telephone company, and the Pole-Climbers went the way of the rest when it ran afoul of the hard-hitting American Legion outfit, 9 to 4.

One nightmare of an inning, the fifth, beat the 'Phonemen. In that large frame, the Legionnaires knocked "Mack" Castro all over the Bowl for six runs and seven hits, more than enough to win with the kind of pinch-pitching old Earl Jones was dishing out from his ancient "souper." The Pacifics got 11 hits off Jones but did well to make four runs.

Another double-header is scheduler for tonight. The Dennis Printers and the Orange County Builders' exchange collide in the main event at 8:15, and if the Builders win they will be "in" as champions of the first half of the split season. Peek's market, a second half title contender, plays the Eastern Oil company at 6:45.

SPARR STOPS M'KNIGHT

WILMINGTON, Aug. 14.—A slow main event at the Harbor arena last night between Jack Sparr and Jack McKnight ended in the fourth round when McKnight was unable to continue because of a broken hand. Sparr was awarded a technical knockout. Tommy Huffman took the semi-windup from Jackie Stewart.

SHOOTING with SHUTE

by DENNY SHUTE

If I felt ambitious and literary, I probably could write an entire novel-length book on how to play out of sand traps. And probably I wouldn't half cover the field, either.

One thing that strikes me as a rather common error is in the choice of a club to play out of such places. Duffers I have seen seem to think the niblick is the one club to use in such a situation and that that is the only use for such a club.

Of course that is not true. The niblick is the club when explosion shots are necessary, but one should never attempt an explosion shot when any other method of getting out remains.

In traps where there is no tranch between the hand and the side of the bunker, most any club is better than a niblick and in shallow traps where no especial loft is required, a putter is frequently the best club to use.

As a matter of fact, I believe the duffer who gets wild-eyed and afraid the minute he gets into sand will find it to his advantage to think over the possibilities of getting out with the putter first. Then if he finds that the putter doesn't answer his purpose, he should go on up the line of clubs until he decides on one with which he can feel certain of getting out.

McFADDEN FOR SHERIFF CLUB STAGES DINNER

S. James Tuffree, Placentia, manager of the club, presided, and in the opening talk lauded McFadden's candidacy, reviewing the candidate's platform on which he is seeking to be nominated for the office of sheriff at the coming primary election on August 26.

"When Ralph McFadden was a city trustee of Anaheim several years ago, he, in association with Frank Gibbs and Fred Backs, was instrumental in making Anaheim dry," Tuffree declared. The speaker further declared McFadden's stand for impartial enforcement of all laws.

T. B. Talbert, Huntington Beach, was the next speaker. He said in part:

"You always know where Ralph McFadden stands, regardless of friend or foe. And he has real business ability. I think Orange county is fortunate in having such a man offer himself as a candidate for sheriff."

H. A. Lake, Garden Grove lumberman and president of the Orange county fair board, said McFadden was the man who "can clean up things in Orange county."

J. P. Greeley, Balboa, who was Orange county's first superintendent of schools, said McFadden once was his pupil. "He is free, impartial and unafraid," said Greeley.

Tom McFadden, brother of the candidate, declared that there are stills running in Orange county right now." "Law violators are protected here by big bond men in Los Angeles." "Unfit" was the term this speaker applied to some of the members of the sheriff's force in the past. He paid a glowing tribute to the ability and integrity of his brother.

"Some have said they would vote for an ex-service man," Ross Shafer of Tustin declared. "I want to say," he continued, "that I am a service man and a member of the American Legion. Ralph McFadden offered his services to his country during the World war. The end of that war was the only thing that prevented him from being in the commissioned ranks of his country's armed forces."

Other speakers were Cal Lester, Orange; L. A. Hogue, Brea; Mrs. Ruth Harbison, William T. Wallop and Merman Stern, Anaheim; Ted Tarbox, Huntington Beach; H. A. MacClatchie, Yorba Linda and Brea; E. R. Walker, Yorba Linda; H. H. Hale, Placentia; A. W. McBride and O. T. Stephens, La Habra; and Ralph McFadden.

In outlining his position on law enforcement, McFadden declared that if elected he would make a study of a certain grand jury recommendation with reference to establishing sub-stations of the sheriff's office in strategic locations in the county, and if found for the best interests of enforcement, would work for the accomplishment of the recommendation.

IT'S A FUNNY WORLD

FORT WORTH, Aug. 14.—While the thermometer hovered around 100 here, the local telephone company made an announcement which caused a lot of sweltering citizens to ponder over spending a large lump of money in order to keep cool—a la Coue. A connection can now be made between torrid Texas and Sweden up in the cold north, over the telephone. To talk that distance, however, it would cost $45.75 for the first three minutes.

Chile supplies about 90 per cent of the world's iodine, the production of which is a by-product of its nitrate industry.

Consider the case of one Bob Tarry, Long Beach high school tackle, a member of last year's Southern California championship eleven and eligible for one more season in Jackrabbit moleskins.

Big, tough and strong, Tarry developed ambitions for the career of a heavyweight prizefighter. He trained all summer, got a preliminary bout at Wilmington and was knocked colder than a pawnbroker's smile in one round.

Now he is a professional. No more high school or college football for him.

Colton awaits the impending Southern California night baseball playoffs with tremendous interest.

The lamplight racket is primarily a "small town" sport because it generates inter-city competition and rivalry.

Colton fans have petitioned their city council for bleachers that will accommodate 1000 more fans. Their present stands seat 650, hardly enough even for Santa Ana if the Stars "make" the big series.

But don't be confused when the tire dealer with something "special" to sell backs you into a corner.

Just remember the one fact — after years of experience, after testing this value and that, "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

There must be a valid reason for this.

There is: Goodyear Tires are definitely superior, in the two main parts of a tire.

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts.

Now is the time to get YOURS

As far back as 1916, it became a fact that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Every year since that time it has been increasingly true that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Today this preference for Goodyears runs into millions: millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

There can be only one conclusion: Goodyear Tires must be better—and at present prices they are a matchless bargain.

AIDS STATE IN EXCELLING TWO MILLION MARK

A substantial increase in the number of voters registered in Orange county for the primary election helped the state to make a heavy gain in voting strength and for the first time go over the two million mark. The registration in Orange county for the primary was 48,937, it has been announced by J. M. Backs, county clerk, while that for the entire state is 2,187,474 as shown in announcement made today by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan. Orange county ranks eighth in the state the figures show.

Comparison with the primary election four years ago reveals that the registration in Orange county then was 40,506 and for the state, 1,854,471. An increase in the number of voting precincts in the county, which added 15 for a new total of 189, also is in line with the increase in the number of precincts in the state as revealed in Jordan's announcement, where the increase was from 8282 precincts in 1926 to 10,283 this year.

The ratio of Republican voters to Democrats still remains at about four to one, reflecting the condition that was found to exist in Orange county. The total registered vote for the 58 counties of the state by party affiliation, as compiled from the figures sent by county officials to Jordan, is as follows: Republican, 1,599,413; Democratic, 449,824; Prohibition 12,304; Socialist 10,602; declined to state, 114,940; miscellaneous 391.

Los Angeles, as usual, stood first in registration with a total of 824,886 voters, as compared to 661,444 four years ago. San Francisco came next with 243,019 as against 220,893 in 1926, while Alameda ranked third, wiht 227,674 as compared with 198,265.

Alpine, California's tiniest county, registered 136 voters for the state primary—126 Republicans and 10 Democrats. At the primary election four years ago this county's total registration was only 86, of whom 71 actually cast their votes for governor.

TO FLY ATLANTIC "PAY-LOAD"

It's a "flying freight" that these two aviators plan to pilot across the Atlantic. William S. MacLaren, Newark, N. J., airman, and Mrs. Berl Hart, one of the country's few women transport pilots, intend to carry a pay-load in their plane when they take off from the Newark Airport for Paris early in August. They expect to follow a route across Bermuda and the Azores and are seeking permission to transport government mail on the flight.

FORMER REGISTER EMPLOYE WRITES TRIBUTE TO MOTHER

BY JOHN H. McCOY

It has often been recorded that the man or woman of today seldom pauses to merely think . . .

But fewer still are the times when men or women pause to really consider and glorify the richest of all possessions . . . Mother. Yet she is continually glorifying them.

"God could not be everywhere so he made Mothers," reads the old Jewish proverb.

Once each year we honor them; once each year we endeavor to pay tribute to them. But it is not enough.

Upon the shoulders of the Mothers of today rests the burden of rearing the men and women of tomorrow. May we henceforth daily glorify, honor, and cherish each and everyone of those Mothers of men.

Court Notes

J. W. Heinicke has brought suit against S. E. Eller et al, asking a decree of quiet title to property in San Clemente.

The Commercial National bank of Santa Ana brought suit against Joe Wagner yesterday in superior court asking judgment on a promissory note for $1000. Attorney fees of $250 also are asked in the complaint.

Claude Groover, who entered a plea of guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor when he was arraigned before Judge James L. Allen last Friday, was sentenced to spend two years in the county jail when judgment was pronounced yesterday afternoon by Judge Allen.

John E. Turner, who was found guilty by a jury Monday on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, was fined $200 today by Judge James L. Allen and had his driver's license revoked for one year. The court suspended $100 of the fine and remanded the prisoner to the sheriff with instructions that he was to spend one day in jail for every dollar of the fine, if not paid.

A stipulated judgment of $474.15 plus costs was entered by Judge James L. Allen today in the case of Wm. C. Bernard, of Laguna Beach, against Nettie K. Holcombe-Pritchard. The suit had been brought on an open book account.

The inventory and appraisement in the estate of C. Francis Clark, filed today, gives the value of the estate as $4300.

CAKE FLAVORING LEADS TO ARREST

Six bottles of cake flavoring were the cause of Herman Ebert, 39, Arcadia rancher, being lodged in the county jail yesterday by State Traffic Officer Groover.

Not that it is against the law to have six bottles of cake flavoring, but Ebert drank the contents and they made him drunk according to the officer, who booked the prisoner on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Ebert also staged two attempts to escape after he was arrested, according to Groover.

Bail of $500 was demanded of the driver in Justice John Landell's court this morning and Ebert is to appear in San Juan Capistrano next week for a hearing.

SAMPLE BALLOTS PLACED IN MAIL

Sample ballots, voting instructions and information concerning candidates are leaving the quarters of County Clerk J. M. Backs by the truck load for the post office where envelopes for 49,937 voters are being sorted preparatory to distribution through the mails on Saturday.

The first truck load left the court house last night and two others went the route today. Workers in the election department of the county clerk's office worked overtime last night stuffing the envelopes and getting them ready for the mail. Backs stated today that he expected the night work to continue until the task is completed. The ballots are required to be sent to all registered voters between August 16 and August 21.

EXCHANGE CLUB MEMBERS WILL SEE MARATHON

NEWPORT-BALBOA, Aug. 14.—Tonight and tomorrow night will be Exchange nights at the Casino Roof ballroom in Balboa, where a society dance marathon has been going on since the evening of July 25.

Members of the club were invited to attend the nightly shows at the Casino at yesterday's luncheon of the Exchangeites at the Yacht club, which operators and entertainers of the ballroom attended.

William Melklejohn, of the Melklejohn brothers firm operating the ballroom; Bob Lee, master of ceremonies whose voice is heard at noon to 12:30 o'clock and 9:30 to 10:30 o'clock each evening over KREG; Russell Paul and Jay Johnson, assistant masters of ceremonies, Whitey Clinton and his musicians, John and Mary, dancers, and Miss La Flores, dancer, entertained the clubmen after the luncheon.

A challenge sent by the Santa Ana Exchange club for a miniature golf tournament was accepted and details were left to the inter-city committee, consisting of Eddie Moore, A. J. Garfield and Theo Robins. It is likely that contests will be staged in both cities to determine the best Exchange club team.

LOCAL MEN CAUGHT IN ARIZONA FLOOD

Major Leach and Frank McGowan, Santa Ana men, returned to Santa Ana today from the Grand canyon, after being caught in the Arizona flood of last week.

Their automobile, owned by McGowan, was lost in the flood which swept down on the Santa Anans in the Hopi country. Leach and McGowan were forced to borrow horses afrom the Indians so that they could continue their way back toward California.

Leach and McGowan were on their way to the Grand canyon from the petrified forest, where they visited, when the rain started falling, they reported. They left their machine in a dry spot which, in a few minutes turned into a raging stream. The quicksand which developed with the water caused the car to sink.

After walking 10 miles into the Indian reservation, they were able to hire horses, which they rode to Lupe. Abandoning the animals there, and taking a truck, they drove to Winslow, where they boarded a train for California.

The public school system of England was introduced by the Foster Education Act 1870.

HOOVER PILOT

President Hoover shouldn't be worried when driving even in the thickest traffic if Francis H. Robinson, below, is at the wheel. For Robinson—chauffeur for every president since the first automobile was bought for the White House in 1910—has never been in an accident. He has driven many thousands of miles with Presidents Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

Life Membership In Chamber Given D. Richard Foster

A life membership in the Westminster Chamber of Commerce has been presented to Dr. Richard Foster of Santa Ana, as a token of appreciation of the chamber for his years of faithful work in the organization.

The presentation of the life membership was made by the present secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, W. L. Walker, who was elected to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Dr. Foster.

Police News

Rolla Livesay, 58, of Santa Ana, was lodged in the county jail yesterday to serve 37 1-2 days or pay a fine of $75, on charges of reckless driving and intoxication. He was sentenced from the Anaheim justice court.

Two rugs, valued at $12, were stolen from the back porch of the home of Louis F. Davis of 316 East Edinger street, Tuesday, according to a police report.

Henry Gomez of Garden Grove, reported the theft of his automobile from a Santa Ana street Tuesday night. The car was parked on Broadway, between Third and Fourth streets, when it was stolen, he reported.

We Think of Everything Else —

A $10.00 Plate!

Yes—I'll make you a Ten Dollar plate—But, honestly, my advice is; just pay a little more—and get a plate that will befriend you comfortably for many, many years. And, remember, I'll work hard to please you.

But Our Teeth Come Last

and that is an appalling situation when you come to think of it. But so very often it is true. We put off and put off the day when our teeth should be "fixed." So often this causes ill health in many forms. Therefore—don't put off the day any longer. See me at your earliest opportunity. You'll never regret your action.

KIWANIS CLUB SPEAKER TELLS ABOUT ORIENT

The Rev. E. W. Koons, for 27 years a resident and president of a boys' school in Korea, gave a talk on "Economic and Industrial Conditions of Japan and Korea," at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon at St. Ann's inn.

Bill Kelly was program chairman and secured the speaker. The talk on Oriental conditions was preceded by music offered by four singers, Miss Lorene Croddy, Miss Marietta Limbaugh, Walter Workman and George Bonecutter. The first number was a one-act skit, entitled "Vender of Hearts" and the second was a duet, "Under an Old New England Moon," sung by Miss Limbaugh and Walter Workman. They were accompanied by Paul LeBar, club pianist.

The Rev. Mr. Koons gave the reasons why Japan was a great country and also of the hardships that this small country has suffered. In the fire of 1923, there were over 100,000 casualties and the area of the fire was larger than the London, Chicago and San Francisco fires combined, he said.

The four greatest handicaps to Japanese industry are lack of natural resources and capital, high cost of production, high consumption and cost of liquor and the course of licensed prostitution," the speaker declared. "Until these conditions are overcome," Koons continued, "Japan will be held down."

Wallace Is Given Probation Today

Ray Wallace, former deputy sheriff here, charged with forgery of a $1,000 note at the Santa Ana First National bank, and also with non-support of two children, gained his freedom in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday on both cases.

On the failure to provide charge he was given two years probation on condition that he pay $50 per month for the children's keep, and on the forgery charge, sentence was suspended for a period of six months pending good behavior.

Justice Kenneth Morrison said that Wallace paid the First National bank the money owed on the note.

The vehicular tunnel which is being built under the Mersey river at Liverpool will be the largest of its kind in the world, providing for four lines of vehicles and a railway.

ARTZ BACKERS LAUNCH DRIVE FOR CANDIDATE

Believing every problem coming before the county should receive the attention of a qualified business man, backers of Charles O. Artz, candidate for supervisor, well known Tustin business man and extensive property owner throughout the fifth district, today were preparing a final drive for the primary election August 26. Friends of Artz declare that while the county does not need remodeling, they do believe that the injection of new blood and new ideas into public offices will better county business.

They believe a man who has resided in the district and the county for 43 years, who has extensive property and business interests located in various parts of the district and who has established during a period of 25 years a reputation as a successful business man, can give unselfishly of his time and will devote his best efforts to the protection and advancement of the county and the district.

No better recommendation can be secured, his friends declare, than that of permanent residence and property interests, coupled with a business experience and a contact with the commercial world such as Artz has had.

"I promise, if elected," Artz said, "to give fair and honest consideration to every question upon its merits, and to serve the fifth district and Orange county to the best of my ability as a business man."

Young People Invited To Spend Evening in Cards and Dancing

A group of congenial young people found Miss Evangeline Wolford a delightful hostess last night, when they were invited to her home at 806 East Pine street, for an evening of cards and dancing.

The lavish use of garden flowers made the home doubly attractive, and formed a colorful background for the card tables arranged for a lively game of 500. In the contest, Miss Elizabeth Gillespie scored high among the girls, and received a lovely corsage flower ornament, while a davenport ash tray rewarded John Maring, scoring high among the young men. Amusing little joke gifts offered their consolation to Mrs. Clyde Stovall and Erhard Hegeman.

As a finale to the dancing of the later evening hours, Miss Wolford served an appetizing refreshment course to her guests, who included Mr. and Mrs. Florian Eickholt, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stovall, Miss Elizabeth Gillespie, Miss Gladys McDonald, Messrs. Erhard Hageman, John Maring, Vincent Borchard and Dan Jerry.

Tri-City Bridge Club Is Entertained By Orange Hostess

S. O. A. club members held a most enjoyable meeting yesterday, when Mrs. George Merriman entertained in her pleasant home in Orange. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock at small tables with bouquets of shell pink asters as the central decorative motif. The same lovely color effect was carried out in all appointments.

Bridge was played, and Mrs. W. Thompson was fortunate in holding high score, Mrs. George Merriman, second high, while Mrs. William Batt was content with low.

Members regretted that one of their group, Mrs. Daisy McGee, of Santa Ana, who is suffering with a nervous breakdown, was unable to be with them. However, it is expected that she will be sufficiently recovered by the next club meeting to entertain members in her home.

Those sharing the pleasant afternoon with Mrs. Merriman were Mesdames John Jiles, W. Thompson, Leland Eubank, L. Wagner, C. A. Sisson, of Anaheim, William Batt and F. W. Higgins of Orange.

Gold Star Mother Has Arrived For Visit With Daughter

Recently arriving in this city where she rejoined her husband to spend the fall and winter months with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Everett C. Hunter, 826 North Flower street, Mrs. Jeannie Forbes of Fairmont, Nebr., brought with her the poignant memories of her recent voyage to France, where as a Gold Star Mother, she made the heart-rending pilgrimage to the grave of her son, Lieutenant Earl Forbes, 20 Aero squadron of Nebraska, sleeping his "last long sleep" in the cross-starred cemetery of St. Mihiel.

Mrs. Forbes was a member of the first contingent of Gold Star Mothers sailing from New York on the United States liner America, and arriving in France in May. She carried with her, a pathetic little tribute, the last gift she might offer her boy—a handful of the rich brown soil of the Nebraska farm where his boyhood was spent. And to the soil of France, where her son's earthly remains will be transmuted into velvety green grass and bright-hued flowers, was added this bit of his home-land, that was so dear to him, that he gave it the best he had to offer—his clean and fearless young life.

A touching article, "Mothers Remember," written by Grace Robinson for a recent issue of the Liberty magazine, alludes at much length to Mrs. Forbes and her son, and tells in detail the gallant manner in which he went forth to meet death.

"She was gazing at a marble cross that marked the grave of a gallant aviator son," explained Miss Robinson. "For her the hopes and tragedies of the Great war lay buried with the slim, charred body of Lieutenant Earl Forbes.

"When she looks into the eastern horizon, she sees only a desperate battle in the air, 14,000 feet over the German line. She sees eight American planes in flaming combat with 16 German planes. Her boy is there, in a heavy bombing ship, not built for lightning-quick skirmishes in the sky.

"A plane is hit in the gas tank. In that plane are Richard Matthews and Everett Taylor. Another plane dives to its side—turns back from its chance of safety over the Allied lines, and tries to defend the beleaguered men in the Matthews-Taylor ship. In the rescue plane is Mrs. Forbes' son, Earl.

"Earl's plane, which strove so gallantly to assist, is shot by German bullets. There is the roar of explosion as the gas ignites, and down go two more aviators. One is Dave Harris, Earl's pilot, and one is Lieutenant Earl Forbes!

"A frightful nightmare! A thing that couldn't have happened. Why, Earl wasn't a military man. Only a little while before he'd been a student at the University of Nebraska, a quiet kind of boy, planning his career. When war came, he wanted to be a pilot. But he became an observer instead because the government needed observers—so many had been lost. And he had only two trips into Germany, 20 days in action, when he went down like a meteor on September 26, 1918."

Lieutenant Forbes is credited, in the list of air heroes at Washington, with having brought down one enemy plane, but that knowledge is not so tender a memory to Mrs. Forbes, as is the short message sent her by one of his companion aviators, "When I last saw Earl he was standing at his guns, firing at the enemy which was attacking in superior numbers."

So to Mrs. Forbes' heartache, is consolation in the knowledge that her boy went bravely to his fate, and her trip to France was a pilgrimage in which a mother's sorrow was mingled with a mother's pride in a son whose courageous young manhood proved equal to the supreme test which his country could ask.

Register Group Shares Supper and Gaiety Of Park Party

Any chance caller at the Register office yesterday who may have wondered at the air of suppressed excitement prevailing in every department, might have understood the reason had he been "among those present" in Irvine park last night, when members of the Register staff and their families comprised the largest of the many picnic groups seeking the delights of that sylvan spot.

The occasion was one of the frequent Register parties, and J. Frank Burke, owner and publisher, acted as host at the dinner, with members of the staff co-operating in making the affair a success.

All the involved details of getting out a daily paper were speeded up throughout the day, and early in the afternoon, the big plant was wrapped in silence as the staff sought the county park—an ideal place for such a gathering. An exciting ball game drew the attention of everyone to the ball grounds, where men of the editorial and business departments clashed with those of the composing room and mechanical department. Results were too sad to make public to the waiting world, which needs only be assured that the first named group won.

While the ball game was in progress, feminine members of the group divided their time between cheering the opposing teams and holding a bridge contest quite as exciting, if not as noisy. The supreme event of the outing however, was the baked ham supper served cafeteria style, with the girls of the staff serving, and Frank Rowe presiding over the coffee making.

Two of the long park tables were required for the diners, and presented a most inviting scene, the effect of which was heightened by great clusters of zinnias and sprays of honeysuckle brought by Mrs. J. Frank Burke from the gardens of her Panorama Heights home.

In the interval between supper and dancing, with which the evening closed, everyone enjoyed an impromptu program put on by the Very Small People of the party, with Master Bobby Perryman as master of ceremonies. The children were so lacking in self-consciousness, and were so serious in their varied numbers, that other picnickers in the park drew near to enjoy the entertainment.

Among the Register folk and their families and friends who shared the happy evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Burke and son, Franklin Burke; Mr. and Mrs. Loyal K. King, Mrs. Almina Herb, Mr. Burke's sister from Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Mason Yould and son, Philip, and nephew, Bobby Heath; Mr. and Mrs. W. Lee Millis and daughter, Betty Lee; Mr. and Mrs. T. R. "Hello Girls" Revel At Beach Party

Girls in the traffic department of the local telephone company were hosts to Corona girls last night, when they entertained at a wiener bake at Balboa Point. About 50 were present to share in the menu and the usual delights of the beach which followed it.

Some of those present enjoyed a stimulating dip in the ocean, while others preferred to bask in the blaze of the campfire and contribute to the stories and songs of the evening. To Mrs. Niel E. Meister and Miss Alice Upson goes the credit for successfully carrying out plans for the pleasant event.

Party Honoree Finds Her Engagement Is No Secret

Honoring Mrs. Marion Burdette, of this city, who this week will become the bride of Harvey Anderson of San Diego, was the daintily appointed party given last evening in the home of Miss Mary Bowyer, 560 Van Bibber street, Orange. The earlier part of the evening was spent mastering the hazards of the Dinky Links, after which the group adjourned to the Bowyer home, where bridge was enjoyed. As fate would will it, Mrs. Burdette held high score, and received an appropriate prize.

Refreshments were served at the prettily appointed long dining table, laid with Italian linen, and centered with a rose crystal bowl of rose and white asters. Rose crystal service completed the scheme. When guests delved into the depths of tiny rose nut cups, they found therein, small wedding rings, bearing the names of the young couple.

Although the event will be a surprise to Mrs. Burdette's many friends in this city, it remained a greater surprise to the honoree as to how the secret escaped, as preparations for the approaching wedding have been made with the utmost quietness, even securing the marriage license in another county.

Guests present last evening in addition to the guest of honor, Mrs. Marion Burdette, and the hostess, Miss Mary Bowyer, were Miss Ruth Hilyard, Miss Bishop, Miss Doris Bowyer, Miss Eleanor Bowyer, Miss Juanita Wallace and Miss Mary Louise Wallace.

A better location could not have been asked for, as the beach was unusually clean, and the ocean was only a short block away.

About 30 members gathered to participate in the evening's pleasures, and after all had consumed a great deal of the delicious pot-luck supper, they sat around the bonfire, exchanging stories and adventures and singing.

Surprise Party Given As Farewell For Miss Christie

Surprising to the fullest extent, Miss Lola Christie, popular among the younger set in Santa Ana, who will leave tomorrow for her home in Centerville, Ia., was the delightful affair planned last evening by her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. deWolf, with whom she has been staying for the past year.

The group of young friends first met at the home of Miss Ramona Smith on South Ross street, from where they motored to Balboa, to the pretty beach home of their hosts. Guests were greeted with a sign on the door telling them to walk in, for in the meantime, the honoree had been taken for a stroll. Upon her return she was surprised and delighted to find a host of friends assembled to greet her.

Bridge was made interesting by the use of clever tallies bearing piquant pirate maids, and merry faced clowns. Prizes for high score were awarded Miss Ruth Beemer and Joe McChesney, while low score went to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walworth. Other interesting card games followed during the evening. Variety was given by a humorous reading by Miss June Arnold.

Dinner In Irvine Park Is Preliminary to Bridge Session

Among the scores of merry parties which last night found setting in Irvine park, none was more enjoyable than that which called together the members of a congenial bridge club, who shared a picnic dinner planned by Mr. and Mrs. Reeves Aylmore, later enjoying the hospitality of the Aylmore home at 2129 Greenleaf street.

Arriving at the park in the early evening, the group shared the magic twilight hour with scores of other picnickers, who watched the long shadows steal in and out through the festooning vines and the giant liveoaks. One long table which commanded a view of the whole animated scene, was chosen for the serving of the varied menu. Places were indicated by a gay little fan-shaped cards which later did service as tally cards in the bridge games.

Mrs. Aylmore used quantities of garden flowers to make her home attractive as a rendezvous for the diners, and a lively session of bridge was enjoyed. Mrs. A. G. Flagg and Joseph Warner were fortunate in securing, and were awarded the prizes selected by the hosts.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Aylmore, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Dr. and Mrs. Claude Olewiler, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Allen and Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Kilbourne.

The hostess had arranged an attractive setting of zinnias in a variety of colors, and the tallies and score pads carried out an intriguing futuristic motif. Mrs. G. F. Ludlow held high score, while Mrs. W. Roy Waldren was consoled. A delectable refreshment course concluded the pleasant evening.

Those present, other than the hostess, Mrs. John Turton, were Mesdames G. F. Ludlow, Wilbur Getty, Everett Cornecl, Clifford Thatcher, Kenneth Stowe, James Board, W. Roy Waldren, Edward Ehlen, Ralph Mitchell, Elmer Snyder, and one guest, Mrs. Roy Gowdy.

Save Your Health and Be Happy

I admire intensely one who has the courage to live life intelligently, sanely, effieiently, and at the same time, pleasurably.

To do so one must have a well developed will power; no one admires the individual who blows hot, then cold, and is a proverbial fence sitter. To illustrate my statements allow me to quote from the letter of a woman who is now reaping the harvest of "sane and safe" diet habits. She says in part:

"I am now 65 and this summer have been able to paint my house ontside and inside, and do lots of work in the yard. I use no meat but take one and one-half pints of milk each day. The pint I drink for lunch with a big dish of fruit, the rest of the milk goes into a custard for dinner.

"I use a raw egg in the milk for lunch, and for breakfast I eat two slices of toast with a dash of jelly, and one boiled egg. For dinner I have a BIG plate of lettuce salad and some cooked vegetable other than potatoes.

"I use no potatoes and with so little bread have no symptoms of high blood pressure."

The law jails people who deliberately steal; what a pity there is no human law to punish the individual who steals his own health and thus destroys his life and his economic value to his country.

TODAY'S RECIPE

The Gardens of Spain
(A Luncheon Salad)

2 heads solid lettuce
1 can of pimiento
Orange fruit moulds
French and mayonnaise dressings
Cold sliced chicken breast

If home-cooked cold chicken is not at hand, don't forget that the choicest of chicken white meat is available at your grocer's, put up in glass containers of several sizes.

The jellied fruit moulds must be made several hours before the salad is needed. For six moulds take one-half envelope of orange jelly powder and for most of the liquid use the juice from the can of pineapple.

In the moulds put thin slices of orange, some seeded white grapes, and thin slivers of pineapple. And lemon juice to the jelly to suit your taste, fill up the moulds and chill till set.

At serving time arrange the choicest of the yellow heart lettuce leaves on plates. Put thin slices of chicken on the lettuce and garnish them strips of the pimiento. Pour French dressing over this part of the salad, then put the moulds of jellied fruit on top of the salad, garnish with whipped cream mayonnaise and serve immediately.

This good looking salad would be fine for a bridge luncheon, a supper party, or it would serve beautifully as the entree for a formal dinner party.

Each salad has a calory value of 365, half of which will be found in the salad dressings, distinct energy-making food.

The leaflet on cleaning upholstered furniture is available free of charge all this week if you will just send us a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Santa Ana Girls Home From Summer Camp

Enthusiastic over the success of the Queen Esther summer camp which was held from August 2 to 11 at the Pacific Palisades, a number of local girls of the First M. E. church and the Richland Avenue M. E. church have returned to their homes here after attending the annual convention of the organization. The girls are the Misses Jeannette Lutes, Betty Heil, Dorothy Grizzle, Helen Wiesseman, Ruth Beemer, Margaret Guthrie, Isabel McCormac, Katherine Budd, Katherine Bement ,Caroline Cushing, Marguerite Lewis, Evelyn Fairley, and Irene Boyer.

Acting as conference queen of the camp was Miss Margaret Guthrie, of the First Methodist Circle, who was crowned at an impressive service held on August 3.

On of the most popular leaders present was Miss Katherine Maurer, "the Angel of Angel Island," whom the girls refer to as their inspiration. Miss Ethel Ristine headed the camp as dean, and was assisted by an exceptionally capable faculty. Others assisting with the programs were Geoffrey Morgan, Madame Ellen Beach Yaw, noted soprano, Mrs. Daniel Dundas, and Mrs. Fred C. Croyell of Glendale.

Girls of the First M. E. church are anticipating their year's program, which will begin September 22 when they will be guests of Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman.

'SONG OF MY HEART' BIG ENTERTAINMENT

Hundreds of people in Santa Ana have been thrilled by the perfect record made of his great voice for the screen, while there are just as many more who have thrilled at the plot of the show which can not be said to be inferior to the singing itself.

McCormack sings 11 different songs in the film, and while that is more singing than is heard in most pictures being made today, McCormack wll never tire any audience with his singing. There are pictures where the action is stopped so that some singer can sing, but not in "Song of My Heart." The action goes on as ever, and the songs fit in as a part of the romance.

All in all, "Song of My Heart" is one of the greatest entertainments that has been brought to Santa Ana this year. It is a romance with McCormack playing the part of a lover who is forced to give his girl to another man.

A Fox Movietone news reel, together with an all-talking comedy and other short subjects also are shown.

"LET US BE GAY" STAR

Norma Shearer, famous Metro Goldwyn Mayer star, who opens Greater Talkie Season here tomorrow in her latest 1930-31 picture, "Let Us Be Gay." The picture is the first produced by M. G. M. this year and is said to give Miss Shearer the best opportunity she has had in pictures. The film will show at the theater Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

CYRIL MAUDE HERE IN FAMOUS 'GRUMPY'

Cyril Maude, famous stage star of international fame, comes to the Fox West Coast theater Saturday and Sunday in his first all-talking picture "Grumpy," a play in which he has appeared 1300 times on the stage.

"Grumpy" is a Paramount production and one of the biggest pictures that Paramount has made this year. It is really the first of the Greater Talkie Season shows to come to the Fox West Coast theater.

"Grumpy" is a comedy thriller. The story is novel and entertaining, hinged on the character of a lovable, grouchy old tyrant. The plot of the story concerns the stealing of a valuable diamond entrusted to the man whom Grumpy's granddaughter is in love with.

How Grumpy turns detective and routes out the thief, saving his daughter's lover and how he waxes from an old grouch to a lovable old man are the highlights of the production.

The picture is the kind of entertainment that will appeal to any kind of an audience. The kids will love him. They will laugh at him and they will make fun of him but they will love the character just the same. The grown ups will love his disposition and at the same time will recognize in him one of the greatest character actors they have ever seen.

'HALLELUJAH' FIRST ALL-NEGRO PICTURE

Vivid drama, haunting music and the quaint old traditions of the South all blend into what is probably the most daring and interesting venture in motion pictures in history—King Vidor's "Hallelujah," first all-Negro film drama in history, which closes tonight at Walker's State.

Filmed in original locales, in the cotton fields of the Mississippi, near Memphis, Tenn., and with the spirituals and haunting Negro "blues," chants heard along the levees and odd folk song, all genuinely of the race, embellishing the speaking sequences, the new picture is an intimate study of the people, aside from being a gripping human interest play.

FALL STYLE REVIEW TO DRAW CROWDS

A complete sell-out of the Broadway theater on Friday night is expected with the added attraction of the Santa Ana Sample Shop's annual Fall Style Review, which will be shown between the first and second shows at the theater.

Two score of guests, who are among the leading citizens of the city and county have been invited to attend the show and many of them will be introduced. Aside from the actual showing of some of the latest imported creations, several acts of vaudeville also have been scheduled for the show.

The styles will be shown by eight professional Hollywood models, the clothes being of the Fanchon and Marco mode, of which the Sample shop here is the exclusive dealers.

Fall coats, fall evening dresses, many of which are imported to the United States and a number of sport models are included in the showing of the new garments. Six changes are to be made by the various models.

L. B. Valuation $3,346,045; Tax Rate Fixed At $1

11 STREET BIDS PRESENTED TO CITY COUNCIL

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 14.—The assessed valuation of property within the city limits of Laguna Beach is $3,346,045.

This is the figure used in the ordinance given two readings Wednesday evening by the city council in which the tax rate for the coming fiscal year is set at $1, the same as has been used in previous years.

Adoption of the resolution calling a city election on acceptance of the petition submitted by property owners asking that one be called tentatively sets the date for September 23, this allowing for publication of notices and other preliminaries. The amount asked is $20,000.

Eleven contractors submitted bids for the improvement of streets on the cliffs and in the Cody tract, with Gribble & Burke, Glendale, apparently lowest bidders, at approximately $140,000. One of the contractors later said that had bids been let two weeks earlier a lower figure estimated by him $10,000 less, could have been made, as materials are now advancing and are likely to continue to do so. The check of bids will be ready for report to the council next Wednesday.

Robert Mize, Santa Ana attorney, representing Howard G. Heisler, asked the council's opinion as to permitting use of Heisler point as a campground as now used. Councilmen McCrea, McMillan and Champion were opposed. Clapp believed that if the owner wished, tents should be allowed. Mize also drew attention to encroachments on city property by the camp ground, by the sanitary department and by a refreshment stand operated by J. Gibson. He thought the city should take steps to assert its right. City Engineer Frank Gowan was instructed to run lines to ascertain boundaries. A new lease is to be made with the Bank of Italy, Mr. Mize informed the council, this being the reason for obtaining an expression of sentiment from the council.

He was rushed to the San Clemente hospital by Roy Divel's ambulance. He was treated by Dr. Garnet B. Grant for broken ribs and a fractured pelvis.

Joyous Foot Bath Then Lift Out CORNS

Root and All—Out to Stay!

Two tablespoonfuls of that amazing refreshing and foot invigorating Radox to one gallon of water makes a footbath which after 3 or 4 night's soaking lifts out aching, maddening corns, callouses, too—root and all.

Radox softens the hard outer layers of corn—and oxygen which Radox liberates, enters the pores, each night penetrating further and further, carrying the salts right to root of corn which can be lifted out bodily.

Wonderful to take out pain and burning and refresh tired feet!

Get a package of Radox at Mateer's Drug Store or any drug store and know the joyous comfort of corn and callous free feet—Radox is the modern, scientific method to remove corns which completely eliminates old fashioned plasters, dangerous cutting, skin destroying acids and obsolete methods.—Adv.

With the receipt of the donation the plans for the parsonage were changed and two more rooms are to be added, the arrangement making a large living room, dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms and bath in the home.

The improvement consists of the following street work:: On West Center between Los Angeles and Lemon streets, widening of roadway to a width of 57.5 feet by removal of present curb and a portion of the sidewalk on both sides, and grading to official grade; construction of standard concrete sidewalk, curb, and gutter along both sides, gutters to extend from new curb to edge of present roadway pavement; removing present street lighting standards and constructing new ornamental street lighting system along both sides, using two-light cast iron standards of the Anaheim design.

FARM CENTER IN PLACENTIA C. OF C. TOPIC

PLACENTIA, Aug. 14.—Plans for a Placentia Farm center were discussed at the regular meeting of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce Tuesday. The matter was introduced by H. H. Hale.

"It may be we are so successful we have become conceited and think we do not need help," Hale said, "but there is much interesting information to be obtained at such meetings as they have at Yorba Linda and Garden Grove."

H. O. Easton, Louis Jacobson, Weston Smith were among those who talked in favor of forming a Placentia Farm center, and R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the farm bureau, stated that the Fullerton members would favor a separate center for each community. Flaherty and Eric Eastman have been working for two days on the proposition, interviewing men who might be interested.

It was reported that County Engineer Nat Neff and County Surveyor Warren Hillyard were working on the extension of Melrose street south to Orangethrop, and that the right of way was being staked out to show the amount of grade and fill necessary. It was said that while the cut at Crowther street would be seven feet, at the Bielefeldt property it would be 30 inches or under.

Frank Rospaw reported on the hearing of the Motor Transit request for extension of service at Los Angeles.

R. D. Flaherty announced the meeting of the Orange County Forest Protective association at Orange this evening, when plans for forming a system of protection for rural districts will be discussed. NEW QUARTERS FOR EMPLOYES OF BEACH CITY

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 14.—That the city's business is too scattered and should be concentrated was the opinon expressed by Councilman McMillan at the council session last night. He moved that the building used by the police department be so remodeled as to permit placing offices for the city engineer, city treasurer, city clerk and building inspector in it. This was finally authorized without opposition.

When Councilman McCrea moved that City Engineer Gowan be made superintendent of streets City Clerk G. W. Prior pointed out that A. J. Stead is now holding that position and to have another would result in confusion of titles. In the ensuing discussion it was discovered that to declare the position vacant might interfere with the legal requirements. Finally it was adjusted by placing Mr. Gowan in control of all employes engaged in street, sewer and park work, without giving him any particular title in this respect.

Possibility of delay in letting the contract for the work on streets on the cliffs was seen in the assertion by Mayor Bishop that there might be more work in the plans and specifications than is absolutely needed. The matter was laid over for a week for investigation pending the action in letting the contract.

FORESTRY WORK OUTLINED FOR ORANGE GROUP

ORANGE, Aug. 14. — Several speakers outlined the work being done along the lines of forest protection at a meeting of the Orange County Forest Protective association held in the American Legion clubhouse last night the meeting following dinner, served by the American Legion auxiliary.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A copy of the letter sent to postoffice and fire department and newspaper in Orange county by the Orange County Farm bureau July 2, was read.

Joe Sherman, state ranger for Orange county, reported 15 fires to date this year. He expressed appreciation for the co-operation he had received from ranchers, Orange county road department, farm bureau, Forest Protective association members and others.

H. S. Gilman, member of the state forestry board, from San Dimas, outlined the work of the state forestry board, pointing out the importance and relationship of forestry work to water conservation. The speaker said, "California has 20,000,000 acres of lands within the national forest with an additional 20,000,000 acres in virgin timber, cut over timber, brush covered water sheds and other areas under the jurisdiction of the State Forestry board, 5,000,000 of the last 20,000,000 is in Southern California. The crop from this total acres of 40,000,000 acres is timber and water with a by-product of recreation. The state of California owns very little timber land."

Mr. Gilman made a plea for the development of a state consciousness of the importance of creating a state owned timber area. The state forestry protective budget is approximately $280,000. It will need to be increased to $1,000,000 to provide adequate protection. It is hoped to accomplish this by 1935, Gilman said.

W. H. Coupe, state forestry inspector, was the next speaker. He expressed the belief that progress was being made in fire prevention. The trip through the Southland last fall of the state forestry board created a big change in the attitude of members of the board from northern California. Prior to this time, they had felt the brush covered hills to be of no value, but now realize their importance from a water shed and re-creational standpoint, Coupe declared.

Williard Smith, chairman of the board of supervisors, stated that the supervisors were conscious of the importance of fire protection work and were cooperating to the fullest extent with the state and the federal government.

Nelander, state forest ranger, of Riverside county, reported that their fire truck and pumper had cut down their burned acreage last year very materially and also reduced the cost of fire suppression. He reported instances where the truck and pumper had made it possible to save buildings, stacks of hay and other property when they were in direct contact with fires.

W. M. Cory, acting farm advisor, pointed out that if trucks were secured for Orange county, it would be necessary to secure places throughout Orange county where water could be obtained when needed.

H. R. Valentine, federal ranger for Cleveland National forest, spoke on the new regulations controlling hunting within the boundaries of the national forest and the game reserve within the boundaries of the Cleveland National forest, pointing out that under the change in this law it is unlawful to possess firearms or hunt on federal land or private land located within the boundaries of this game reserve. Inasmuch as this area was a dangerous and very hazardous from a fire standpoint it would be necessary for the federal service to enforce this regulation to the letter, Valentine said.

The association, while taking no action on Valentine's statements, expressed unanimous approval of his deteminations to enforce this hunting question.

Roy Bishop, past president of the Orange County Farm bureau, was introduced and pointed out that there were 35 licensed power supply outfits in this county that could be called upon in case of emergency.

K. P. Carter, member of the Los Angeles County Forestry department, reported 86 fires in Los Angeles county to date. Facts presented were: There were 36 fires during the month of June. The largest one burned about 200 acres. Truck and pumper equipment were used in 21 fires. These are 600-gallon tank trucks, carrying tools and equipment. It is hard to estimate the number of buildings and value of property saved already this year by this truck equipment.

R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the farm bureau, reported on water activities of the farm bureau and the trend of water legislation in adjoining states.

Many others present spoke briefly of various subpects. The question of trying to secure truck and tank equipment for Orange county came in for considerable discussion. The committee authorized at the last meeting was appointed by President Ragan as follows: Frank Colling, chairman, John Osterman, Mr. Luce.

ORANGE FIREMEN'S CANINE LIKES TO CHASE DOLLARS

ORANGE, Aug. 14.—Pal, the canine mascot of the Orange firemen, is a "dollar chaser," in the most literal sense, for the clever little dog readily distinguishes a dollar from a half dollar and considers smaller coins beneath his notice.

William Vickers, truck driver, is responsible for the training the dog has received. When Vickers rolls a dollar down the sidewalk, at the first clink of the coin, Pal is in pursuit and even if the dollar has rolled in the grass at the edge of the walk, he does not give up his search until he has found it.

After Pal has been chasing dollars it is difficult for him to consider finding a half dollar, and he watches it disdainfully as it rolls away from him. However, if Vickers assures Pal that no more dollars are forthcoming, he reluctantly goes after the half dollar and brings it to the fireman. Smaller coins than this Pal likes to ignore and unless forced to do so, will not bring them back if they are rolled down the walk.

Pal knows a number of other tricks and will flip a coin from his nose at any count Vickers designates. If Vickers says "Stop when I reach two," up goes the coin, and the process is repeated when any other number is designated and the fireman begins counting.

Pal's mother was an Australian shepherd and he is the lovely light brown of this breed of dog. From his terrier father he inherits his small size and his quick darting movements.

The former mascot of the fire department was "Jiggs", a china-eyed bull dog, whose ability to roll over and over on command Pal also imitates.

3 COMPLAINTS ON TAX RATES BEFORE BOARD

ORANGE, Aug. 14.—But three complaints were received by the members of the city council sitting as a board of equalization at the city hall. Yesterday's session completed the board meetings as no further complaints were received.

The complaints filed were from George L. Bates, civil engineer and rancher of this city; Ralph Goddard and H. G. Lembcke. Bates presented a blanket request from a number of ranchers for a reduction in the rate used to determine assessed valuations of ranch property within the corporate limits of the city.

Bates asked that the county rate of 33 1-3 per cent be used instead of the 50-cent rate used in the assessments computed by Paul Clark, city assessor.

The request was taken under investigation and at a conference with County Assessor James Sleeper, the members of the board were informed that two rates in the city, one for ranch and one for business property, would be unconstitutional.

Ralph Goddard's request for an adjustment in his personal property assessment was granted. H. G. Lambcke told the board that he was being assessed for a three-foot strip of land which had been dedicated to the city when the street was paved. Lembcke was assured that a way to remedy his complaint would be worked out.

The city's tax assessment roll, a sum of $8,608,295, was adopted and will be used for setting the new tax rate Sept. 1.

CAN REFORM 'EM

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—From 10 to 25 per cent of criminals can be reformed with the right treatment, according to opinions of wardens given to Commissioner of Correction Patterson. Nearly all opinions agreed that segregation of prisoners and plenty of work were necessary to bring about their reformation.

COMPLETE WORK ON ORANGE FIRE TRUCK

ORANGE, Aug. 14.—The old fire truck at the fire department was returned yesterday fitted with new tires and otherwise renovated. The work on the truck, which is an American La France, was done in Los Angeles. The truck was bought by the city in 1920 and was sent to the factory to have the wheels cut down to fit pneumatic tires.

The piece of apparatus has a 1000-gallon pumping capacity per minute. A 60-gallon booster tank now replaces the old sodic acid tank and the truck is now in fine condition.

Water thrown from the pressure tank will not destroy anything with which it comes in contact as the acid formerly did, according to Fire Chief A. L. Tomblin.

The value of the annual harvest of fish along Alaska's 26,000 miles of seacoast is nearly $50,000,000.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

While looking up and down the street who should the Tinies chance to meet but one fine little fellow who was smiles from ear to ear. "Oh, look," cried Carpy, "that looks grand. He has some melon in his hand. I've eaten them at home. I didn't know they had them here."

"Why, sure they have and they're real good," replied the Travel Man. "You should just taste a piece and, by the way, I guess I'll buy 'bout two. We'll cut them up in slices and each hold a slice right in our hand. I know that two will be enough for everyone of you."

They found a fruit store right nearby and shortly heard the owner cry, "Fine melons! They are very cheap. Come, let me sell you some. I'll cut them up, all set to eat and you will find they are a treat." "You bet we want some," Clowny cried. "Start slicing. Here we come!"

Into the store they promptly went and all ate their hearts' content. The man then told them of a well that was not far away. Said he, "It's wonderful, we think, and there you all can get a drink. If there's a line-up waiting you can loaf around and play.

"We thank you," Scouty said and then the whole bunch went ahead and found the well. A group of men were standing at its side. The Travel Man said, "When they're through with drinking, that's what we will do." The Tinies found the water very cooling, when 'twas tried.

Some big oil cans stood by the well. A man was kind enough to tell the Tinies that folks used to use big crocks in days of old. "But now they use these cans," said he. "They're just as handy as can be. They're easier to carry and they keep the water cold."

RULES:

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters can not be changed.

ART TREASURES OF CHINA ARE STILL INTACT

BY D. C. BESS
United Press Staff Correspondent

PEIPING, Aug. 14.—(UP)—The vast treasures of Chinese art objects in the Palace museums in Peiping are entirely intact and reports widely published that Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang carried away some of the most valuable pieces are false, according to the findings of a commission of Chinese and foreign experts who have been going over the lists of Palace museum possessions.

Competent Chinese connoisseurs served on the commission, and Dr. J. C. Ferguson, American student of Chinese language and art, acted as adviser. The commission found nothing of importance missing from the lists, which have been kept fairly complete, and pre-dated the departure of Marshal Feng from Peiping in 1926, when the alleged looting is said to have taken place.

The story, first printed in Chicago newspapers, and later appearing in English and American papers, described how Marshal Feng's subordinates had come at night to the entrance of the Forbidden City, where the museum treasures are kept, and that a long train of camels had been loaded heavily and had gone out toward Mongolia. "Eye witnesses" were quoted who had seen the camels loading objects carried from the museum enclosures.

Foreign correspondents attempted to verify this story, and one foreigner was found who said he had also seen the mysterious camel train, and that the museums had been looted. Although the story had been re-published at intervals ever since 1926, Marshal Feng or his American-educated assistants never have bothered to contradict it. So far as is known, Marshal Feng never has commented upon the story at all, and foreign correspondents hesitated to ask him outright if it were true.

It therefore has been believed generally that Marshal Feng had carried off some of the most valuable jades, porcelains, lacquers, Chinese paintings and embroideries from the museum, with the intention of selling them to support his armies. The investigations of the museum commission indicate that this belief has been entirely unjustified.

If the museum lists may be believed, and there seems no reason to disbelieve them, the palace treasures taken over from the Manchus when they abdicated hardly have been touched during the frequent sudden and unexpected changes of government in Peiping. The museum still retains its most precious pieces.

A large sum of money has been spent during the past few weeks in renovating the palace museums, of which there is a whole series, and in bringing out some of the interesting pieces hitherto kept in storage. The palace treasures are so abundant that there is not room, even in the dozens of display rooms to show them at once.

The most interesting of the new collections on view is that of the "favorite curios of the Emperor Chien-lung." This emperor, third of the Manchu rulers, was a distinguished patron of Chinese art, and established imperial factories making almost every kind of Chinese art and handicrafts. There are several hundred pieces in this little collection, covering porcelains, bronzes, lacquers, ivories and jades.

EYES ARE ON CALIFORNIA

The selection of Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, of West Virginia, at the head of the women's division of the Republican national committee, should be noted. Mrs. Yost is a member of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and is their national representative at Washington.

The appointment of a militant "dry" at the head of the women's division of the Republican National Committee is another evidence that the national administration is determined to organize from top to bottom for the support of the Constitution and the law, and let the world know it. This appointment comes from the National chairman of the Republican party, Senator S. D. Fess. Senator Fess is a "dry," and has been his entire life. As his right hand helper in directing the movements of the National Republican Committee, he selects one of the driest people in the nation.

It suggests that the issue is clearly drawn. It shows there is a seriousness on the part of those who are planning for the future which should be encouraging to every one who believes in the Eighteenth Amendment. It suggests also that the voters of California should so vote on the 26th of August as to sustain the president in his position, and to serve notice upon the country that California backs him up thoroughly in his position.

Should the mayor of San Francisco be selected as the standard bearer of the Republican party in California this year, it would be flashed over the wires, not that there had been a division in the prohibition forces which resulted in the "wet" slipping in, but it would be stated in every paper in the country outside of California that the Republican party had selected a liberal, a "wet" from the "wet" headquarters at San Francisco, thereby repudiating the President's law enforcement program and the President himself. It would be said that the people of California were joining with those of New Jersey in a proposal to put a "wet" plank in the Republican platform and present a "wet" man as a candidate to run on such a platform. We do not believe the people of California will vote to so help them out.

With an increasing number of students swimming the historic Hellespont each year, it won't be long now before they organize a creek-letter fraternity.

THREE RECORDS BROKEN

On the first page of the paper this morning there were three records that were broken. One was the endurance record aloft, being made by Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brine at St. Louis. These men had passed by 14 hours the record made by the Hunter brothers of Sparta, Illinois, at Chicago, last month. They are headed toward a greater goal. This endurance record primarily determines the character of the engine. With these records being made, confidence is gaining in the power and ability of the motor to perform the relatively easy task of passing over the wastes of water of the Atlantic or the Pacific.

Another record broken was that of looping the loop in an airplane. This was done by Miss Laura Ingalls, who rolled over 714 times, breaking the record held by Dale Jackson, who is one of the endurance flyers at St. Louis, by more than 297 loops.

The third record broken, which appeared on the first page of the paper is the time of the Coast-to-Coast flight. This time it has been reduced to 12 hours and 25 minutes and three seconds. The record broken was that of Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, who flew across the continent in 14 hours and 45 minutes.

All of these records were airplane records. It would appear that the possibilities with the airplane have not by any means been reached. We are prepered for any records now. The speed with which people can move from one point to another certainly is such that it will soon solve some of our problems of congestion in our great cities. The difficulty of landing airplanes in the center of congestion will also be solved soon.

THE HELICOPTER TESTED

Maitland Bleecker, inventor, the other day made a successful test of his helicopter. An outdoor test scheduled for several weeks ago was postponed when the motor developed an oil leak. After the leak was repaired, Mr. Bleecker became too impatient to await the outdoor test and tied a rope to the fuselage of the machine which would prevent it from crashing against the roof of the hangar and started his flight upward. The small plane rose high enough to insure success, at least in the vertical portion of the flight, when the outdoor tests are conducted.

The perfection of a means for rising and landing in a small space is exceedingly important. Airplanes can today cut down the time factor tremendously but there still remains the trip from the landing field to the centers of population. Until a practical landing space atop tall buildings is constructed or the heliocopter is proved practical, the airplane for short distance trips, such as commuting, will have its drawbacks.

Thousands of people are spending two hours a day journeying back and forth from their places of business to their homes, many spend even more in this way. If this expenditure of time could be cut down to half an hour a day by the use of airplanes it would mean the saving of some of the most precious time there is, either that spent with the family, or, for the man obsessed with business, that spent in the office.

MANY VISITORS

According to A. C. Fleury, supervisor officer of the state border quarantine stations, 109,073 autos entered California during the month of July. The number exceeds that of July 1929 by 17,528.

Of course some of these autos contained visiting Californians returning to their home state. But by a conservative estimate, two hundred thousand people probably visited in our state during July alone. Many of these people returned to their homes with a new ambition: to ultimately return to California either when their fortunes are made and they retire or when they can relieve themselves of their business affairs and transfer their substance to California. We don't need tourist bureaus to "sell" California. The state sells itself. It remains for us only to be polite and honest in our dealings with the stranger who visits here, and not spoil the sale.

In particular there should be a little more politeness on the road. Two different parties, who have arrived in California in the last year or two have spoken of the daze they were in when motoring about the first few weeks. Everyone was rushing, the road signs were difficult to read on the run, and being unfamiliar with the roads they had to read them all. Then when they would slow down the better to read a sign, some of those who went around them would yell at them contemptuously because the uncertain traveling of the stranger put them out a little. Sometimes people forget to conceal their annoyance with the stranger who is of necessity uncertain and slow. We would be just as he is in his section of the country.

Prohibition agents are instructed to use brains instead of force in their work hereafter. This will arouse resentment among detectives who are thought to have a monopoly on the method.

A CHICAGO JUDGE

A judge in Chicago has asked the police officers of that city to go out and round up the hoodlums, thugs and gangsters, and he says:

I'll show you that hoodlums can be thrown in a cell. These fellows will have a lot of lawyers. If necessary, I'll throw them in jail, too. You don't have to be afraid. They can't sue you. I will take the responsibility and if necessary lay my decisions in the lap of the Appellate Court and the Supreme courts.

We don't know just how the court plans to perform this service for Chicago, or how he can set himself up as a jury as well as a judge in the case of charges against these men. We believe in all of the institutions made for the purpose of bringing convictions, and at the same time safeguarding the person and property of the individual. If this judge has found some means of ridding Chicago, and hence other cities, of the gangster murderers, it will be worth observing.

A Musical L'Aiglon

Christian Science Monitor

The striking thing about the career of Siegfried Wagner is the courage and abnegation with which, when he realized that he was not destined to become a composer of his father's quality, he devoted himself to the propagation of Richard Wagner's great music dramas. Named after his father's favorite operatic hero, Siegfried Wagner started his musical career under the double handicap of two famous names. Richard advised his son to study architecture, Siegfried did so, but could not resist the urge to music. He composed thirteen operas and attained success as a conductor, especially of his father's works.

His principal achievement, however, was in establishing, as an aide to his mother, the Bayreuth festivals, and, above all, in restoring them to success after the ten-year interval of silence that began with the World war. In 1924 he visited the United States for a musical tour, and made enough money to justify him in reopening the festivals. Since then, by indefatigable labor, he has restored them to their early prestige. Thus his life, which might have been embittered by failure, was brought to achievement through service to the fame of the greater man who was his father.

N. E. A. Editorial

Add another tribute to the already glorious record of 17-year-old Dorothy Dell Goff of New Orleans, who was chosen "the world's most beautiful girl" at a recent Galveston beauty pageant; she's truthful.

For Dorothy—beautiful, but by no means dumb—candidly admits that washing dishes gives her a great big pain and cooking is something she despises. A more romantic and less straight-forward beauty contest winner would prate for hours over her alleged joys in puttering around the kitchen, as most of them have done in interviews.

It's the customary thing for newly-crowned feminine celebrities to pose as neat little home-makers, but when you come right down to it no girl likes to cook and wash dishes any better than a boy likes to carry out the furnace ashes or mow the lawn. Therefore, Dorothy is to be congratulated on having the courage to speak out.

Sure, there's a lot of romance in home making . . . but that doesn't include cooking in a hot kitchen . . . or mopping bathroom floors . . . or bathing a stock of dirty dishes almost as high as one's self after every meal.

If you don't believe it, just ask any housewife.

Oakland Tribune

It is going to be difficult to check up on the story of Li Ching Wan who announces, modestly, he is 253 year old. Way off in Man Chow, Li has heard of Agha Zaro, the presumptuous Kurd who boasts a mere 156 years, and Lo has spoken.

As an honorable man tells no fibs, and Li Ching Wan has been known for years as one of undoubted probity, there is no need, in his opinion, for supporting details. He makes the assertion and if there are any doubters, let them prove their points.

What Mr. Zaro—and the "Agha" means something like "mister"—will have to say concerning the claims of the Chinese ancient should prove interesting. And let Trader Horn come out and say he overlooked mentioning in his books that he was born in 1601. Until then Li Ching Wan gets the medal and it is considered impolite to remark of the coincidence that the first part of his name is "Li."

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE SUBSTITUTES

The thrushes have departed;
Their youth has had its fling
The robins, weary hearted,
Find no more time to sing,
The blue-birds briskly flutter
Beneath the August sky,
But not a note they utter
To cheer the passer-by.

But voices still are sounding
Throughout the summer day,
And music is abounding
Hard by and far away,
For in the fields and thickets
And down the country lanes
The locusts and the crickets
Are piping their refrains.

They never seem to weary
Or grow morose nor glum,
Their ditties, bright and cheery
Will sound till frost has come,
From wood to pasture winging,
From garden, dell and glade
By day and night they're singing
Their merry serenade.

Perhaps they are not gifted
But still it's good to hear,
Their chirping lays uplifted
In music far and near.
Far better minor trilling
But still, till comes the Fall
Far better minor thrilling

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Nick Getty, 14, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., got the impression, from reading the papers, that everybody who amounted to anything entered some kind of an endurance contest. "Shipwreck" Kelly was the immediate inspiration. It seems that "Shipwreck," who had been sitting on flag poles in general all his life, decided to sojourn this summer on the breezy tip of a particular flag pole in Atlantic City.

We wonder that Nicky Getty did not take advantage of the unique opportunities offered by his home town. He might have established a new world's record for enduring exclamations of bridal couples on first seeing Niagara Falls.

But no; that would not do. With "Shipwreck" Kelly as his hero, Nick decided that he would show the world who could stay up a tree longest. Inadvertently, he chose a neighbor's tree. The good neighbor aided and abetted Nick's aerial ambition until the ground crews, and refueling teams, and contact men blocked the way to his garage. Then the neighbor instituted removal proceedings.

"Nick was saved from a forced landing," we read, "only by the ingenuity of his ground staff, who cut a limb from another tree, held it up for him to climb on to, and carried him triumphant to a new arboreal perch."

But how can little Nick hope to win the prize for staying up a tree, when whole industries have been competing for that prize for many years. The textile industry, for example, has been up a tree so long that few can remember when it last had its feet on the ground. It may yet establish a new world's record for profitless operations.

The contest is on. The leather industry is proving a keen rival. The farmers, too, are worthy contenders; more so than ever, now that Federal funds are providing them with new incentives to over produce.

How long will this go on? Will the contestants endure until they find forced landings in the bankruptcy courts? Probably not. We have an idea that some of them will decide, after a while, to leave such childish stunts to Nick Getty and his little playmates. In one industry after another, the competitors will get tired of seeing who can stay up a tree longest. When that time comes they will get together and find ways, no doubt, of keeping their feet on the ground.

Pop was trying to make his new cigar lighter werk and ma sed, Willyum, everybody we know has been to the automobeel show and we havent.

Its a grate thing to be original in this standardized age, pop sed. Original nuthing, everybody is tawking about nuthing but the automobeel show and we're just out of the conversation like a cupple of strangers.

Anybody with a grain of imagination can tawk about motor cars, pop sed. The next time somebody mentions the bewtiful lines of such and such a car, just throw a little bluff and reel off a few tecknical terms, and youll leeve them gasping.

Yes no doubt, but where am I going to get the tecknical terms? ma sed.

Make them up, my deer, pop sed. And pritty soon the bell rang and it was Mr. and Mrs. Hews to play bridge, and ma took Mrs. Hews in her room to help take off her hat and pop and Mr. Hews started to tawk about different subjecks including the automobeel show. Mr. Hews saying, We've been 3 times so far, we're crazy about the new Dillberry Six, the body lines of that car are marvelliss.

Perhaps so, but I understand that the concussion driving rods are still of the old fashion overlapping variety, pop sed.

Well of corse, that going into it a little too deep for me, Mr. Hews sed, and pop sed, And not ony that, but the transmitting distribution of the Deezel gear shift has undeslung magnetoes, wich naturelly retards 2 out of every 3 sparks.

Youve got me there, I admit, Mr. Hews sed. And just then ma and Mrs. Hews came back and they all started to play bridge, pop laffing to himself every once in a while and saying he was ony cawffing.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

IF LUTHER COULD SPEAK

If the dead leaders of the past could communicate freely with their followers in the present, I think Martin Luther would want just now to write a letter to the Protestant Churches.

And here are some of the things I think he would have in mind as he wrote:

I think he would express delight over the critical cross-examination to which latter-day Protestantism is being subjected by its most courageous and creative leaders, and he would emphasize, I am sure, the imperative importance of investing this cross-examination with crystal honesty and of insuring it against diversion into blind alleys.

I think he would say that, looked at from the high plateau of the post-mortal world, the Protestantism he fathered seems to be suffering now the dual handicap of outer disintergration and inner distraction.

Protestantism's outer disintegration is due, I think he would say, to the fact that its desirable freedom had produced a dangerous factionalism. I feel sure that Luther would deplore the denominationalism that is so largely the galvanized corpse of dead issues, assuming generously that the issues that loosed the deluge of denominations were everliving issues.

Protestantism's inner distraction shows itself, I think he would observe, in the way its diverse and dissentient leaderships are seeking to lead it to divergent goals. I think Luther would remind Protestantism that it is becoming distressingly disheveled from being pulled and hauled about by so many competing counselors, and would suggest that it would pull itself together for the sacrament of choice between the various alternative goals its varied leaderships are urging.

And he would warn Protestantism, I think, that it cannot find integration of purpose and intensification of power either in a panic flight to the wistful surety of dogmatic Fundamentalism or in a perfunctory embrace of the dogmatic negations of Modernism. He would insist, I think, that Protestantism needs spiritual integration even more than it needs theological revision.

I think he would say that Protestantism, now that it has won the right of private judgment, must think about the rightness of the private judgment that has been won. The private judgment of a man blind to spiritual values is of no value in religion. I think he would counsel latter-day Protestants to defend the right of private judgment as valorously as he defended it, but I think he would say that the big problem now is to develop the richness and reach of private judgment they defend.

And I think he would say, "Don't cling to literally to everything I said when alive. Remember that I lived in a day of limited insights before science had thrown its searchlight into innumerable corners that were then impenetrably dark. Take what was sound in my protest and rethink and relive it in terms of the knowledge and conditions of your own day."

OUR CHILDREN

BROTHERLY LOVE

"We have two boys, eleven and thirteen. They are good boys; bright boys. Everybody speaks well of them but we are nearly beside ourselves because of their quarreling. They can't seem to understand that brothers should love each other."

Eleven and thirteen know little of brotherly love. Boys of this age are very primitive. They know only the strong desire to excel, to win over the other fellow. To fight like mad for what they want. Personal pride, personal ownership, personal power, is strong within them to the point of battle.

"That's mine. You leave it alone."

"Aw, can't I look at it?"

"No, you can't. Leave it alone, I tell you. If you don't let that alone, I'll give you a punch in the eye."

Such a passage at arms sends a thrill of horror down the mother's back. Brothers. And fighting like that. What is to be done with them?

Separate them. And very coolly. Send one off in one direction, the other in an opposite one. Give each something to do that will occupy his mind for some time. Keep them apart and busy. Brothers know nothing of brotherly love until they are adolescent—and sometimes it takes longer than that.

Plan things so that each brother has friends of his own. Family inbreeding in the sense of family isolation, is very bad for the children. They must have other associations than those of the home group. A family of children will quarrel desperately if kept together without the opportunity of making outside friendships.

Fathers and mothers make a mistake in thinking that they can cultivate family solidarity by holding the children together within the home and forcing them to keep apart from the other children and young people of the neighborhood.

It is better to widen the family associations as much as possible. Let each child have his own friends. Let them take turns in entertaining and expect some cooperation from the others in this matter.

Do not force one brother to give in always to the other. Each has his own rights; each his own duties. They will get along very much better in this in-between stage by this method. After they are adolescent they understand each other better and work and play and plan together in brotherly fashion.

Of course there are the rare children who never quarrel. And there are those, equally rare, who always quarrel. I should suspect that both cases needed a close scrutiny as to mental and physical health. Any physical defect is bound to have its reaction in poor mental health. Persistent quarreling with everybody is an indication of a rather serious situation. But the great group of normal healthy children quarrel among themselves as they grow up because it is in their nature to do so.

Separate them. Give them occupation. Permit them a wide association with other children and the trouble will soon pass.

ERNEST SETON'S BIRTH

On August 14, 1860, Ernest Thompson Seton, famous American artist, author and lecturer, and one of the originators of the Boy Scout movement in America, was born at South Shields, England.

Following his education at Toronto Collegiate Institute in London, Seton served as naturalist to the government at Manitoba. He soon became prominent through clever stories about animals, although such veteran naturalists as John Burroughs and experienced woodsmen criticized him for ascribing to animals mental and moral characteristics not evinced in real life.

As one of the founders of the Boy Scout movement in America, Seton later started the outdoor life organization known as the Woodcraft League. In 1904 the organization was introduced into England with the aid of General Baden-Powell.

Among his writings, largely illustrated by himself, are: "Wild Animals I Have Known," "The Trail of the Sandhill Stage," "Lives of The Hunted," and "Woodcraft and Indian Lore."

HIS MISTAKE

JUDGE: You maintain that you threw your wife out of the second story through forgetfulness?

SMITH: Yes, we used to live on the ground floor, and I'd clean forgotten we'd moved!—Lustige Kolner Zeitung, Cologne.
